From Rome comes the report of an al most unheard of crime, that of a butcher who put the blood of murdered victims into puddings and sold them. The account says: The trial commenc-d here to-day of a butcher named Tozzi, his wife, son and daughter, who are charged with the murder of one Poggi, also a butcher. The motives for the crime were trade jealousy and family disputes. Poggi was trapped into Tozzi's cellar, where the murder was committed. The body of the victim was cut into pieces and the remains were scattered in a suburban woods. The blood was boiled in black puddings, which were sold in Tozzi's shop The son made a confession to-day. He narrated the story in court with cold-blooded cynicism, which provoked a howl of fary, the audience yelling "Away with him to the scaffold!" reply the murderer tauntingly screamed,

"Here I am. Tear me to pieces." The terrible story has created intense excitement throughout the city.
