RAFFLED!

One of the Most Unaccountable and Dangerous of Recent Deceits Discovered and Exposed.

There is some mysterious trouble that is attacking nearly everyone in the land with more or less violence. It seems to steal into the body like a thief in the night. Doctors cannot diagnose it. Scientists are puzzled by its symptoms. It is, indeed, a modern mystery. Like those severe and vague maladies that attack horses and prostrate nearly all the animals in the land, this subtle trouble seems to menace mankind. Many of its victims have pains symmetrical shapes. about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A strange sticky slime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load upon the stomach; sometimes a faint allgone sensation is felt at the pit of the stomach, which food does not satisfy. The eyes grow sunken, the hands and feet feel clammy at one time and burn intensely at cold water. Mix and boil five minutes, others. After a while a cough sets in, Boil till it thickens and add a pinch of attended with a greyish colored expecto- soda, stir well and remove from the ration. The sfillcted one feels tired all fire. When cold flavor with vanilla, the while, and sleep does not seem to spread between layers and on top. Dry afford any rest. He becomes nervous, urritable, and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a peculiar whirling sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become costive, and then, again, outflux intensely; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood grows thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow; the urine is scanty and high-colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sometimes with a sour taste, and sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is often attended with palpitation of the heart. The vision becomes impaired, with spots before the eyes; there is a feeling of prostration and great weakness. Most of these oughly into the water while hot. symptoms are in turn present. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population have this disorder in some of its kinds of ices. Set upon the ice to cool, various forms, while medical men have | and, when ready to freeze it, beat up almost wholly mistaken its nature. Some the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, have treated it for one complaint; some for | and add to the mixture after it is put another, but nearly all have failed to reach into the freezer. The dasher will beat the seat of the disorder. Indeed, many it into the water, and it will freeze like physicians are afflicted with it themselves. snow. The experience of Dr. A. G. Richards, residing at No. 468 Tremont street, Boston, is thus described by himself:

"I had all those peculiar and painful symptoms which I have found sfiltcting so many of my patients, and which had so often baffled me. 1 knew all the commonly established remedies would be unavailing for I had tried them often in the past. I therefore determined to strike out in a new path. To my intense satisfaction I found that 1 was improving. The dull, stupid feeling departed and I began to enjoy life once more. My appetite returned. My sleep was refreshing. The color of my face which had been a sickly yellow gradually assumed the pink tinge of health. In the course of three weeks I felt like a new man and know that it was wholly owing to the wonderful efficiency of Warner's Tippecanoe The Best, which was all the medicine I took."

Doctors and scientists often exhaust Even if they save the life it is often after its use is simply inexcusable.

CHICKEN MAYONAISE. - Take as many chickens as are wanted for the bulk of your salad; boil them out and remove all the flesh, being careful to reject all bones and skin. Cut into sizeable cubes and put them into a deep dish; season with salt, pepper, oil and vinegar, and let them remain some hours in the pickle. Put into a salad bowl about three times as much lettuce as you have chicken, which latter put into the centre of the lettuce, covering it with Mayonnaise dressing, garnished with bits of letuce, hard-boiled eggs, olives, capers and beets, etc., cut in

Put in all the coral and the juice of the lobster. Cut up a small piece of butter into bits and mix with it, and fill the shell part of the lobster with the mixture. Cover the top with bread-crumbs or pounded cracker and bits of butter. Bake in the oven for fifteen minutes, and serve on a platter in the shell, garnished with parsley and slices of hardboiled eggs. This is a delicious relish for tea, or it will make a nice side-dish.

An Editor's Testimonial.

A. M. Vaughan, editor of the Greenwich their skill and the patient dies. They try Review, Greenwich, O., writes: "Last Janueverything that has been used by, or is known to, the profession, and then fail. ary I met with a very severe accident, caused by a runaway horse. I used almost every kind of salve to heal the wounds, great and prolonged agony. Where all this can be avoided by precaution and care, how insane a thing it is to endure such suffering! With a pure and pala-table preparation within reach, to neglect well. It is the best salve in the market, and I never fail of telling my friends about it, and urge them to use it whenever in need."

"I'm afraid I was cheated on these lightning rods." "What's the matter with them?" "I hadn't had 'em pu one township may be best fitted for mor'n a menth when a fearful stroke growing some kind of grain, while the of lightning knocked 'em all ways for Sunday, burned my barn and everything in it." "But didn't the agent give you a guarantee?" "Oh! yes, I wrote to him and he wrote back very consolingly." "What did he say?" "That lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

"What we learn with pleasure we never forget."-Alfred Mercier. The following is a case in point. "I paid out hundreds of dollars without receiving any benefit, says Mrs. Emily Rhoads, of McBrides, Mich. "I had female complaints, especially 'dragging-down,' for over six years. Dr. R. V. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' did me more good than any medicine I ever took. I advise every sick lady to take it." And so do we. It never disappoints its patrons. Druggists sell it.

A PROMINENT citizen of Mexico returned from a trip into South America last week. He had been gone three months. "Elected a new President since I've been gone?" he asked of a friend, "Oh, yes!" "How many?" "Only one." "Any revolutions?" "Only "What's become of Miaz?" three." "Oh, he was shot last week." "And Zagual?" "Transported." "And St. Badier?" "The same as when you "Is that so? I'm surprised that left." he should be at one thing so long. He was a very enterprising sort of a man. Where is he?" "Dead.

Stranger than Fiction

are the records of some of the cures of consumption effected by that most wonderful remedy-Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Thousands of grateful men and women, who have been snatched almost from the very jaws of death, can testify that consumption, in its early stages, is no longer incurable. The Discovery has no equal as a pectoral and alterative, and the most obstinate affections of the throat and lungs yield to its power. All drug gists.

"ANY reduction in the price of cloth-

"Well, sir, prices have all gone to pieces, particularly on pantaloons. The bottom has fairly dropped out." "In that case," said the customer, turning to go, "I guess I will stick to my old ones for awhile yet."

No FIXED rules can be laid down for the managemant of farms. The soil of adjoining ones can be most profitably devoted to live stock. No two farms situated side by side are exactly ailke. The distance from market, the demand for special products, and, not least, the individual taste of the farmer, have all much weight in determining the system of farm management that it is best to adopt. Those who have given the most thought to this subject are the slowest to advise any general system to be applied to every farm. It is like a garment that is intended to fit all persons. and suits none. Every year of progress made in agricultural knowledge teaches more forcibly than previous ones, the truth that the farmer must rely largely upon his own intelligence and judgement in working out the best system for his own farm. Even in so seemingly trifling a matter as the pruning of a grapevine, the wisest vineyardist can only give general rules, and each grape grower must adapt them to the peculiarities of each vine.

FLOUR is peculiarly sensitive to the atmospheric influences, hence, it should never be stored in a room with sour liquids, nor any article that taints the air of the room in which it is stored. Any smell perceptible to the sense will be absorbed by the flour. Keep in a cool, dry, airy room, and not exposed to a freezing temperature nor to intense summer or to artificial heat for any length of time above seventy five degrees Fanrenheit. It should not come in contract with grain or other substance which are liable to heat. Flour should be sifted and the particles thoroughly disintegrated and then warmed before baking. This treament improve the color and baking properties of the dough. The sponge should be prepared for the oven as soon the yeast has perfor med its mission, otherwise fermenation sets in and acidity.

THE best use to make of coal ashes is to put them into your walks in gardens and about the premises, in the carriage drive, and as a mixer with heavy soils. They will keep down instead of promoting the growth of weeds and grass, and always afford dry avenues. In five minutes after a rain, during eight months of the year, they contain no moisture and are never soft; in a word, are the best substance for this purpose we know of. Hence it is quite the use to which they can be applied, and it is really an important use. Clean, dry walks about the premises cannot be too highly estimated.

BULLS need exercise in order to attain their best development. They are commonly kept inactive and without training, and so become vicious and dangerous, as well as losing in part the power to get strong and vigorous calves. A bull that is worked in the yoke, or is trained in some other way, is seldom ugly or dangerous, and is likely to beget calves of greater vitality than when made sluggish by confinement. Valuable thorough-bred bulls sometimes receive necessary training and exercise, but lower grades seldom have any attention of the kind, though they need it in an equal degree.

The wheat was top-dressed with rotten manure, but still the yield was no greater, Then the two-horse sulky cultivators came around. He bought one, and used it freely in connection with the harrow and roller, and the next year, without any manure, his wheat yield jumped up ten bushel per acre.
