CARE OF THE EYES.

It often happens that weak or inflamed eyes result from not using spectacles when they are required, or from using Kansas, spectacles unsuited to the sight. The advice of an oculist on these matters is often invaluable. Indulgence in alcohol is very bad for the eyes. We see this in the "bleared eyes" of the habitual tip-

Everybody has experienced the pain and annoyance of "something getting pression, "Tight as a drum." into the eye." What should be done when this happens? In the majority of cases, if the sufferer has the patience to close the eye gently, and keep it immovably closed for from five minutes to a quarter of an hour, the offending particle will be safely and painlessly washed away by the tears which the eye will naturally shed. All who have carried out this plan speak of it with great commendation as absolutely infallible. And complicated sort are often the result of for self-relief.

If the eye is rubbed or violently winked, in hopes of ejecting the foreign body, it is apt to get behind the upper eyelid, which must then be everted to get it out. The way to perform this simple operation is as follows: Take a pencil or pen-holder (perfectly clean, of course) in the right hand, lay it lenghtwise on the upper eyelid, direct the patient to look down while you press with the peneil, shove the eyelid backward into the socket, as it were. This manœuver causes the eyelashes to project. Then seize them between the forefinger and thumb of the left hand, and, while you turn the lid back over the pencil you shove down the back of better. the lid with the pencil. Thus the eyelid is everted, or turned inside out, so that you can see where the particle is and pick it out with the corner of a handkerchief, twisted if need be.

The care of the eye essentially consists in guarding if from accidents, and from all irritating influences. Excessive use of the eyes at night is to be avoided. Curtains, lamp-shades or eye-shades or smoke-glasses are the best means of avoiding the injurious effect of light. The pale shade of "London smoke" glasses is the best. Artificial light, be it of gas, lamp or candle, should never be in front of or a level with the eyes. The light should fall either from above or over the shoulder. Goggles should only be used to protect the eye where a great deal of dry, sandy dust exists; they should sighted people and children should be promptly supplied with spectacles suited to supplement their deficient vision, else the strain on the eyes is ant to weaken and injure the sight irretrievably.

----A PATENT FARO ROX.

It is often asserted and generally believed that it is against the policy of the government to patent any article issued for immoral purposes, and in the collection of thousands of models in the patent office museum one might look all moral thought. Yet it is nevertheless true that a faro dealer's box was once patented in the regular way, and the owner of the same, one Robert Balley. of Virginia, and old-fashioned gambler, realized considerable money from the same, receiving one hundred dollars roy. alty for each box sold. He did all he could to reform the game of faro, and protected those who played from the unfair practices of regular blacklegs. He was debarred from gambling rooms in his latter days because of the case with which he detected crookedness on the part of players and exposed it. Though he made quite a fortune from his patent, to him. The original patent is still pre-

THE ALASKA GLACIER,

Alaska's magnificent glacier drags slowly on its dreary way at the probable rate of a quarter of a mile per year. At the face or front it presents a perpendicular will of ice 500 feet thick, and varies from three to ten miles in width, extending back to the north probably 150 miles. Hundreds of tons of ice are falling off the face of this great glacier every few minutes into the bay, splashing the water more than fifty feet high and rolling up waves that toss the ships like small toy boats. The appearance of the ice, the most pure in the world, is dazzling to the eye, all the tints of blue, from the most delicate to the deepest indigo, being represented. The top surface abounds with little hillocks and miniature mountains of ice. Great areas of earth, gravel and large rocks the size of a house are carried on the top of these ice-fields from place to place, as this great floe, more than 1,000 feet deep of solid ice, moves toward the sea.

Flowers and fruit are always fit presents; flowers, because they are the ud assertion that a ray of beauty outalso all the utilities of the world. These gay natures contrast with the sombre countenance of ordinary nature ; they are like music heard out of a work-
