WATCH THE KIDNEYS.

They are the most important secretory organs. Into and through the kidneys flow the waste fluids of the body, containing poisonous matter taken out of the system. If the kidneys do not act properly this matter is retained, the whole system becomes disordered and the following symptoms will follow: Headache, weakness, pain in the small back and loins, flushes of heat, chills, with disordered stomach and bowels. You can thoroughly protect the kidneys by BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, and when any of these symptoms manifest themselves you can quickly rid yourself of them by this best of all medicines for the kidneys. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS are sold everywhere at $1 per bottle, and one bottle will prove their efficacy.

ARTIFICIAL ICE.

In London, during the course of a lecture on this subject, the lecturer stated that the production of ice by means of mechanical appliances had for years engaged the attention of scientific men; but it was only of late that their researches and experience had been successful in producing this important article to its becoming a staple article of trade and its manufacture a success as a commercial enterprise. The result was that this new branch of business had begun to assume a position of vast importance and opened a field of profitable investment of capital and labor.

Hitherto difficulties had been encountered in the manufacture of ice, chief among which was this—that ice could only be produced in small, thin cakes, opaque, and snowy in appearance, owing to the complications of the machinery. Recently patented machinery and appliances had overcome these difficulties and could produce ice perfectly pure and transparent in large and solid blocks of uniform size and thickness. Manufactured ice was purer, cheaper and more lasting than natural ice. It was desirable that the supply of ice should be of pure nature, free from all sewage and noxious gases arising from the decomposition of vegetable matter such as is found in rivers, canals, ponds and lakes. The notion that ice purified itself by the process of freezing was not based on trustworthy information. Manufactured ice was made from filtered and purified water, but this guarantee was not offered with natural ice, even such as was imported from the "eternal snows" of Norway. Manufactured was more permanent than natural ice on account of its greater density. The introduction of artificial ice had broken down a monopoly which had existed in the market for natural ice, and there was now no reason why the consumption of ice should not be wide spread and popular. Manufactured ice was used in several of our large hospitals. A number of specimens of ice, natural and artificial, were arranged in front of the platform.

PUNISHMENT OF FALSIFIERS.

During the fourteenth century there can be no doubt that the companies exercised very effective superintendence over trade and manufacture. The city records abound with accounts of the exposure and punishment of fraud at the instigation of the companies, whose representatives seem to have used their powers of scrutiny and search with considerable vigor. Some of the cases reported with all solemnity in the "Remembrances" are very quaint, and afford a curious insight into the manners of the time. Thus in 1311 we read of a scrutiny of "false hats" being prosecuted "at the request of the haters," with the result that 15 black and 40 gray and white hats were seized as false, and condemned to be burned in Chepe, while "certain other hats," of the bona fides of which there was some doubt, were "postponed for further consideration."

In 1316 "the good folk of the trade of potters" denounced to the Mayor and Aldermen divers persons, and especially one "Aleyu le Sopere," who busied themselves by buying "in divers places pots of bad metal, and then put them on the fire so as to resemble pots that have been used and are of old brass, and then," the record continues, "they expose them for sale in West Chepe on Sundays and other festival days to the deception of all those who buy such pots, for the moment they are put upon the fire and exposed to great heat they come to nothing and melt. By which roguery and falsehood the people are deceived, and the trade also is badly put to slander." The magistrates of the fourteenth century were not restricted to the dull monotony of "40s, or a month," and they seem in devising penalties to have given free scope to their powers of invention. For example, one Quilhove having bought a putrid pig, which had been lying a long time by the riverside, for 4d., sent it from two gammons for sale, and sold part thereof "in deceit of the people." He was sentenced to stand in the pillory while "the residue of the game was burned beneath him." In the same way a seller of bad wine was condemned to stand in the pillory, to drink a draught of his own stuff, and to have the remainder poured over his head. We may well envy our ancestors the protection of this excellent law, and sigh that the solace of its discriminating application is denied to us.

AMERICAN HUMOR.

"And now, Mr. Freshton," said the Professor, in a suave and encouraging tone, "how would you define humor—I would suggest more particularly American humor?" "Well, Sir," replied the representative of '88, after several minutes had been employed in seemingly profound reflection. "I think I could best define it by an example." "Your example, then," gently urged the Professor; "it will evidence your comprehensive knowledge of the subject; proceed." "Well," replied the youth, "a man sat upon a keg of powder; he was absorbed in deep reflection, and had a lighted cigar in his mouth. They picked up one butt on." Freshton passed.

Wonderful.

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch, Sept. 25th, 1880.

Very seldom do we read of an actual case of recovery, where hope had altogether been lost, to parallel that which was Monday investigated by a Dispatch reporter, who had heard in various quarters persons talking to their friends of a cure, seemingly little short of marvelous, that had been performed. The plain facts in the case referred to, without exaggeration, are these, as they were learned from the mother of the young man, his pastor and other persons well known in the community:

"William Lincoln Curtis is the name of the young man in question. He is now employed at H. K. Porter & Co.'s locomotive works in Pittsburgh, Pa. A year ago he resided with his mother on Grant street. About that time he went to bed one evening with a violent pain in his shoulder, the result, he thought, of a cold. The next morning the shoulder was greatly swollen, the pain was intense, and aches were felt all through his system. His case was speedily developed into a violent form of chronic rheumatism, among the first notable features of which was the paralysis of his left arm.

"He gradually grew worse, and in a few months the elbow and knee joints and both ankles became enormously enlarged. In March last the chest bones began to enlarge, and upon his left side particularly spreading his face out of all resemblance to his former self. The pain in all his joints became intense; fever, with its deteriorating effects, was now added, and he became rapidly reduced to the semblance of a skeleton, and his sufferings were of such an insupportable character that those who most loved him sometimes thought it would be better if he were slain outright. At this time physicians well known in Pittsburgh informed his parents that they could give no hopes of recovery.

"The young man finally commenced taking that wonderful medicine, PARVA. In two weeks a change for the better, was perceptible. In six weeks all the enlargement had been reduced completely, while in spirits and strength the patient was quite as well as he had ever been in his life. Nearly three weeks ago he resumed work as a machinist at his old place, and to perform as much labor as ever in his life.

"The mother of Willie Curtis, in stating all these facts, said: 'Indeed, I can not look upon the cure as anything less than a miracle, and hesitate in sounding the praise of PARVA, and in recommending it to all my friends.' The young man attended Sabbath school was visited, and he readily confirmed the facts of the deformed bones, and the cure which he received. He was greatly surprised at his improved condition. Said he, 'If I did not speak, I would not have known him.'

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

The great popularity of this preparation, after its test of many years, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical, that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed. It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—provided the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; preserves the scalp healthy and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair falling off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, lustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. It contains no alcohol, it does not cap-tain, and dries up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS
Colors them brown or black, as desired, and is the best dye, because it is harmless; produces a permanent natural color; and, being a single preparation, is more convenient of application than any other.

Sold by all Dealers in Medicines.

"It is truly a marvel of skill and a triumph of modern mechanical art that such a noble volume can be furnished at so small a cost. Whether we admire its large proportions, beautiful binding, fair page, excellent paper, numerous and striking illustrations, numbering nearly 100—all are first-class."—Christian Cynosure, Chicago, Ill.
