AFRICAN OUTRAGES.

One Thousand Youths and Women Carried to the Sacrificial Banquet.

London, July 21.—Intelligence has been received from West Africa that the King of Dahomey, with many followers, on May 10th made a raid on the villages under French protection near Porto Novo. His troops indulged in wholesale massacre of the inhabitants, and burned all their dwellings. One thousand youths back into Dahomey to be sacrificed at the cannibalistic feast.

Every year Gelele, the Dahomeyan king, makes extensive sacrifices in honor of the memory of his father, the victims being prisoners of war. The Dahomeyans make wars on the neighboring tribes and manage to capture a large number of prisoners. This year this blood-thirsty monarch has varied the game by assaulting the French set-tlements on the adjacent coast, an indiscretion which is likely to get him into serious trouble. The Rev. John Milum, a Wesleyan missionary at Dahomey, a few years ago gave the following account of these sacrifices :

The yearly custom made by King Gelele for his father Gezo is not yet finished, a number of important matters interfering and calling for the presence of the king to settle. It appears that forty human beings are reserved to complete the ceremony-twenty men and twenty women. Eighty persons are to be presented for sacrifice, but, under the guise of mercy, one-half will be liber-ated. Contrary to statements made by previous travelers, these victims are all prisoners of war, and have committed no crime, but have simply been unfortunate enough to be captured whilst defending their homes against the invading foe. The people, knowing my opinion upon the subject, are reluctant to furnish me with full information of all the sacrifices that take place; but I am strongly impressed that they are offered every day, for every morning I hear the king's crier crying the great names of the king, and beating his bell and going through the whole ceremony in the market place, and soon after I hear the tattoo of drums and the firing of muskets, which announce that the cruel deed is done. Moreover, the birds never cease to congregate in the region of the ravine where the bodies are thrown. I have but to go outside the walls of the compound to see the gorged vultures and turkey buzzardssitting in grim silence in the trees near the dreadful place or on the wing circling over it.

"The victims this year, as well as the last, are from Mikkam, a large town to the east of Dahomey, which was invaded and destroyed by the Dahomeyans last year, and from which, it is stated by some intelligent natives, there were brought a little over 17,000 captives and

OUTCAST LONDON.

Much excitement has been made by reports recently published on the vile condition of the slums of London. In one cellar was found a family consisting written in the ink manufactured to-day of a man sick with small-pox, his dying wife, three half naked and dirty children, and one pig. In some parts there is one gin-mill to every hundred persons. What defilement! Yet corresponding impurities often defile the human blood. They can be cast out by Brown's Iron Bitters, the great strengthener and purifier. Mr. J. B. Strange, of Stark Lake, Florida, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is the best blood purifier I ever tried. It gives all the satisfaction a man wants."

Dip one end of a sponge in water and the whole will soon be saturated. So a disease in one part of the body effects other parts. You have noticed this yourself. Kidney and liver troubles, unless checked, will induce constipation, piles, rheumatism and gravel. A timely use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will prevent these results. It is pleasant to the taste and may be taken freely by children and delicate females. It gives electricity, life and cheeks with roses on

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

The most important discovery is that which brings the most good to the greatest number. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, will preserve the health and save life, and is a priceless boon to the afflicted. Not only does it positively cure consumption, but coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness and all affections of the throat, chest and lungs, yield at once to its wonderful curative powers. If you doubt this, get a trial bottle free, at J. Zeller & Son's drug store, Bellefonte.

BLOODY WORK AT KASSALA.

Rebels Storm the Garrison and Are Remulsed, Losing Three Thousand Men.

London, July 21 .- A dispatch from Cairo says that news has reached there from Kassala that a large force of rebels attacked that place and made several attempts to carry it by assault. They were finally repulsed, and the garrison at Kassala, following up their victory, captured the rebel camp with 2,000 oxen and sheep and 700 rifles. The enemy lost 3,000 men killed and wounded, while the garrison's casualties were small. The Cairo, July 21 .- It is understood that England is sanguine of making an ar-rangement with King John, of Abys-at this latitude is as fatal to the vermin sinia, to relieve Kassala.

"It fairly worries me to think of the multitude of things advertised to cure disease," you say. No wonder. But in the mountains of chaff there are grains of golden wheat. We may find it difficult to induce you to test the merits of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, but, when you have done so, our work is ended. Afterwards you and this medicine will be fast friends. Favorite Remedy would have died out long ago except for its real usefulness. But it is good and does good. july

AN AUSTRALIAN INTOXICANT.

Their own stimulant, kava, they continue to use in great quantities, and many of the Europeans have contracted a liking for it. All the Wairrapans have a taste of it, and marvel that any white man can acquire a penchant for such stuff. Its flavor resembles soap suds more than anything else one can compare it with. The root used is botanically known as that of the piper methisti cum; it is hard and woody, hence tha object of the chewing, which liberates the juice of the root mere freely than any other process. Europeans grate the root and pound it, but admit that the and women were captured and carried liquor is not equal to that chewed. In Samoa the preparation of the kava bowl is attended with very great ceremony, only the young unmarried girls being allowed to chew it. The root is cut up into fine pieces, and the girls, who are directed by the prettiest of them, first rinse their mouths, take up a piece, and when sufficiently masticated and formed into a ball, spit it into a bowl. The chief girl then calls for water, and after washing her hands directs one of her companions to pour on the water while she stirs the root with her hand. When enough water is in, and the balls are properly mixed with the ingredient, she takes up a strainer made of fibres of bibiscus, and passes it from side to side of the bowl. When the strainer is saturated she lifts it high above the bowl and squeezes the balls through the strainer in her hand. This is continued until the kava bowl is

It is contended by some of the Europeans who use chewed root that the mastication is perfectly dry and is a mere crushing process, but of course an amount of saliva must get incorporated in the process. The medicinal properties of kava are tonic and nervous sedative, and it is to these effects, and not to its flavor, that the taste of the drink arises.

THE INVENTION OF INK.

When ink was first introduced does not seem to have been decided, but given the paper and the pen, a colored medium which would show on a light surface was so obvious a want, and one so readily found, that there is no extraordinary credit due to the unknown inventor. It appears to be only of comparatively late years that black ink has been almost universal. Roman ink was red, purple and gold, and inks of blue, green, violet and other shades were not uncommon. It is said that simple as is the composition of ink, "we possess none equal in beauty and color to that used by the ancients; the Saxon MSS. written in England exceed in color anything of the kind." Modern ink makers written in the ink manufactured to-day will stand as vividly centuries hence as those Saxon MSS. have stood? It is difficult to see how the writing materials of the present day can be improved upon, for convenience at least, setting aside questions of lasting inks, which the generation that uses them cannot settle. Paper, rough or smooth, fluent inks of any color that the writer may believe suitable to his eyes, pens as fine as a needle or as blunt as a spade, are all to be bought in every street. The great lack of the age seems to be ideas at once more novel and sensible in the record of which these serviceable materials may be employed.

A CATLESS CITY.

One of the queerest of the many queer things about "this here mining camp, as most of the natives still call Leadville, is that in all the length and breadth thereof there lives not a single cat. Cats have been imported here by hundreds and in all varieties of color, breeding and size, but not one has ever survived the second week of its residence. The midnight serenade, the back yard clawing contest, and the bootjack act are alike unknown to the Leadvillian, and his nightly slumber is sound and sweet-a calm and undisturbed repose. The healthiest, sleekest cat in St. Louis, if brought to Leadville, would lose all interest in life the moment it reached here, and, after moping around in a sickly, disconsolate way for a few days, resignedly have a fit and give up the ghost. A saloon-keeper brought a big Maltese from Denver, hoping the animal would survive the fits long enough to be acclimated; but it was no use. The cat had a fit the first day, two or three the second, and then the number of attacks increased until, as the saloon man said, "there were more fits than cats and the cat had to give in.' mews of the attack was sent to Cairo by
place on June 15 and 16.

However, as there are no rats in Leadville, there is no real need of cats, and it makes very little difference whether at this latitude is as fatal to the vermin as to their foe, and the inhabitants are thus, mercifully spared the infliction of
