CAME FROM TEXAS.

The storm came from Texas. It originated there on Thursday morning, 7, in the rugged little town of Indanola. It advanced in a northeasterly direction, increasing in strength until it struck Montgomery, Ala, the following day, in the form of a fair-sized cyclone. It continued on its journey, growing more furious every hour. It reached Philadelphia Saturday morning and thence traveled up the Jersey coast to New York city. The storm, however, is not traveling alone. It is accompanied by a cold wave, which arrived in time to catch churchgoers Sunday morning. The cold wave came down from Manitoba and started in the path of the storm at a point where

The storm has caused serious inconvenience in many quarters. The trains on all the railroads were more or less delayed. The western mails which come over the Penn'a road and are due in New York at 7:41 a.m. did not arrive until evening, and the mails from the south were about four hours late. Trains due from the extreme west and southwest at noon had not been heard from Saturday night. The road was clear for the afternoon express between New York and Philadelphia.

STREWN WITH CARCASSES.

Great Losses of Cattle Through Texas and Indian Territory.

Waco, Texas, January 13 .-- The storm which swept over Texas last Thursday and continued with but little abatement up to the present date is without parallel ments easy. 3m verity and duration. The loss in cattle cannot be estimated. From the Southwest and West news is received that the cattle are drifting against the fences and rapidly perishing from the cold and that the loss will be unusually heavy. From Batesville in the Northcountry and that cattle are dying by the hundreds from the cold. The carcasses it is stated can be seen far and near. strewing the barren prairies, and that the loss will be enormous.

All water pools and streams throughout the heavy cattle-growing districts of the state are frozen over hard. To add to the gravity of the situation a heavy snow storm set in late Monday night and Texas, from the Sabine to the Rio Grande and from the Red River to the Gulf, is covered to a depth varying from two inches to one foot of snow. Indications this morning point to another fall equally as heavy as that of last night. This will completely cover the grass on the ranges and, as no provisions have been made for feeding, the death rate among the stock from cold will reach frightful proportions and entail a loss of millions. The snow belt extends as far south as the twenty-seventh parallel, below Laredo, on the Rio Grande. At Laredo the fall averaged two inches. An old Mexican, who can remember sixty to seventy years back, says the present snow is unprecedented.

News of loss and suffering also comes from Indian Territory, both by the syndicates and the Choctaw, Cherokee and Chickasaw nations. The cattle have wandered for miles and in many instances have been stopped by wire fencing, remaining at such places until frozen to death. The streams have been frozen for many days, and the want of water and food, together with the bitter cold have combined to cause the death of un numbered head of cattle and horses. Altogether the cold snap has been the most disastrous to the stock-raising interests
