Young Bigger called on Madeline last evening and was shown into the parlor, where he found Mabel looking at the natural history. He greeted her with a shore in tower-shaped piers, constructed "Good evening sissy, how are you this evening?"

"Oh, I'm pretty well; say, can you guess conundrums, Mr. Bigger?"

"Well, sometimes; what is it?"

"Oh, it's one of Lina's: she asked me why you were like my bunny rabbit. Can you tell that?"

"No, I'm sure I'll have to give it up, Why am I like your rabbit?"

"Cos the most 'spicuous'part is your ears; that's what Lina says."

As Lina came tripping down the stairs she heard the front door close behind his retreating form."

THE following anecdote shows that if the guid wife lacked grace, her husband did not make up the deficiency; A minister of the "kirk" of Scotland once discovered his wife asleep in the midst of his homily on the Sabbath. So, pausing in the steady and possibly somewhat monotonous flow of his oratory, he broke forth with this personal address, sharp and clear, but very deliberate: "Susan!" Susau woke up with a start, and opened her eyes and ears in a twinkling, as did all dreamers in the house, whether asleep or awake, "Susan." he continued, "I didna marry ye for yer beauty, that the hail congregation can see. And if ye hae not grace, I hae made but a sair bargain wi' ye!"

VANADLISM IN THE LIME-KILN CLUB.-The dastard who entered Paradise Hall the other evening by way of the roof and carried off three skulls of Oliver Conwell may never be brought to punishment in this world, as he left no clews behind. But he will certainly catch it red-hot in the next. The club has now only two skulls of Oliver left, and these will be carefully locked in the big safe and preserved to posterity.

According to a statement made before the Master Car Builder's Association, there are now in use in this country 800,000 freight cars, and the average annual expense for links and pins for. each car is $1.50, or a total of $1,200,-000. It is evident that a self-acting car coupler, so made as to prevent the maiming, loss of life, and expense of the common link and pin system, would be an invention of enormous value. Many hundreds of patents have been taken for improved car couplers, but the railway companies, for one reason or another, are shy about introducing them. In Massachusetts a law has been passed compelling all railway companies in the State to put self-acting couplers on their cars on or before 1885. If other States would adopt compulsory laws on the subject, the introduction of improved coupiers would soon become general.

The newspapers published in the Lake Superior copper mines region recommended the use of copper as a roof covering in place of tin. In reply to an inquiry by one of cur contemporaries as to the relative economy and benefits of copper over tin, an architect furnishes the following: We always specify the use of copper for covering roofs, when we can induce owners to allow us to do so, on account of its durability; although its cost is about $14 per 100 square feet N. Y. over price of tin roofing. But when we reflect that the tin roof requires constant repairs, and painting at least every two years, at a cost of two or three cents per foot, varying as to the number of coats. the cost of repairs for six years, together with the cost of tin roof, equals the cost is its excessive resistance to heat. A temperature that will make steel run like water and melt down fire-clay has absolutely no effect upon it. You may put a piece of platinum wire no thicker than human hair into a blast furnace where ingots of steel are melting down all around it and the bit of wire will come out as absolutely unchanged as if it had been in an ice-box all the time,

"Isn't that Mrs. Holmes? I thought the doctors gave her up. She looks well now." "She is well. After the doctors gave up her case she tried Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' and began to get better right away. I heard her say not long ago, that she hadn't felt so well in twenty years. She does her own work and says that life seems worth living, at last, 'Why,' said she, 'I feel as I had been raised from the dead, almost." Scovill's Sarsaparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, for the cure of scrofulous taint, rheuism, white swellings, gout, goitre sumption, bronchitis, nervous debility, malaria, and all diseases arising from an im-History Society, has been experimenting pure condition of the blood. Certificates can be presented from many leading physicians, ministers, and the heads of families throughout the land, indorsing Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup. We are constantly in receipt of certificates of cures from the most reliable sources, and we recommend it as the best known remedy for the cure of the above diseases.

NEVER cover a wound wholly up with piece of plaster; whatever be its size, use long, narrow strips. Warm the plaster by holding the back of it against a can of boiling water for a few seconds, then apply it across the wound, leaving a small space between each strip to give exit to the lymph. Remember, that sticking-plaster has no healing action in itself, the benefits derived from its use are of a purely mechanical nature. Clean outs are better bound up with the blood, simply with a linen rag, for sticknig-plaster is no use until the bleeding stops. In cases of scalp wounds the hair must be shaved off beown. fore the plaster is applied. A grain or two of nitrate of silver in an ounce of distilled water makes a very good stimulating lotion for wounds or sores that need such an application, but if they are healing kindly, with even white edges and not much exudation they do not want stimulating. Languid, indo-lent sores and flabby ulcers want a stimulating lotion applied with lint, after the manner of water-dressing, and the support of a bandage. But I should like my readers to bear in mind that the healing of ulcers depends in a very great measure upon the state of the constitution. The blood must be strengthened by good food, else the sore wil not heal. Why, it cannot heal unless you supply it with flesh-forming material, and this material must come from the blood. But, in addition to the enrichment of the blood, if the ulcer be in the leg this must be kept up as much as possible and bandanged firmly, but not too tightly, from the toes upward. Four or five grains of powdered alum or sulphate of zinc to the ounce of water make another handy stimulating lotion. Goulard water is easily made; simply add a teaspoonful of sugar of lead to a pint of water; it is rendered more cooling by the addition of spirits of wine. It is an excellent application for painful swellings. For wry or stiff neck, or in cases where you wish to redden the surface in order to reduce internal swelling or pain, a mixture of one part

PROF. ARICS, who has devoted himself to the discovery of the reason why woolen clothing, when washed with soap and water, will insist upon shrinking, and becoming thick, and acquiring that peculiar odor and feeling which so annoys housekeepers, says these evil effects are due to the decomposition of soap by the acids present in the perspiration and other waste of the skin which the clothing absorbs. The fat of the scap is then precipitated upon the wool. These effects may be prevented by steeping the articles in a warm solution of washing-soda for several hours, then adding some water and a few drops of ammonia. The woolens are then to be washed, and rinsed in lukewarm water. A CHEAP, and yet useful cover for the
