POKER AT SEA.

Among the plagues which infect Anglo-American steamers are a race of men who play the noble game of poker from the Mersey to the Sandy Hook and from Sandy Hook to Mersey. Of course, if they played it in strict seclusion they ought not to be molested. Every human being had a sacred and indefeasible right, even before the American Constitution was invented, to waste his or her own time in his or her own way. To question this would be to tamper with the foundations of everything. But the liberty which involves compulsion of your neighbor is, as a great philosopher would have said, of a spurious or mixed kind, which even the High priests of "individualism" are not bound to encourage. Poker may be the most exalted form of intellectual exercise in which, with his limited facilities, man is capable of indulging. To make life unendurable for all who do not play poker is a kind of missionary enterprise not part of the inalienable birthright of every free man whose proud boast to the tyrant of the oppressor is that his home is in the setting sun. We are well aware that the axiom "Every man may do as he damn pleases" is dependent on the condition that "every man does not include a nigger or a Mexican." But it has never been held to exclude quiet people who have taken (and paid for) their passage from New York to Liverpool. Such, however, seems to be the construction tacitly placed upon it by certain devotees of poker worship who patronize the steamers of a "very fashionable English line" between those two commercial centres. These gentlemen, if we may employ the word for once in the sense given it by "every charlatan," establish themselves in the smoking room as their own peculiar keep. They garrison it like a fortress and consecrate it to solemn service of their favorite game. "For a day or two," says the complainant previously cited, "the outsider was allowed his corner, but after that the mysterious and occult worship of poker admitted of no intruders." "Play or treat" was the motto, and the only other course was departure.

One of the most sensible and practical charities is the Kitchen Garden, where young girls of the poorer classes are taught the proper methods of service in refined households. Several benevolent young ladies connected with Sunday-school in our fashionable churches have set apart certain hours of the week to give this eminently useful instruction to the mission scholars in their charge. The children are taught how to wait on the table, place and clear away the dishes neatly and with dispatch, answer a call at the door, the proper way to usher in a visitor or repel a beggar or tramp. Also plain and staple articles of cooking are in the list of useful knowledge, one most beneficial feature of this teaching being that the young ladies themselves must become proficient in these branches, though to them it may prove to be an accomplishment only. Should schools of this kind become more numerous and on a larger scale, with endowed scholarships if possible, the perplexing servant problem might in this way be solved and intelligent service become a matter of pride and an excellent proficiency. Nursing has become a profession, and the necessity for good servants being more extensive, why may not more encouragement be given to the kitchen gardens with most gratifying results to both classes employed?

INSOMNIA.
Like dyspepsia, insomnia is coming to be regarded as a peculiarly American malady. The excitable nature of the American people renders them more susceptible to nervous disorders than those of a more phlegmatic temperament. To many persons who suffer from sleeplessness the following hints as to the most efficient means of inducing natural sleep may not come amiss. If the sleeplessness be occasioned by undue nervous excitement the application of mustard plasters to the abdomen will afford relief. Where this remedy fails the freshly made solution of lactate of soda or some milk or whey may be used with good results. When brain exhaustion is responsible for the inability to sleep, the administration of a tumbler full of hot claret and water with sugar and nutmeg is recommended. When acid dyspepsia is present the alkalies and alkaline earths are useful. The irritant properties of the air which hinders sleep during hot weather, can be counteracted by sprinkling the floor with hot water. When sleep is broken by severe pain nothing is more useful than opium and morphia. These latter remedies should never be taken, however, without the advice of a physician. A hypodermic injection of morphia, however is to be preferred to taking the drug internally when the wakefulness is due to neuralgia.

Let us beware of losing our enthusiasm. Let us ever glory in something, and strive to retain our admiration for all that would ennoble our interest in all that would enrich and beautify our life.

A citizen of Americus, Ga., claims to have carried an open-face watch constantly for twenty years without having broken the crystal, although several times it was subjected to rough use. The watch was inherited from his father, and the crystal was placed on it forty years ago.

In Northern Siberia when a young man thinks he wants to marry a young woman he arranges to pay a certain sum to her father. Half of this sum he pays down and lives with the family of his lady-love for a year. If, at the end of that time, he still wants her, he pays the other half of the sum agreed upon and gets her. If he doesn't want her he says so and loses the instalment which he first paid.
"Burglars" Mr. Davitt tells us of his "Parson Dairy" says an English paper, "seldom receive more than twenty per cent of the value of their booty from the buyers to whom they dispose of it, if it happens to be in any other form than coin. If the stories told by three criminals can be credited, many men of apparently stainless character in the commercial world owe most of their wealth to direct dealing with professional thieves."

The largest and finest memorial stone in the Washington monument is the one presented by the Corporation of Philadelphia. The stone sent by Switzerland bears this inscription: "This block is from the original chapel built to William Tell, in 1338, on Lake Lucerne, Switzerland, at the spot where he escaped from Gessler." Since it was sent here, the Historical Society of Switzerland has demonstrated that no such persons as Tell and Gessler ever existed.
One of the most remarkable people with whom missionaries have to do are the Falashas of Ethiopia. They are black Hebrews, about two hundred thousand in number, living west of Jordan, who have as their holy writings the Old Testament in an Ethiopic version, and who still rigidly adhere to the Mosaic ceremonies and laws. They are the children of Hebrew immigrants, who, in the time of the great Dispersion, settled in Abyssinia and married wives of that nation. Efforts made during the last 300 years to convert them to Christianity have proved unavailing.

A writer in the St. Louis Medical Journal advises young practitioners never to make fun of an old woman's remedy. They will not only give offence but may miss a valuable aid in practice. The writer adds: "In 1830, while practising in Madison county, Ill., I was induced, by the representations of an old woman, to make the trial, in dysentery and diarrhoea, of tablespoonful doses of pure cider vinegar, with the addition of sufficient salt to be noticeable, and it acted so charmingly that I have never used anything else.
The question whether money found in a shop belongs to the keeper of the place or the finder is often disputed. A writer in the Pharmaceutical Record relates that a customer in a drug store once picked up a dollar note from the floor between two parallel counters. He inquired if any one in the store had lost it, and finding they had not, he appropriated it. His claims to it being disputed, the case was submitted to a lawyer, who said: "The open passage between the two counters was dedicated to the public, not in fee simple, but as a highway which they were invited to occupy for purposes of traffic." So the finder kept the dollar.

Woman's Province.

THE DUTIES OF THE GENTLER SEX—HOW BEST FULFILLED.
What a noble province is assigned to woman. Its dignity cannot be elevated. It is not her province to make laws, to lead armies, nor to be the head of great enterprises, but to be in a position to form those by whom the laws are made, to teach the leaders of mighty armies and the governors of vast empires. She is required to resist against having the slightest taint of bodily infirmity touch the fruit creature whose moral, intellectual and physical being is derived from her. She must impart correct principles, inculcate right duties, and breathe into the soul of her offspring those pure sentiments which in due time will be a part of themselves, and bless generations yet unborn. Yes, to woman is given the blessed privilege of aiding the sufferer in all the various stages of his existence. She smiles serenely at the christening, and weeps at the burial. She soothes the bereaved heart. This is her province and duty. Yet how can she fulfill her mission unless possessed of a strong and healthy body? The preparation of Dr. S. B. Hartman, and known as PERUNA, is just the thing for persons suffering from a majority of the complaints incident to this climate. It is invaluable to women, and weeps at the burial.
