WORTH $4,000 IN HIS MIND. Lewistown, Jan. 12.—On Dec. 17 the marriage notice of Harry E. Bell, of Lewistown, and Minnie Cramer, of Central City, Centre county, appeared in a Bellefonte paper. A few days later Harry E. Bell, through the Lewistown Free Press denied that he had been married. Inquiry disclosed that the person who assumed his name was one Russel Kinzer. a man aged about 35 years. He married Miss Cramer at Snow Shoe under the assumed name. He told the girl's step-father that he was worth $4,000 and that he intended to purchase property and locate at Central City. On Dec. 29 he borrowed a horse, harness and buggy from Mr. Teller and the bride and groom went out to ride, promising to return in a short time. They started in the direc-tion of Bellefonte, and that was the last seen of them.

Not infrequently patients come long dis-tances to grasp the Doctor by the hand and express their gratitude for deliver-ance from pain,"—Troy, New York, Dai-

TRISH SOCIABILITY.

Sociable gatherings afford on I sish peasant the means of recreating himself which he likes best. The coupling of funerals with weddings and fairs is characteristic; indeed, the word "funeral" has been known to be used by a countryman as synonymous with a large gathering. Joviality goes hand in hand with sorrow at a wake, manifestations of grief being confined to the room where the body lies, though many cottages do not permit of such an arrangement, and drinking and weeping go on around the very coffin. A wedding offers the additional attraction of dancing, of which the Irish countryman is genuinely fond. Schools of dancing are established in the winter months, and on Sunday afternoons, in the summer, boys and girlsthese words are as clastic in their application as the Latin juvenis -assemble at some favorite crossroads to foot it to the scraping of a blind fiddler. Their dancing is not graceful, because it is apparently de riqueur to keep the body as stiff music cases. The second property of the pig and real styles and suggested imploringly. "Maybe ye'll have a mit or a bit of, caper." Well, and we never renember to have heard, or heard of any concert music cannot after the country people. Often, since my chin has become daily shaveable, I have been reminded that there is much sound sense in the advice of "Yum wella, wella, wop to men." What is the use of noise, however loud, is not rousing, notice it, and so some of us are undisturbed by the rushing, rumbling, and shricking of the railway trains, or by the maddening din of street traffic or by umbrellas to mend?" but he was heeded when he bellowed the novel cry, "Yum wella, wella, wop to men."

THE SHAMROCK.

The shamrock, which is the emblem of Ireland, is not known by its flower, but by its leaves; it is a little trefoil, as is clover, but it is very rare in England and not common in Ireland. Bentham, in his "British Flora," says that Oxalis acetocello, or wood sorrel, is the original shamrock; it has a pale pink, almost white, flower, which is said to be very plentiful in woods in April. He also states that the purple Dutch clover (Trifolum repens) which we all know so well, is now accepted as the shamrock. The tradition runs that St. Patrick, when preaching in Erin, gathered a shamrock and used it to illustrate the doctrine of the Holy Trinity. From this circumstance, the trefoil has become accepted as the national emblem of the Emerald Isle, and on the 17th of March every Irishman who can obtain a few leaves thereof wears them in his buttouhole, and many little boxes, containing a tiny root, arrive by post addressed to Irishmen living in England.
