

In 1820 two hills of an area of about 800 acres, of almost no agricultural value, on the property of Lord Cawdor, in Scotland, were planted with fir and other trees, and after successive thinning, the sale of which realized large sums, the remainder of the wood was sold for the sum of £10,000. It is now realized for the wood on this was 10 land during the fifty years is stated to be equal per acre to the return from 10 best arable land in the country.

Best Goods are Put in Smallest Parcels.

The old proverb is certainly true in the case of Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Pellets," which are little, sugar-wrapped parcels, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, containing as much cathartic power as is done up in the biggest, most repulsive purgative pill. Unlike the big pills, however, they are mild and pleasant in their operation—do not produce gripping pains, nor render the bowels odorous after using.

ERNESTUS WILMAN, the Canadian financier who lives on Staten Island, has given two handsome public bath houses to Toronto which are situated on either side of the Bay and labelled in bold letters, "Wilman's Baths." The other day as the British Association excursion was making into that city one of the scientists discovered the signs.

"Ah," said he, turning to a friend, "I told you the Americans were an uneducated lot."

"Why so?" returned the other in amazement.

"Don't you see those signs there? What an atrocious way to spell 'women's'!"

Woman's Face.

"What furniture can give such finish to a room as a tender woman's face," asks George Eliott. Not any, we are happy to answer, provided the glow of health tints the tender expression. The pale, anxious, bloodless face of the consumptive, or the evident sufferer from the dyspeptic, induce feelings of sorrow and grief on our part and compel us to tell them of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the sovereign remedy for consumption, the other diseases of the respiratory system, as well as dyspepsia and other digestive troubles. Sold everywhere.

Globules of fat occur in many mollusks and insects, but true adipose tissue is found only in back-bone animals, particularly the herbivorous. In the average man it constitutes about one-twentieth part of his weight. The fat of animals has the different names of oil, lard, tallow, suet and spermaceti. It is a reserve of nutriment in excess of consumption, serving also a packing material and as a protection against cold.

Delicate diseases of either sex, however induced, radically cured. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and slow. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the cause and tone up the digestive organs, till they perform their duties willfully. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." Mrs. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

Messrs. Mason & Hamlin bid fair to become as famous for their Upright Pianos as they have long been for their world-renowned Cabinet Organs. Having experimented with the assistance of probably as able a corps of experts as can be found in any factory in the world, they have succeeded in producing a piano which has elicited the warmest eulogiums from the best judges. The distinguishing feature about it is an important improvement in the method of "stringing" the piano, which originated in their own factory. The strings are secured by metallic fastenings, instead of the friction of pins set in wood, as has been the case, and the advantages resulting are numerous and highly important; among them are the following: Wonderful beauty and musical quality of tone, far less liability of getting out of tune, greater reliability in trying climates, and greater solidity of construction and durability. Mason & Hamlin have made 150,000 organs. They can hardly expect to make as many pianos, but they will doubtless be called upon to make a very large number.—Boston Traveller.

The cowboy's cure for snoring is unique and effectual if not soothing. On the Utah & Northern last Sunday a 200-pound man lay snoring on two facing seats. His roar had been heard to the discomfort of a car full all the afternoon. At about 4 P. M. a cowboy got on at one of the canyon stations. He heard the foghorn with evident impatience for about half an hour or so, when he stepped up to the sleeper and said:

"Say, stranger, stop that snort or you'll get fired."

The cowboy was not large, but he was full of guts and there was judgment in his eye. This big man said nothing, but lay still, and his sleep, if he slept, was as quiet as the slumber of infancy.

To GREEN PICKLES SAFELY.—The easiest way at this time of the year is to steep them, not boil, in strong ginger water, made by boiling the root. Keep them warm in this for half a day by setting the stone jar in a hot place, alternate layers of loaves and pickles, steeped in any kettle that is not brass. You may also try the large green outer leaves of the cabbage. Whenever you use of the three, put a teaspoonful of powdered alum to every quart of them. For pickling use good elder vinegar and water, equal parts. Heat this three times a day and pour over them, keeping them closely covered with vine or cabbage leaves while the vinegar is heating. Drop a small piece of alum into each stone jar, and keep covered up closely with brown paper and flannel.

"Mac, I've been reading a summary of mortuary statistics for the past half year, and this thing bothers me. It seems that the death rate is very much greater among the young than among the adults. Now, why should it be that more die young?" "Well," answered M. Gibe, in an off hand way, "I guess it is because men are born young."

"I don't see why you want to marry my daughter, sir," said old Snakem to a would-be suitor for his daughter's hand.

"Because I love her, sir."

"That's no good reason. What's your business, sir?"

"I'm a director for the horse-car company."

"That'll never do. There's Smith, he's a director of the company, and he failed up last week. No poor man for my daughter, sir."

"Well, sir, I'm not a poor man. I'm not that kind of a director."

"What are you, then?"

"I'm a conductor, sir."

"Ah, that makes a difference, sir. Take her and be happy."

It was a Woman's Rights meeting. The name of Mrs. Bosphorous had been presented for consideration.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said one of the womenest kind of a Woman's Rights woman, "while I have no objections to Mrs. Bosphorous as a social companion, I do not consider her by any means a woman of sufficient determination to join this society. There are horrid rumors afloat concerning her which must be explained. The line must be drawn somewhere."

"What has she done?" asked the meeting in chorus.

"She has sewed on her husband's shirt-buttons."

"Pah," said young Jarpley, "I've got a scheme."

"Ah, wot is it, my son?" cautiously asked the father.

"To raise money—lots of it!" enthusiastically responded the Jarpley's heir.

"How?"

"Why, you get on a horsecar and fall off and break your leg, and mah and I'll sue the company."

"It won't work, Johnnie," snappishly replied Mrs. Jarpley. "We couldn't prove that it disabled him from following his usual occupation of lying around."

BALTIMORE BELLE.—"I wonder who this Nellie Jones is?"

Philadelphia Belle—"I never heard of her. Why?"

Baltimore Belle—"I see a Western paper says, 'Miss Nellie Jones is the prettiest girl in New York.'"

Philadelphia Belle—"Indeed! Let me see, which port was it that said something about 'damning with faint praise'?"

"Well, and how about your marriage?"

"I have broken it off."

"You haven't, have you?"

"Yes, my intended father-in-law wanted reference."

"Not so you were offended?"

"And at all; only, as I knew he would have broken off the engagement afterwards, I preferred to have the start of him, and broke it off myself. It's more dignified you know."

JONES.—"I see that the Australians have invented a machine for producing rainstorms. What in the world can that be?"

Smith—"Simple as A B C. The machine is nothing but an ordinary umbrella."

JONES.—"An umbrella? Nonsense. How can an umbrella produce rainstorms?"

"By leaving it at home."

FROM AKRON, OHIO. CONSUMPTION CURED.

Dr. J. H. Schenck, Akron, Ohio, Feb. 11th, 1881.

Dear Sir—Having been asked by many in regard to your medicines, and the benefit I had received from them, I have concluded to give you an account of my case. In the winter of 1875 I was pronounced an incurable Consumptive by every physician of this place, as well as several in Cleveland. I had all the symptoms—cough, night sweats, great debility and loss of flesh. I was reduced in weight from one hundred and sixty pounds to eighty pounds. I had given up all hope of recovery, when I was told by Mr. James Scallan that he had used your medicines with good effect, and he had advised me to give them a trial, although I do not think he believed they would cure me. For I was so sick at this time that no one thought that I would ever get well. I thought, however, that they might give me temporary relief, and with this object I commenced to use your Pulmonary Syrup. I had not taken it two days before I felt great relief, especially in the severity of my cough. I then took the Mandrake Pills and Sea-weed Tonic, and in two weeks my appetite came back, and I began to gain strength. I took your medicines for about three months. I was too weak to do any kind of work for two years. Your medicines made a perfect cure, and I have been in good health ever since. I do not know that I can say more than this, unless it be that I believe your medicines to be good, and that they will do all that you say they will do.

Yours Very Truly, J. A. REILLY.

Dr. J. H. Schenck, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir—I herewith send you an account of the wonderful cure your medicine made in my case, and should you think it worthy of publication, you are welcome to do so. I have been very sick, and was told by a physician that I would never be cured, and that I would always have trouble with my lungs. I had a very severe cough, night sweats, and great pain in the side, chest, and back. I could scarcely breathe, and I was very weak. I was advised by a friend to consult you, which I did. Under your treatment I improved rapidly, and am now enjoying perfect health. I believe your treatment saved my life. Please accept my sincere thanks for all you have done for me. I should recommend your remedies whenever I meet any one afflicted as I was. I remain, Very Respectfully, MARY A. REIMER, No. 1408 Eriston St., Philadelphia, Pa. Jan. 26th, 1884.

Consumption Can be Cured.

PHILADELPHIA.

DEAR SIR—Some years ago I was taken with inflammation of the lungs, and although treated by two of the best physicians of this city, I gradually grew worse, until I had hemorrhages quite frequently. They usually occurred in the morning, and averaged fully a pint of blood at a time. I had night sweats every night, and my weight, which was 165 lbs. when I was first taken sick, gradually ran down to 125 lbs. My nights were almost sleepless, owing to severe pain in my breast, back and shoulders, and a continual cough. I was so sick that my physicians gave up all hope of my recovery. I then began to try medicines that I saw advertised, but without any lasting benefit. At last, by the advice of a friend, I concluded to use your remedies. I began by using all your medicines as you directed, and in a very short time all my worst symptoms left me and I began to gain in every way. As my appetite came back I gained flesh very fast. From June to November the increase was over fifty pounds. My present weight is 174 pounds, and has been about that since my recovery several years since. I was told by my physicians that I had Consumption, and I believe myself that I had, and that your medicines cured me.
