TRANSPARENCIES are no longer used for sash curtains, as they soil readily, and few curtains are a success after the second washing. In their place India silk is used, as well as silk grenadine and light madras cloths. The silks are by far the best adapted for this purpose, as the texture is soft and pliable and admits of being gracefully draped. The colors are various shades from green to blush red. India reds, olive green, copper, gilt and these blue shades that are seen only in Oriental fabrics. White is to be ignored unless for summer use, and even then dust will discolor it, even if the maid-of-all-work does not leave her finger marks on it every time the panes are wiped off. Ecru is a good shade, as also are pearl, the opal tints and the first four shades of brown and olive.

PRETTY BEDCOVER. - Take a linen sheet or thin counterpane and stitch strips of bright colored chintz upon it lengthwise. Or put them upon the four sides as a border, letting them cross at the corners, with a handsome square in the center. Instead of chintz you can use strips of plain colors, as blue, red, pink or any material that will wash well, and can be stitched on and along the edges. Put long herringbone stitches of bright scarlet thread for a finish; if you wish it to hang over trim with pretty lace If to be tucked in, care must be taken to put the strips far enough from the edge to show well when the bed is made.

AGRICULTURE.

CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA, -I thought perhaps it would not be out of place for me to state through your valuable paper the result of an experiment made the last year, and continuing to the present time. In 1880 we had on our farm about 70 hogs, weighing from 80 to 200 pounds, live weight. In the month of September they commenced to show unmistakable evidence of the disease, and as a result about 50 per cent. died, and this after prescribing all the known remedies that could be heard of. With this experience I was better prepared tor the return of the disease next year. We commenced the season of 1884 with 27 shoats weighing about 100 pounds each, divide into five different pens. In the month of August the diseases appearing again in its most violent form; in a pen of seven, one was found dead, and two more were unable to walk or eat. The symptoms were all of the cholers character. I immediately gave hog and continued this twice daily for two days. The sick ones recovered and no more was seen of the trouble nutil taken sick, followed immediately by three more. The same remedy was again resorted to and all recovered but one, From that time until all were batchered no more was seen of the disease, but an occasional use of carbolic acid was had as a preventive. This winter, with a lot of seventeen, using no preventive, the disease again made its appearance, but was immediately stopped by the same remedy. For a well-grown bog I would give 20 drops; for one of less size I would give less, using it also occasionally as a deodorizer about the trough and pen.

SALT FOR EQUASHES. --- There are probably few farmers who have not been perplexed, not to say provoked, at their failure at times to grow squashes, The young plants will start well, grow luxuriantly for a time and then begin to show signs of decay. In most cases this appears to result from the ravages The best external remedy for local or deep- of a sort of maggot or insect that works eated pains, Rheumatism, Sciatica and backache: at the root just below the surface of the the Hop Porous Plaster. Fresh Hops, Plich and ground, and is effectual in causing destruction. We notice in an exchange what is claimed to be a remedy, which is so simple that it is worthy of a trial at least. The writer says: "I put a handful of salt in each hill at the time of planting, and not a vine was touched. They grew splendidly and the squashes grew well through the Winter. One hill was planted without salt and that proved a failure." Farmers will do well to bear the above in mind at the time of planting squashes.

> NASTURTIUMS .- What could be more delightful for table bouquets next summer than an abundance of sweet, pungent and bright-colored nasturtiums? By sowing the seed in any fair bed of soil some time during the Spring they will start up quickly, and produce plants that by Fall will be eight or more feet high. These will yield a great number of fine long-stemmed flowers for months. A mixture of good seed can be bought for about fifteen cents per ounce. Let the children have a bed in which to sow nasturtiums.

Cows will readily learn to eat skim milk. There is an advantage in this, for there are times when more milk is produced than can be profitably fed otherwise. Besides, the cows that are taught to eat the greatest variety of food are always the best milkers. But in most places all the skim milk can be more profitably fed to pigs and poultry than to any other stock. Skim milk for hens will set them to laying. It abounds in albumen, from which the white of the egg is formed.

A vEEY common mistake or fault, is committed by farmers in permitting all kinds of stock to run together in one yard or inclosure. Horses, colts-which are frisky creatures-bulls, cows, sheep, pigs and fowls all run in one yard or field. The horses worry the colts; the bulls gore the horses; the pigs worry the cows and sheep, and often destroy the new-born calves and lambs; the fowls and ducks are trampled on and there is a sad time all round. And the farmer-he says he has had bad luck and somehow or other something is always going wrong.

Asmes .-- Wood ashes are one of the most valuable fertilizers that a farmer can apply to his soil. For root crops of all kinds, grasses, clover, etc., they will be found just what is needed to stimulate and feed the crop. The ash is the mineral element of any vegetable structure, and, therefore, indisp anable to its growth. The farmer who will sell his ashes is actually parting with so much of the fertility of his farm. As an application to reclaim marsh land, the effect of ashes is often wonderful,

HICKORY .- An old experienced farmer says that hickory ent in July or August will not become worm-eaten. Oak, chestnut, walnut, or other timber cut from the middle of July to the last of August will last twice as long as when cut in winter. White oak cut at this season, if kept off the ground, will season through if two feet in diamer, and emain perfectly sound for many years; whereas if cut in winter or spring it will become sap-rolten in a few years.

ALWAYS SET out a row of evergreens, as well as shade trees along the front of the farm-house, as they add largely to the value of the farm by rendering it more attractive.

IT has been ascertained by carefully repeated experiments that the first drawn milk contains 5, the second 8 and the fifth 17 per cent, of cream. Thus a cow three-quarters milked is not hatf-milked, if butter is the object.
