The grape vines they trim-med very close—thought they might die of the effect and stuck potatoes on the end of the vines, and have them bear potatoes now. This is what intemperance will do.

DECORATION.

Decoration was observed in this county, on Saturday, with the usual appropriate ceremonies.

At Bellefonte, at 2 o'clock, the Post and sons of veterans, joined by the fire companies, formed in line, headed by the Zion band, and marched to the cemetery, accompanied by a large crowd of citizens. All business was suspended while the patriotic ceremonies were go-ing on, and in the evening senator Auli delivered an address in the court house. At Centre Hall the members of the Post assembled in the morning and proceeded to Farmers Mills, where the graves of the dead patriots were decorated. Accompanied by the Farmer's Mills ed. HUNTINGDON HOMICIDE,

Story of the Killing Related by an Eye Witness.

Huntingdon, Pa., May 31 .- The wildest excitement still prevails throughout this county over the brutal butchery of James Irwin by his companion, John Laporte, at Warrior's Mark, on Tuesday porte, at Warrior's Mark, on Tuesday night last. To-day the last doubt has been removed in regard to the cause of the horrible tragedy. It is now positively known that jealousy was the principal motive. It has been learned that on one occasion Laporte called at the residence of Rev. J. L. Holmes, in Tyrone, with the avowed purpose of killing Miss Alice Holmes, the young lady who had spurned his attentions. After ringing the door bell he drew a loaded revolver from his pocket and awaited the young lady's coming. The door was fortunately opened by an aunt of Miss Holmes, when Laporte wheeled about abruptly, sheathed his revolver and hastened away. On the day of the murder he had requested a young man named Spangler to get him six morphia powders of one grain each, with which it is supposed he had intended to kill himself after the commission of the deed. An eye witness to the brutal murder has been found in the person of Michael Funk, an old man eighty years of age, who through fear of bodily harm made no effort to saye Irwin's life. As related by Mr. Funk, the young men after passing his house engaged in a quarrel. Laporte, who was less intoxicted than Irwin, stooped suddenly in the roadway and picked up a large stone with which he struck Irwin on the head, felling him to the ground. Laporte continued beating his victim on the head until he had smashed his face beyond recognition and fractured his skull in several places. Then drawing his knife from his pocket Laporte stabbed the lifeless body of Ir-win in the abdomen, and concluded his bloody work by cutting his throat from ear to ear. When found the head was held to the trunk by only a slight particle of flesh. The murderer then hastened with all possible speed in the direction of his home. Instead of going home, however, Laporte slept in the woods all night, but on Friday morning surrendered himself to his father, the Hon. Judge Laporte, who delivered him over to Sheriff McAlevy the same evening.

FAILURE AT BELLEFONTE. The Hardware Store of Hicks & Brother

Closed by the Sheriff.

[Bellefonte Daily News, May 22.]

The community was somewhat startled this morning by the intelligence that the extensive business affairs of Mr. H. K. Hicks, hardware merchant of this place, had gone into liquidation. The excitement was augmented when about 8:30 o'clock the sheriff closed H. K. Hicks & Brother's hardware store, the largest in Bellefonte. Among the business men, however, the event was not entirely unlooked for. The truth is that five executions have been issued against Mr. Hicks, and it was found necessary to close his store and also to attach his interest in the firm of Hicks & Buck, of the Novelty Machine works. There is no gentleman or business man in Bellefonte who is more popular than Mr. Hicks, and in his financial difficulties, which are solely due to general business de-pression, he has the sympathy of all. He is quite prostrated by his complica-tions—feeling them more perhaps than circumstances call for. We are glad to note that there are good prospects that his affairs will be so adjusted as to enable nim to continue business soon.
