NELLIE GRANT'S TROUBLES.

Unpleasantness in Her Domestic Affairs Given Publicity by the Press.

Washington, October 13 .- For several weeks stories have been in circulation about an unpleasant condition of affairs between Nellie Grant-Sartoris and her husband. Long and minutely detailed histories of this difficulty and the probability of a divorce have been in various Eastern publication offices for some time. but no publication of these stories was made in Eastern papers until the story first appeared in Denver.

The newspaper gossip about an un-pleasantness existing in the married relations of Mrs. Nellie Grant-Sartoris and her husband does not surprise those familiar with their courtship. They look upon these reports as the natural sequence of the uncongenial-to use a mild phrase-alliance. Miss Nellie was a girl of sweet disposition and gentle manners -her father's idol-while Sartoris was a rough and coarse-grained Englishman. His general conduct, in connection with the fact that he had exhibited some of Miss Nellie's letters to him, accompanied with gross remarks, to persons in a Wisconsin town where an accomplished young lady had rejected his address, caused solicitude among many of General Grant's personal friends, some of sojourn in France and Germany, bloswhom consulted as to the propriety of som out in America as artists in surgery. informing him of Sartoris' conduct, with a view of regaining possession of Miss Nellie's letters.

Senator Matt Carpenter finally consented to broach the delicate subject to General Grant. He called at the White House and in a delicate a manner as posble commenced relating the current scandal as to Sartoris' notorious conduct, when the General quietly remarked: "That will do, Senator. My daughter is engaged to Mr. Sartoris, and the wedding will take place." Senator Carpenter said, in speaking of the interview, he the fourth finger of the hand, and are never felt so chagrined as at the President's abrupt closing of the conversation, to overcome the weakness. Dr. Forbes, and that he would never again under any circumstances attempt to advise about the domestic affairs of any one. It was well known that General Grant was director of the Philadelphia Musical opposed to the alliance, but when his daughter's affections were engaged he ation as the remedy and many foolish acquiescend and would listen to no argument or suggestion to the contrary.

When Governor Jewell was returning from his mission to St. Petersburg to accept a position in General Grant's Cabinet, he stopped a day at South Hampton to call upon the elder Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris, the parents of Miss Nellie's husband. | fourth and fifth fingers are connected He was cordially received by them, but about the middle of the palm by a cross in the course of conversation Mrs. Sartoris astonished the ex-Minister to Russia by remarking that she "didn't see what there was about Algernon to cause the daughter of the President of the will enable it to acquire strength of great United States to fall in love with movement. This, however, is proven and marry." Governor Jewell subsequently expressed the same astonish.

A RAID ON A GANG OF COUNTER-FEITERS.

Pittsburg, October 13 .- United States States Secret Service officers raided a camp of eleven counterfeiters in Clarion county yesterday, capturing six of them, the in the lumber trade between Galveston others escaping into the woods. The and Calcasieu, La. It is nothing more prisoners were brought into this city, and at a preliminary hearing before Uni-ted States, Commissioner McCandless this morning were held for trial. The officers refused to give the names of those arrested, as they hope to capture the rest of the gang in before many days. Counterfeiters have been playing their voca-tion quite successfully in Clarion, Jeffer-son and forest counties. They have been engaged in the manufacture of silver dollars and had a thorough system of placing them into circulation. The case is one of the biggest in the counterfeiting line that has been worked up in this section for many years.

Eight men finally overpower-ed him and chained him to bed. This evening he was taken to the Danville

AN OIL POND.

A singular spot exists in the Gulf of Mexico some ten miles to the southward and westward of Sabine Pass, and almost directly in the track of vessels engaged calm weather, but when the wind freshens to a gale and the waters about it become agitated, takes on a reddish color and becomes thick and muddy. The place has been called the "ofl pond," from the reason that, while there may be a tremendous sea running all around the place, within the circle of surf the water is comparatively quiet, and vessels which otherwise would be blown ashore or swamped can there ride out the heaviest storms, and have done so in hundreds of instances. The water is about twelve feet deep, and a pole can be pushed twenty-five or thirty feet through the soft and peculiar mud forming the bottom. This mud is different from anything on the coast-of a soapy character and of remarkable cleansing properties, being often used to clean the decks of coasting vessels. The oil which renders the surface of the "pond" so smooth is supposed to come from the mud at the bottom, and many think there are deposits of petroleum not far from the surface. However, Providence has provided a safe shelter for small craft out in the open sea, for the "oil pond," once reached during a gale, is just as safe as a vessel being under the lee of a wharf in any harbor.

OYSTERS AND STAR FISH.

Man is not the only enemy of the oyster; the star fish lives on oysters all the year round. Its mode of opening is somewhat novel. Sitting down bodily on the young or old oyster, with its five long arms arranged around the edge of the shell, the moment the oyster opens its mouth to breathe or feed, the star fish injects its juice into the opening, which kills the occupant of the shell in a short time. Then commences the feast. The presence of the fish and his designs are understood by the oyster, which will keep closed for as long as a week or eight days.
