

THE WHOLESOMENESS OF BREAD.—Miss Juliet Corson, treats the bread question, as all other details of cookery, from the practical point of view. She says a good word for aerated carbonic acid gas is forced, and baked before the bubbles have a chance to escape. The main objection to fresh yeast bread for dyspeptics is that it is soft, and therefore too easily swollen, whereas the "stale" bread requires much mastication. If sufferers who have been avoiding new bread will take the same trouble in chewing it as they are compelled to do with the old, they will get all the advantage of their patience in the more palatable article. The fresh bread eater really taxes his digestion with a much larger mass of spongy quality than the stale bread eater, and one which has not been as well broken up by the action of the saliva. If dyspeptics were careful to take the smallest mouthfuls at a time they would find even fresh bread more manageable, with sufficient chewing, than is supposed in the choice of flours, that made from hard winter wheat is the richest in gluten; in Europe it is used for making the different varieties of macaroni; the brown bread of Europe is made from this wheat ground entire. Soft spring wheat yields a white flour rich in starch. Bread made may be very irritating to some invalids, so "Graham bread" and the "whole-meal" fashion should only be adopted when it is proved to be satisfactory. The particles of bran may cause an irritation of the alimentary canal and produce diarrhoea. Undoubtedly this irritation or stimulus may be exactly what is needed by some constitutions.

When you visit or leave New York City, save baggage express and carriage hire, and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot.

Elegant rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European Plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can be better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

NICE BEEF STEW.—To make an appetizing beef stew, take out the bone and bind the pieces of beef tightly, putting a lemon, pared and cut in two, and some herbs in before binding. Place it in as small a stew-pan or kettle as will allow of its being covered with water. Let it cool slowly and gently; do not add any water unless absolutely necessary. Slice a large onion and fry it brown, and add to the water also any sliced vegetables you choose, or cook the vegetables in a kettle by themselves and serve on a platter with the beef. If you do not add any water you will have a very rich gravy, and a portion of it may be reserved for soup stock.

Prominent Butter Makers.—There is no dissent from the decision of candid and capable dairymen, that the Improved Butter Color of Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., is the best in the world. Such men as A. W. Cheever of Massachusetts, E. D. Mason, Vermont, Francis A. Hoffman, Wisconsin. Use it, and recommend it as superior to all others.

CODFISH WITH CREAM.—Pick out carefully in flakes all the flesh from the remnants of some boiled codfish; melt a piece of butter in a saucepan, and add to it a large pinch of flour and a gill of milk or cream, with pepper, salt and grated nutmeg to taste, also the least bit of cayenne; stir well, put in the fish, and gently shake it in this sauce until quite warm. If the composition be too dry, add a little milk or cream; then add, off the fire, the yolks of two eggs beaten up with a little milk, and serve. If one objects to wet toast, the edges only of the slices may be dipped in boiling water before the toast is buttered, and it will then be more tempting and eatable than if perfectly dry.

Petroleum is a natural production, and as nature never makes a mistake Carboline, made from pure petroleum, is a certain invigorator for diseased and sickly hair, and where once used will never be substituted by any other.

CORN LEAF.—Four eggs, whites and yolks beaten as light as possible, separately; one quart of corn meal; quarter of a pound of butter; two quarts of boiling milk; a teaspoonful of salt mixed well with the corn meal. Melt the butter in the milk and scald the corn meal until it becomes perfectly smooth; then add the light yolks, and lastly the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a quick oven. Half the quantity will make a good sized loaf.

"Rough on Toothache."—Instant relief for neuralgia, toothache, face-ache. Ask for "Rough on Toothache." 15c.

BEEF SOUP.—Take four pounds of fresh beef, or what is better and more economical, a nice beef shank or "soup bone"; put it in four or five quarts of water, salt it, let it boil slowly five or six hours, skim well. Half an hour before you wish to take it up, put in a cup partly full of rice, a small quantity of potatoes, carrots, onions and celery, cut in small pieces. Mutton soup can be made in the same manner.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is a certain cure for that very obnoxious disease. A NICE BREAKFAST DISH.—Remove the skins from a dozen tomatoes; cut them up in a saucepan; add a little butter, pepper and salt; when sufficiently boiled beat up five or six eggs, and just before you serve turn them into the saucepan with the tomatoes and stir one way for two minutes, allowing them time to be done thoroughly.

"Rough on Itch."—Tough on Itch cures humors, eruptions, ring-worm, letter, salt rheum, chloasma.

GINGERBREAD.—One cup of molasses, one cup of brown sugar, four cups of flour, one tablespoonful of ginger, the same of cinnamon, one small teaspoonful of cloves, one small cup of butter, melted; three well-beaten eggs, one small even tablespoonful of soda. Mix these ingredients together, and just before putting into the baking dish stir in one cup of boiling water. Bake twenty minutes.

He was a small boy, with dirt on his nose and a faded straw hat on his head, and feet long unwashed. He walked boldly up the steps, pulled the bell, and when the lady came to the door he said:

"Say, can you lend me your telephone for a few minutes?"

"Why, I can't!" she gasped out. "We'll bring it back in half an hour." "But I can't lend it here! You don't seem to know what a telephone is. Who are you?"

"We live around the corner—just moved in, and we want to be neighborly. I tried to borrow your wheelbarrow and shovel, but your boy wouldn't lend 'em, and our hired girl has been over to borrow tea and sugar and couldn't get any. We kinder thought we might borrow your telephone or something, and ma would bring it back and get a chance to see your style, and ask you to run in with your old clothes on!"

In the Shade.—Hon. R. C. Payne, City Attorney, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, writes: "I have been a great sufferer with rheumatism for years and have tried every known remedy, including galvanic batteries and Turkish Baths. Finally I tried St. Jacob's Oil the great pain-cure and can positively say it gave me instantaneous relief. It puts all other remedies in the shade."

A BARBER'S book-keeping: "No, sir," said a Comstock. Nev., barber to a suspicious-looking transient customer, who affably remarked as the latter was being laid on that he supposed there were a good many men who failed to pay their shaving scores. "No, sir, I used to give credit, but I never do now—in fact, nobody ever asks for tick any more." "How's that?" "Well, you see," said the barber, trying the edge of his razor on his thumb nail, "I had a set of stiffies who used to ask me to chop it down. I got tired of keeping books, and I adopted a new system. Whenever I shaved one of these old standbys I put a little nick in his nose with my razor, and kept tally in that way. They got so they didn't want to run bills." There was a tremor in the customer's voice, as he asked from beneath the latter: "Do you object to being paid in advance?"

When Doctors Disagree it will be time enough to doubt the reliability of Kidney-Wort. Doctors all agree that it is a most valuable medicine in all disorders of the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels, and frequently prescribe it. Dr. P. C. Ballou of Monkton says: "The past year I have used it more than ever, and with the best results. It is the most successful remedy I have ever used." Such a recommendation speaks for itself. Sold by all druggists. See advt.

The Salvation Army in England has invented a new wrinkle in prayer, apparently for the benefit of "the boys" who stay out late to "loaf." Invitations are issued to come to the meeting at 11 o'clock, and half an hour later the doors are closed upon brother and sister, saint and sinner, not to be opened until 5 in the morning. What goes on indoors is not disclosed to profane eyes, but it is safe to say that the wife of the period will not accept this as a valid excuse for inserting the latekey at sunrise or afterwards.

HAY-FEVER. My brother Myron and myself were both cured of Catarrh and Hay-Fever last July and August by Ely's Cream Balm. Up to Dec 25, these troubles have not returned.—GABRIEL FERRIS, Spencer, N. Y.

HAY-FEVER. I was afflicted for twenty years with Hay-Fever. I used Ely's Cream Balm with favorable results, and can recommend it to all.—ROBERT W. TOWNLEY, (ex-Mayor) Elizabeth, N. J.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS: Yesterday we met Bill Beatty with a grip-sack swinging to one of his hands, going down Austin avenue. "Where are you bound for?" "I'm going to Leadville to open an undertaker's establishment. There's millions in it." "You don't say so?" "Yes, my brother has just graduated as doctor. He is going to practice in Leadville, and if I open an undertaker's establishment he will give me all his custom. Good-bye, take care of yourself."

Twenty-four Hours to Live. From John Kuhn, Lafayette, Ind., who announces that he is now in "perfect health," we have the following: "One year ago I was, to all appearance, in the last stages of consumption. Our best physicians gave me up. I finally got so low that our doctor said I could not live twenty-four hours. My friends then purchased a bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, which benefited me. I continued until I took nine bottles. I am now in perfect health, having used no other medicine."

To match his voice: A young gentleman of Austin, of the lackadaisical Oscar Wilde type of idiot, hung to a sunflower, went into an Austin avenue restaurant one day recently to get some breakfast, and, by the way, he has the appetite of a Missouri journalist on an excursion and is gitted with the digestive organs of a boa-constrictor. "How do you want your eggs biled?" asked the waiter. "I want them soft." "How soft?" "Very soft. I want them to match my voice."

"Nothing," said an impatient husband, "no reminds me of Balaam and his ass as two women stopping in church and obstructing the way, to indulge in their everlasting talk." "But you forget, my dear," retorted his wife, meekly, "that it was the angel who stopped in the way, and Balaam and his ass who complained of it."

"I do not like thee, Dr. Fell. The reason why, I cannot tell." It has often been wondered at, the bad omen of this oft-quoted doctor was in. 'Twas probably because he, being one of the old-school doctors, made up pills as large as bullets, which nothing but an ostrich could bolt without nausea. Hence the dislike. Dr. E. V. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are sugar-coated and no larger than bird-shot, and are quick to do their work. For all derangements of the liver, bowels and stomach they are specific.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Brown, as she surveyed with evident pleasure her little parlor sideboard, covered with old china and decorated with highly colored tiles. "Mr. B. remarked last night that I was becoming quite an atheist," and the old lady's countenance fairly beamed with delight as her eyes rested on a sixteen-cent Japanese teapot.

Rupture, pile tumors, fistulas and all diseases of the liver bowel (except cancer), radically cured. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and enclose two (2c.) stamps for book.

A SUDDEN impulse: "But why did you leave her so hastily?" asked a sympathizing friend who was trying to console a lover for his separation from the object of his idolatry. "Oh, it was a sudden impulse." "What sort of an impulse?" "I don't know exactly," returned the sufferer, thoughtfully, "but it must have been at least a No. 12."

French Grape Brandy, distilled Extract of Water-Pepper or Smart-Weed, Jamaica Ginger and Camphor Water, as combined in Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed, is the best possible remedy for colic, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, dysentery or bloody-flux; also, to break up colds, fevers, and inflammatory attacks. 50 cts. Keep it on hand. Good for man or beast.

"Is there any opening here for an intellectual writer?" asked a seedy, red-nosed individual of an editor. "Yes, my friend," replied the man of quills. "A considerable carpenter, foreseeing your visit, left an opening for you. Turn the knob to the right."

"Young men," said a firebrands and instructive old man to a group of apprentices, you should begin at the bottom of your business and work up. "I can't," said one of them. "Why?" asked the old man. "I am a well-digger," answered the apprentice.

Well Dressed People don't wear dingy or faded things when the 10c. ad guaranteed Diamond Dye will make them good as new. They are perfect. Get at druggists and be economical. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.

In Russia only one liquor saloon is allowed in each village. The youth of that country can never become experts in the absorbing game of dominoes.

A MOODY moralist mutters: "Those who are thoughtless are already dead." Then the Summer resorts must team with lively corpses.

Life Preserver. If you are losing your grip on life, try "Wells' Health Renewer." Goes direct to weak spots.

DR. KLINE'S Great Nerve Restorer is the marvel of the age for all nerve diseases. All six stopped free. Send to 911 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

TURKISH RICE.—Put into a saucepan six cups of stock or broth in which you have previously dissolved a good allowance either of tomato paste, tomato sauce or the pulp of fresh tomatoes passed through a sieve, pepper and salt to taste. When it boils throw in, for every cup of stock, half a cupful of fine rice, well washed, and dried before the fire. Let the whole remain on the fire until the rice has absorbed all the stock, then melt a large tablespoonful of butter, and pour it over the rice. At the time of serving, and not before, stir lightly to separate the grains, but do this off the fire.

CHILLERS.—One pint of sweet milk, one pint of sugar, quarter of a pound of butter, three or four eggs well beaten separately, two tablespoonfuls of cream tartar, about two pounds of flour, or just enough to make a very soft dough, rose water and grated nutmeg to taste. Roll out thin; make the cakes small and round with a hole in the center. Fry in boiling lard, and after draining them well roll them in powdered sugar flavored with cinnamon.

MACARONI AU GRATIN.—Boil half a pound of macaroni in a pint of milk until tender, then mix in the stepwan with the macaroni pepper and salt, four ounces grated cheese and two ounces butter; place in a deep dish or shallow pie pan, grate a little nutmeg over it and lightly cover the top with bread crumbs; place in a hot oven to brown and serve immediately.

CLOVE CAKE.—One cup of butter, one cup of sugar, one cup of molasses, three cups of flour, half a cup of sour milk, four eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of cloves.

Tin-lined copper pipes for the distribution of water, and for all purposes in plumbing, are coming into popular favor in Boston. The manufacture is very simple. The copper is tinned in the sheet before being formed into pipe, and the interior is subsequently coated with tin by a very easy process. The cost is no greater than that of lead pipe, strength for strength, while the tin lining is not subject to decomposition by carbonic acid, oxygen, or other corrosives, to the same extent as lead.

PULLING STUMPS.—Stumps are far more easily extracted after soaking rains have left the ground loose and yielding, than after the packing and baking of a season of drought. For small stumps, especially on ground too wet and soft to admit the use of teams, a simple and effective arrangement may be used. A strong axle, say six inches square, is fitted to any stout pair of wheels, as those of a truck, to which a triangular lever is firmly bolted. It projects six inches behind and sixteen feet in front and is made of tough hard wood, the pieces six inches square. To the end piece, which is mortised and secured by bolts to the others, a chain with two stout hasps is attached. In using it, a broad plank is placed under each wheel to prevent sinking into the earth, and the wheels are blocked. The hooks are grappled into a root, and when raised as far as possible by depressing the lever it is blocked and a new hitch taken lower down. Two can move the implement from stump to stump. The leverage would be nearly twelve to one, giving three thousand six hundred pounds power if the men weighed one hundred and fifty pounds each, and could both put their weight upon the extreme end of the lever—a power that would start small stumps.

Those butter-makers who are troubled and annoyed by streakiness of their butter may rest assured that it is due to over-careful working out the water from the butter preparatory to salting. The salt is in solution, and is so evenly diffused through the butter that not a drop of water even can be detected, but only a very finely granulated and fibrous appearance. Every grain and fibre is surrounded by a film of brine clear and transparent. This cannot occur unless there is water enough left in the butter to dissolve the salt completely. In the first working of the butter the great point is to get rid of every particle of milk and the next point is to leave enough clear water in the butter to dissolve every grain of salt in the 12 hours before the next working. To effect this the salt should be very finely ground.

A REMARKABLE effect of muriate of pilocarpine employed as medicine, and administered hypodermically, has lately been reported by Dr. Prentiss, of Philadelphia. The use of the drug was commenced on December 16 and ended on February 22. On the twelfth day it was noticed that the patient's hair originally of a light golden hue, was growing dark. The darkening continued although the medicine was suspended, and on May 1 the man's hair was nearly jet black, and extremely luxuriant. His eyes, originally light blue, were, at the same date of the darkest shade of that color. The cause of these phenomena was the increased deposit of pigments due to the action of medicine.

Tobacco raisers and producers of other plants whose dried and curled leaves are of value in the market, will be interested in the latest explanation of the cause of the brown discoloration-spots of small diameter, in which the tissues are nearly destroyed—that so often impair the value of their products. It appears that rain-drops after a shower of a hot summer day, act as condensing prisms to the nearly vertical beams of the sun, concentrating the rays upon the surface of the leaf just beneath the centre of the drop, thus producing a burnt spot of diameter corresponding with that of the drop itself and of depth proportionate to the intensity of the heat.

INSECTS.—In using kerosene it has been found that a cheap grade of yellow bar soap containing rosin makes the best emulsion—four pounds of soap to one gallon of kerosene. One gallon of this emulsion incorporated in forty-nine gallons of water (or relatively less quantities of each) makes an effective solution destroying the insect, both in the larval and pest stages.

HORN HORSESHOES.—A new horseshoe has lately been experimented with at Lyons, France. It is made entirely of sheep's horn, and is found particularly adapted to horses employed in towns and known not to have a steady foot on the pavement. The results of the experiments have proved very satisfactory as horses thus shod have been driven at a rapid pace on the pavement without slipping. Besides this advantage, the new shoe is very durable.

SWEDEN and extreme changes in milk, cream or butter injure keeping. The same is true of ice cream. If two pieces of meat are taken from the same animal, and one placed in air at 60 degrees and the other on ice for three hours, and then placed by the side of the first, the ice piece will spoil long before the one which has been kept at 60 degrees.

THERE is no need of bothering about a cow's pulse to find out if she is well or not; simply look at her nose. If well, it will be moist and cold; if feverish, dry and hot. She is like a dog in this respect. A staring coat or hollow eye are also symptoms, indicating trouble and as symptoms, of disease they are more to be dreaded than the dry nose.

Those who complain of having "no luck" with flowers, should understand, that the having thrifty, luxuriant plants the year through depends upon care and judgment, and not "luck" at all. It is not outright labor or expense that is wanted, but a daily regard for the little things of watering, light soil, pruning, etc.

SPRUCE butter tubs are the best; hemlock makes a sweet tub; acids from the oak color the butter and injure its appearance, while ash gives the butter a strong flavor if kept long and increases the liability to mold; maple smells and cracks badly. Soak all tubs four or six days in brine before using.

It is hard to be poor, but to be ashamed of it, is putting salt on a sore.

Hardened Liver. Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were pulled up and filled with water. All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I should have been now in my grave. J. W. MORLEY, Buffalo, Oct. 1, 1881.

Poverty and Suffering. "I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it."—A WORKINGMAN.
