COOKING POTATOES AND RICE .- Old cooking. The most nutritious portion the skin, and this is generally all pared from each end; this lets the water out, and the potatoes are then put into cold water and allowed to heat slowly. They should boil as slowly as possible until done. There are a variety of ways of warming over cold potatões, and nearly all good and economical. Never throw away a cold potato, but out it in thin slices and lay it in a bowl, with a few slices of onions, a little pepper, salt and vinegar, a teaspoonful of oil, and you have a relishing salad for lunch. The best way to cook sweet potatoes is to chip off a piece of each end and roast in the oven. They should never be boiled; they are very nice stewed, It any are left over they make a nice breakfast dish if sliced lengthwise and fried on a griddle, each piece to itself. Rice is an excellent article of diet, but is too often spoiled in cooking, coming on the table either scerched or boiled to a mush. A very little attention will cook it just right. Wash it well and soak for an hour in cold water, drain this off and to one pint of rice add three pints of boiling water and a little salt. Set your pail or saucepan in a pan of water with two sticks in the bottom; let the rice boil fast, keeping it tightly covered. By the time the water evapobake in lorg flat tins. It is cheap and rates the rice will be cooked. The Chinese tie their rice in a bag, leaving room to swell, and strain it. This is, without doubt the best way of cooking it.

BEEF Sour .- Boil three pounds of lean beef cut into small pieces in three quarts of water one hour; or the bony should be prepared the day before needed, so that it can cool overnight. In the morning carefully remove all the fat which will have risen and cooled hard on top. Two hours before dinner teaspoonful of black pepper and a small bit of cayenne pepper, a very little mace or allspice, a head of celery, half a teaspoonful of powdered savoy and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Let it simmer two hours, then strain, salt to taste and serve hot.

Toy Reins,-With strong yarn cast on ten stiches and knit garter fashion two stripes one and one-quarter yards long; then turn one-quarter of a yard at one end of each strip, back and fasten securely. This forms the arm holes. Now, cast on fourteen stitenes and and another strip long enough to reach across the child's breast from arm to arm. Crochet a scallop clear around arm. KEROSENE IN COLD WEATHER .- An oil inspector offers this explanation of why kerosene oil lamps do not give as good light in cold weather as at other times: "Wisconsm test prime light oils will thicken with the cold at temperatures varying from zero to 20 degrees above. Freezing separates the particles of par-affline from the remainder of the oil. They are attracted by the wick and fill the pores, destroying its capillary power and increasing its tendency to encrust and char in burning. The best kerosene oils for burning in cold weather are water white, colorless oils of light gravity. These cost from 2 to 3 cents per galion more."

INVALIDS' HOTELAND SURGICAL

No. 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

Not a Hospital, but a pleasant Remedial Home, organized with

A FILL STAFF OF EIGHTEEN PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS,

And exclusively devoted to the treatment of all Chronic Diseases.

This possing Establishment was designed and erected to accommodate the large number of invalids who visit Buffalo from every Site and Territory, as well as from many foreign lands, that they may avail themselves of the professional services of the Staffof skilled specialists in medicine and surgery that compose the Faculty of this widely-celebrated institution.

A TAIR AND BUSINESS-LIKE OFFER TO INVALIDS.

We cruestly invite you to come, see and examine for yourself, our institutions, appliances, advantages and success in curing chronic iscases. Have a mind of your own. Do not listen to or beed the counsel of skeptical friends or jealous physicians, who know nhing of us, our system of treatment, or means of cure, yet who never lose an opportunity to misrepresent and endeavor to prejuice people against us. We are responsible to you for what we represent, and if you come and visit us, and find that we have misrepresented, in any particular, our institutions, advantages or success, we will promptly refund to you wall exenses of your trip. We court honest, sincere investigation, have no secrets, and are only too glad to show all interests and candid people what we are doing for suffering humanity.

NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.

By ou original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases just as successfully without as with a personal consultatio. While we are always glad to see our patients, and becomescoquainted with them, show them our institutions, and familiage them with our system of treatment, yet we have not seen or person in five hundred whom we have cured. The perfect aceracy with which scientists are enabled to deduce the most mute particulars in their several departments, appears almost hiraculous, if we view it in the light of the early ages. Take, & example, the electro-magnetic telegraph, the greatest inventin of the age. Is it not a marvelous degree of accuracy which sables an operator to exactly locate a fracture in a submarineable nearly three thousand miles long? Our venerable "clerk if the weather" has become so thoroughly familiar with the mot wayward elements of nature that he can accurately predictiheir movements. He can sit in Washington and foretell what be weather will be in Florida or New York as well as if severalbundred miles did not intervene between him and the places lamed. And so in all departments of modern science, what is required is the knowledge of certain signs. From these scientists deduce accurate conclusions regardless of distance. So, also, in medicular of determining, with the greatest accuracy, the nature of chronic diseases, without seeing and personally examining our patients. In recognizing diseases without a personal examination of the patient, we elaim to possess as miraculous powers. We obtain our knowledge of the patient's disease by the practical application, to the practice of medicine, of well-established principles of modern science. And it is to the accuracy with which this system has endowed us that we owe our almost world-wide reputation of skillfully freating lingering or chronic affections. This system of practice, and the marvelous success which has been attained through it, demonstrate the fact that diseased display certain phenomena, which, being subjected to scientific analysis, furnish abundant and unmistakable data, to guide the judgment of the skillful practitioner aright in determining the nature of diseased conditions. The most ample resources for treating lingering or chronic diseases, and the greatest skill are thus placed within the easy reach of every invalid, however distant be or she may reside from the physicians making the treatment of such affections a specialty. Full particulars of our original, scientific system of examining and treating patients at a distance are contained in "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." By R. V. Pierce, M. D. 1000 pages and over 300 colored and other illustrations. Sent, post-paid, for $1.50 or write and describe your symptoms, inclosing ten cents is stamps, and a complete treatise, on your particular disease, will be sent you, with our terms for treatment and all particulars. stamps, and a complete treatise, on your particular disease, w

COMMON SENSE AS APPLIED TO MEDICINE.

It is a well-known fact, and one that appeals to the judgment of every thinking person, that the physician who devotes his whole time to the study and investigation of a certain class of diseases, must become better qualified to treat such diseases than he who attempts to treat every ill to which fiesh is helr, without giving special strention to any class of diseases than he who attempts to treat every ill to which fiesh is helr, without giving special strention to any class of diseases. Men, it all ages of the world, who have become famous, have devoted their lives to some special branch of science, art, or literatire.

By thorough organization, and subdividing the practice of medicine and surgery in this institution, every invalid is treated by a secialist—one who devotes his undivided attention to the particular class of diseases to which the case belongs. The by a secialist—one who devotes his undivided attention to the particular class of diseases to which the case belongs. The advanture of this arrangement must be obvious. Medical science offers a vast field for investigation, and no physician can advanture of this arrangement must be obvious. Medical science offers a vast field for investigation, and no physician can within the brief limits of a life-time, achieve the highest degree of success in the treatment of every malady incident to humanity.

DIEASES.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, and kindred maladies, have been very largely treated, and cures effected in thousands of cases which had been pronounced beyond hope. The study and practice of chemical analysis and microscopical examination of the urine in our consideration of cases, with reference to correct diagnosis, in or of cases, with reference to correct diagnosis, in our specialists have acquired, through a vast and varied experience, great experiness in determining the exact nature of each case, and, hence, have been successful in nicely adapting their remelies for the cure of each individual case.

The treatment of diseases of the urinary organs having constituted a prominent branch, or speciality, of our practice at the Invalds' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and, being in constant receiptof numerous inquiries for a complete but concise work on the rature and curability of these maladies, we have published a large illustrated treatise on these diseases, which will be sent to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Organic weakness, nervous debility, premature decline of the manly powers, involuntary vital losses, and kindred affections, are speedily, thoroughly and permanently cured.

To those acquainted with our institutions it is hardly necessary to say that the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, with the branch establishment located at No. 3 New Oxford Street, London, England, have, for many years, enjoyed the distinction officially the most largely patronized and widely celebrated institutions in the world for the treatment and cure of these affections which arise from youthful indiscretions and permicious, solitary practices.

We, many years ago, established a special Department for the treatment of these discusses, under the management of some of the most skillful physicians and surgeons on our Staff, in order that all who apply to us might receive all the advantages of a full Council of the most experienced medical men.

We offer no apology for devoting so much attended.

that all who apply to us might receive all the advantages of a full Council of the most experienced medical men.

WE OFFER two to this neglected class of diseases, believing No Apollogy, no condition of humanity is too wretched to merit fession to which we belong. Many who suffer from these terrible diseases contract them innocently. Why any medical man intent on doing good, and alleviating suffering, should shun such cases, we cannot imagine. Why any one should consider it otherwise than most honorable to cure the worst cases of these diseases, we cannot understand; and yet of all the other maladies which afflict mankind there are probably none about which physicians in general practice know so little.

We fully agree with the celebrated Dr. Bartholow, who says. "I think it a reproach to our profession that this subject has been permitted, in a measure by our own indifference, to pass into the hands of unscrupulous pretenders. Because the subject is disagreeable, competent physicians are louth to be concerned with it. The same unnecessary fastidiousness causes the treatment of this malady to be avoided in private practice."

We shall, therefore, continue, as heretofore, to treat with our best consideration, sympathy, and skill, all applicants who are suffering from any of these deficate diseases.

Our Complete and Hustratod Treatise on these subjects is sent to any address on receipt of ten couts in stamps.
