

FARM NOTES.

BRANDING CATTLE.—The range business, it would seem, has another sign to answer for, and it is one which affects everybody. It appears that by improper branding thousands of hides are so injured that they are comparatively worthless. It is estimated that the loss from this source at Chicago alone is $2,000,000 a year, and this throughout the entire country it will reach $5,000,000. But considerable leather that is damaged in this way gets into the leather articles that we use, and, of course, is not so serviceable. The cattle men say that they cannot remedy the evil. They must brand and brand practically as they now do it to protect their property. They cannot, they say, use smaller brands, for they could not be distinguished in rounding up. They can not brand on a less valuable part of the hide, for the brand would not be prominent enough. That may all be true, but that does not help the tanners, or the purchaser of an imperfect leather article. Five millions of dollars, too, is a pretty high cost for a method, and to save that ought to be sufficient motive to attempt to devise some less objectionable means to reach the desired end. But there is one fact that is plain enough to anybody who will examine these branded hides. Many of them are not properly done. They show that they have been done either by somebody who did not care how he did it, or by somebody who was mad when he did it. The depth of the brand is often powerfully suggestive that the brute who did the work became angry with the animal for some reason, and branded it for punishment. In no conclusion at all agree and that the animal clear through. A little sense and humane feeling would do much to modify the evil complained of.

CLEANING CIDER BARRELS.—The best time for cleaning a cider barrel is immediately after its contents have been drawn off. When the sediment has once become dry and hard, and has formed a crust in the barrels it is exceedingly difficult, and impossible, to so thoroughly clean a barrel as to make it suitable for first-class cider. The most effective way to clean a barrel is to take out one of the heads, and scrub all the inner-side of the barrel thoroughly with boiling water, and after the head is replaced to burn some sulphur tape in it. With musty casks it is of no use to spend any time; they can never be completely cleaned again, and will spoil vinegar even. The best use to make of them is for swill or fire wood.

THE apple crop in Southeastern New York is so large that farmers are feeding good fruit to their pigs. First-class apples are selling at 50 cents a barrel. Great quantities of cider are being made and it sells at 5 cents a gallon. Two-thirds of the grape crop has been sent to market and the other third has been placed in cold storage. The gross tonnage exceeds that of last year by 1600 tons.

APPLES and other fruits should be gathered and saved, however low the price, since they are at least worth gathering for their feeding value. If left on the ground they are positively injurious, the acid of the fruit poisoning the soil and destroying all vegetation beneath them. A dressing of lime will correct this acidity and restore fertility.

CLAY is perhaps the most difficult of all soils to work. If cultivated when too wet it becomes lumpy and hard when dry. If plowed when very dry considerable power is needed, and then the work is poorly performed. For this reason if for no other, clay lands should be thoroughly under-drained that they may be kept in proper condition to work at nearly all seasons.

CLEANLY cared for milk, an even, rather low temperature for the dairy-room, churning when the cream is ripe (not too sour), light salting, fine crystals of salt in the butter, not too much working, and attractive packages will always command the highest price in the market if the cows have been fed on well-flavored food.

IN choosing trees to plant look more to the root than to the top. Small trees always have the best roots in proportion to size, and on this account are comparatively the best. Quick growth and large size are more certain to be realized in trees up to six feet high, than from those twice as large to begin with.

WHAT asparagus and what an amount of it, too, our fathers used to grow on a small bed, for his family use, by putting on the bed in the fall, six inches to a foot of manure, and in the spring take it off and scatter it over the garden. And by the way, there is no better way to enrich the soil of a flower bed than this.

THE eggs laid by an active, healthy hen, supplied with good, fresh food, are much superior to those laid by the common scavengers of alleys, backyards and pig-pens. The difference in color, smell and taste is very evident to one who has given the matter a little attention.

DIARRHOEA in calves is successfully treated by giving the whites of eggs beaten up with water into an emulsion, eight eggs being used to a pint of water, and half a teaspoonful being given at a dose, and repeated every two hours.

OBSERVE your horse when he is drinking at a brook, is an Arab maxim. If in bringing down his head he remains square without bending his limbs he possesses sterling qualities and all parts of his body are built symmetrically.

THE cuttings for basket-willow should be about nine inches long. They should be stuck down in soft earth in a slanting position, leaving two inches above the ground. They will grow on nearly all sorts of land, but do best in damp places.

In selecting young Brahmas an indication of what the plumage will be is given by the bills. When the bill has a dark stripe down the upper mandible the hackle and tail will be dark.

HOUSEHOLD.

LET us see what amount of rain water three inches of rainfall represents on an acre of ground. 6,272,640 square inches in an acre. One inch of rain would represent the same number of square inches. In a cubic foot there are 1,728 inches. An inch of rain falling upon one acre is equivalent to 3,630 cubic feet. The weight of a cubic foot of water is 62½ pounds. Two thousand pounds make a ton. It follows from the premises, that an inch of rain falling upon an acre of ground will weigh 229,975 pounds, which is the equivalent of 113 tons and 875 pounds to the acre. Three times this amount gives 246 tons and 625 pounds to the acre. In some hard rainstorms an inch of rain will fall in two or three hours. We have known an inch to fall in an hour. The impact of 113 tons of water on an acre, falling suddenly, is very great. That is what packs the land so hard. A gentle rain or mere drizzle is always more beneficial to the land. It makes muddy streets, while a hard rain washes them clean. The farmer is glad to get twenty inches of rain for the season. But this more than 2,500 ton to the acre, it is this quantity which fills up the springs and the sources of the rivers and keeps them alive during the long dry summer. There will be thirty inches or more in an extreme wet winter. Any one can figure out on the data here given what proportion that will give to an acre of ground.

THE introduction of the megaphone on shipboard—a sort of telescope for the ear, or machine for magnifying sound—is said to be a boon in prospect for mariners. Its design is to enable a person to hear or carry on a conversation with people at a distance and it is constructed of two large cone-shaped tubes, eight feet long and three in diameter at the large end, which diminish to an apex in the form of rubber tubes small enough to place in the ear. Between these tubes are two smaller ones constructed in the same manner, but not more than half the diameter. By placing the rubber tubes in the ear and speaking through the smaller cones the person can hear and can be heard at a long distance, and it thus aids mariners in listening for the sound of breakers or carrying on conversation with persons on shore or on other vessels at a distance.

ONE of the most beautiful processes in enameling, according to the Deut Ind. Zeitung, is accomplished by using gold thread rubbed with the juice of an onion, which causes it to adhere to the surfaces, the figures being afterward filled out with enamel. This is the art known as cloisonne, the method pursued being to bake the article in a furnace until the enamel exhibits a lustre or glossy surface, which is an indication that it is melted. The process has to be conducted with care, but if it is overbaked the enamel burns and falls off, it may also happen that, in places where the enamel burns it thinner, it also burns. When cool the roughness is removed by careful hand polishing, with a fine sandstone, and lastly the enamel finishes its finishing polish.

WITH a lens made of rock salt it might be possible to photograph in the dark! Abney has succeeded in preparing plates which are sensitive to the rays lying beyond the red end of the spectrum—the dark heat rays—and with such plates used with a rock salt lens there should be a possibility of photographing bodies which possess a high temperature, although that temperature may be far below that needed to render them self-luminous. It is even possible that such a plan may some day be so perfected as to give us information about the "dark suns" that are believed to crowd the firmament—or rather heavenly bodies which once were seen, but have now cooled down so as to be invisible.

EGG PIE.—Make two very thin cakes of Indian meal, flour and soda, just as for corn bread, and wet it with sour milk, and bake them in a quick oven. Make a gravy of one teaspoonful of butter, the same of flour, a cup of milk and salt and pepper. When it is boiling, drop in cold, sliced, hard-boiled eggs; leave them in long enough to heat but don't let them boil up or they will fall to pieces. Butter one of the hot Indian cakes, lay it in a round pan or dish, pour on the gravy and eggs and lay on the other cake, buttering it on the top and sprinkling on pepper and salt.

THE investigations of M. Balland indicate that flour becomes unwholesome after long keeping in sacks, alkaloids being formed in consequence of the acidity of the old flour during the transformation of gluten under the influence of the natural ferment of wheat. Traces of the alkaloids are found in flour a year or a year and a half old, but are more marked in that which has been ground two or three years.

MEASUREMENTS of the heights of the clouds have been made at the Upsala Observatory during the past summer. The results are approximately as follows: Stratus, 2000 feet; nimbus, or rain cloud, from 3,600 to 7,300 feet; cumulus, from 4,300 to 18,000 feet; cirrus, 22,400. Cloud measurements are always somewhat difficult and uncertain, but these figures are considered fairly exact.

PROFESSOR V. C. Riley, the well-known entomologist, has presented to the National Museum his collection of insects, which contains over 20,000 species, and more than 15,000 mounted specimens. A large number of books and pamphlets accompany this gift, which is considered one of the most valuable ever received by the Government.

ENTREE FOR ROAST PORK.—Peel as many potatoes as will cover the bottom of a big pie dish. Sprinkle half a teaspoonful dried sage over them. Cut an onion in thin slices and spread them over this. Add salt and pepper and lumps of butter. Cover the bottom of the dish with water or milk, and bake it in a moderate oven.

What we must do is to make the actual possibilities of life our ideal. It lies in human power not to construct the godlike, but to recognize it, and thus gain it.

Laconic patient to physician: Caught cold. Physician: Take Red Star Cough Cure; no morphia, no poisons. Only twenty-five cents. St. Jacob's Oil cures pain.

Never retire at night without being wiser than when you rose in the morning, by having learned something useful during the day.

THE Doctor's Endorsement. Dr. W. D. Wright, Cincinnati, O., sends the following professional endorsement: "I have prescribed Dr. Wm. Hall's Balm for the Lungs in a great number of cases and always with success. One case in particular was given up by several physicians who had been called in for consultation with myself. The patient had all the symptoms of confirmed Consumption—cold night sweats, hectic fever, harassing coughs, etc. He commenced immediately to get better and was soon restored to his usual health. I found Dr. Wm. Hall's Balm for the Lungs the most valuable expectorant for breaking up distressing coughs and colds.

Restrain thy choler, beakken much and speak little; for the tongue is the instrument of the greatest good and the greatest evil that is done in the world.

THE CHARMING little girl's face which comes out so beautifully on Hood's Household Calendar, is sweet enough to kiss. We have seldom seen anything so attractive in lithography. The Calendar is another happy hit by the enterprising proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla, who never seem contented with anything less than the very best in whatever they undertake. Their Calendar is a beautiful ornament to any home. If you cannot get a copy of your druggist, send six cents for one, or ten cents for two Calendars, to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Every event that man would master must be mounted on the run, and no man ever caught the reins of a thought except as it galloped by him.

CONSUMPTION CURED. An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Acted by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOBLE, 148 Foster's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

If our eyes were open, we should see that this oval globe is but an egg; that what we call time is but an incubation of eternity.

A HUNDRED YEARS might be spent in search of a remedy for Catarrh, Cold in the Head and Hay Fever, without finding the equal of Ely's Cream Balm. It is applied with the finger. Being pleasant and safe, it supersedes the use of all liquids and snuffs. Its effect is magical. It relieves at once and cures many cases which baffle physicians. Price 50 cents at druggists. 60 cents by mail. Ely Bros., Owego, N. Y.

A handsome woman pleases the eye, but a good woman pleases the heart. The one is a jewel the other a treasure.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Sold by all druggists.

One act of beneficence, one act of real usefulness, is worth all the abstract sentiment in the world.

The purest, sweetest and best Cod Liver Oil in the world, manufactured from fresh, healthy livers, upon the seacoast. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in market. Made by Cassell, Hazard & Co., New York.

Benefit your friends, that they may love you still more dearly; benefit your enemies, that they may become your friends.

STRAIGHTEN your old boots and shoes with Lyon's Heel Stiffeners, and wear them again.

If you would not have a person deceive you, be careful not to let him know you mistrust him.

Don't work your horses to death with poor axle grease; the Frazer is the only reliable make. Use it once, and you will have no other.

He is richest who is content with the least; for content is the wealth of nature.—Socrates.

I AM on my second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, being a sufferer from catarrh since I was a child, but with this medicine I am being cured.—Wm. L. Dayton, Brooklyn.

Where you must watch, where you must see that you maintain power, is at the sources.

When you visit or move New York City, save baggage expressage and $3 carriage hire, and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot. 60 elegant rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevators. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

WELSH RABBIT.—Toast thin slices of bread with crust removed. While hot, butter slightly, then dip for an instant in a pan containing hot water to half cover the slices. Place on a hot plate, allowing one slice for each person; sprinkle over a little salt and pour on enough melted cheese to cover them. Rich, new cheese is best. Serve immediately. Sometimes a little mustard is spread over the toast; again, the toast is moistened with ale instead of hot water. The simple recipe, is, however, the one usually preferred.

It is easier to find a score of men wise enough to discover the truth, than one intrepid enough, in the face of all opposition, to stand up for the same.

A PITAIF SIGHT. What sadder sight can be imagined than that of a noble man, whom the world can ill-afford to spare, stricken down in the prime of a useful life by consumption? Thousands are yearly filling consumptive graves who might be saved by the timely use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a positive cure for consumption in its early stages. It is the best alterative and pectoral in the world. All druggists.

There are errors that no wise man will treat with rudeness, while there is a probability that they may be the refraction of some great truth below the horizon.

Confidential advice, to either sex, on delicate diseases. Book 10 cents in stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The worst slander often has in it some truth, from which we may learn a lesson that may make us wiser, and, if we will, better, when the first smart of it is over.

Man's inhumanity to woman makes countless thousands mourn, would be an applicable rendering of Pope's line, in view of the indignities she has suffered and pains undergone at the hands of unskillful physicians and quacks. Naturally modest she suffers on until forced to consult a physician regarding some female difficulty which she well knows is sapping her strength. All this embarrassment can be avoided and a cure effected by purchasing Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" of your druggist, and taking as directed. Price reduced to one dollar.

MRS. DASH—"My pet, I wish you would not go with those girls." Miss Dash—"Why not, mamma? They are real nice." Mrs. Dash—"I hear their father has been arrested for stealing pennies from a money drawer."

Miss Dash—"It's a mean, miserable slander. He had some legal papers served on him, and has been sleeping in a cell because it is cooler there."

Mrs. Dash—"And he didn't steal any pennies?" Miss Dash—"No, indeed, he would not descend to such a thing. He merely diverted five hundred thousand dollars, that's all."

Mrs. Dash—"Oh, in that case it is all right. I feared he was a vulgar thief."

"MR. LIMBURGERSTEIN, I have got a conundrum for you: Why does dogs like music?" "Why does dogs like music? Dot's a hard one Mr. Schmied," said Mr. Limburgerstein. "I give dot outd."

"Because they wear brass bands around their neck." "Ach! peacuse—brass bands—roun der neck: dot's der pest I ever heard. I der got dot off on mein bruder Jacob."

"Jacob, I hef a conundrum for you. Vy does dogs loaf music?" "Vy does dogs loaf music? asked Jacob. "Peacuse—peacuse"—and here Mr. Limburgerstein almost exploded with laughter—"peacuse dey wear brass collars round der neck."

THE SAME OLD SUBJECT.—"Hubby, Brother Charlie is going away, and I feel that we should give him some little keepsake." So we should, my dear. "How would a nice silk umbrella do." "First rate, but don't give it to him outright." "Why not?" "Just lend it to him. He'll keep it longer."

Ely Bros., I have used two bottles of your Cream Balm for Catarrh since December. A sore in my nostril—the cause of much suffering—has entirely healed; have used no other medicine. This spring I feel better, can walk and work with more ease than I have in any spring since 1861.—Mary E. Ware, Hopeful, Va.

There are men who no more grasp the truth they seem to hold than a sparrow grasps the message through the electric wire on which it perches.

They are sold on their merits. That they cure Lame Backs, Stitches, Pleurisy, Kidney Affections, Sore Chest, Rheumatism and strengthen weak parts is amply proven by the testimony of thousands. Ask for a Hot Potent Pasteur, 25c.

WHEN A DOSE OF VINEGAR BITTERS is taken into the stomach, all diseases of the blood, liver, heart, kidneys, stomach, and body generally, begin to pack up, preparatory to leaving the system. And it doesn't take them long to pack, either. Like the guests that Mrs. Macbeth dispersed, they "stand not upon the order of their going, but go at once."

First Buffalo Detective (to companion): I say, Jack, that was a splendid piece of work done by Barnes to-day, wasn't it?

Second Buffalo Detective: You don't mean to say that he caught the murderer?

First Buffalo Detective: Better than that. Second Buffalo Detective: You don't say so?

First Buffalo Detective: Yes, he got the murderer's brother. Great case, I tell you.

ASTRONOMER (at the dinner table): I read a beautiful thing this morning. Astronomer's wife: Tell it to us, dear.

Astronomer: It was that the contemplation of celestial things will make a man both speak and think more sublimely and magnificently when he descends to human affairs. I've often noticed it in my own case. [Enter astronomer's son.] Now, see here, young man, if you haven't got that walk shaved when I come home to-night, I'll lick you within an inch of your life.

DUMLEY (with an injured air)—How is it, Brown, that you are reporting about that I don't know nothing?

Brown—I have never reported anything of the kind. Dumley—It's very strange. Robinson told me you said last night that I don't know nothing. Those were his exact words.

Brown—Robinson is mistaken. What I said to him was, you do know nothing. You mustn't believe all you hear, Dumley.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. This successful medicine is a carefully prepared extract of the best remedies of the vegetable kingdom known to medical science as Alteratives, Blood Purifiers, Diuretics, and Tonics, such as Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Sillifolia, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, Mandrake, Wild Cherry Bark and other selected roots, herbs and plants. A medicine like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with satisfaction to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered for itself upon the hearts of thousands of people who have personally or indirectly been relieved of terrible suffering which all other remedies failed to reach. Sold by all druggists; $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
