DOMESTIC

PAINFULLY NEAT, -The tidy housekeeper may be a jewel beyond price, or she may be, by an exaggeration of her tidiness, an unmitigated nuisance. We have known such whose continual struggle with the demons of dirt and disorder left its impress on the face. The features sharpened from perpetual prying into corner and crevice after dust and cobwebs; the brow was contracted into a stereotyped frown, and "the total depravity of inanimate things," and the voice grew querulous from continual complaints of the carelessness of children and servants. Even the guest felt. hampered in such a presence; scarcely dared to touch the finely bound volumes arranged with mathematical precision, or move the chairs which seemed as steadfast in their moorings as the seats in an audience room, but stepped gingerly about, fearing to disarrange the furniture or drapery, and was silently reproved when the tidy hostess stooped to pick up some stray ravelings from from the use of such compounds, and her work basket or to return to its place the book she had just laid down. The husband of that wife did not praise ren "rise up and call her blessed," but were glad to escape from her perpetual restrictions into houses less painfully heat, but where there was more freedom and comfort.

OREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP,-Miss Parloa in opening her lecture before her School of Cookery for the season. gave the following rule for making cream-of-cauliflower soup: Take one medium-sized cauliflower. Remove the green leaves and separate the flowers. Wash thoroughly. Cover with boiling water, adding a tablespoonful of salt. Boil gently for a few minutes. Then pour off nearly all the water, add two tablespoonfuls of butter and simmer twenty minutes. Take it up and take out about a pint of the flowerets. Rub the remainder through a sieve, add to it two quarts of chicken or veal stock boiling hot, and return to the fire. Stir in four tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with half a cup of milk, and season Lisle, Broome Co., N. Y. with salt, pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar and a slight grating of nutmeg. Boil ten minutes longer, adding a pint of cream, and finally the pint of flowerets. Serve with a dish of toasted bread. Cauliflower au gratin, Miss Parloa explained, was the same as escalloped cauliflower. She placed layers of cooked vegetable in a deep soufile dish, covering each layer with cream sauce, and sprinkling over a little grated Parmesan cheese Finally she covered the last layer with bread crumbs and placed the dish in the oven to brown.

A GOOD BATTER FOR SWEET OR VEGE-TABLE FRITTERS .- Put some flour in an earthen bowl, make a hole in the centre and add one or more yolks of eggs, according to the quantity required, one spoonful of fresh salad oil and a little salt. Mix gently with one hand, being especially scareful to always turn the batter in the same direction, dropping in cold water by degrees until the batter is slightly thicker than cream. At the moment of using add one white of egg beaten to a stiff froth. This batter is equally serviceable for celery, apple or sweet fritters of every kind. Another very excellent method of making batter for savory dishes is to moisten the flour with half a wine glass of best fresh vinegar, salt to taste, and cold milk instead of water.

Found no Poison.

Dr. Samuel K, Cox, D. D., Practical Analytical Chemist, Washington, D. C., who made thorough and careful analyses, reports that there is neither morphia opium, emetics nor poisons in the Red Star Cough Cure; that it must prove a boon to those whose systems shrink especially to mothers, who justly dread the evil, and, at times, fatal effects of these dangerous drugs. He further her with any enthusiasm, or her child- states it is not only free from all opiates, poisons and emetics, (a thing which not one cough preparation in ten can boast) but it is altogether an original and most happy combination of the best remedial agents, and 18 as
