STATE COLLEGE,

DEPARTMENT OF MECHANIC ARTS.

A new department has been added to the State College, that of Mechanic Arts, in buildings erected for that purpose. The building is a substantial two-story frame, built of native yellow pine, and divided to accommodate the different shops, such as forge rooms, room for iron working, carpenter shop, etc. The formal opening of the building was set apart for last Wednesday afternoon. The Pine Hall band was present and furnished music for the occasion. The inaugu ration exercises took place in the college chapel, which was filled with invited guests and visitors from the neighborhood.

The exercises were opened by singing, followed by prayer by Rev. Lourie; after singing of another hymn, a portion of the 98th Psalm was read by the reverend gentleman aforesaid. The inauguration address was then delivered by Prof. Jno. Hamilton, which was full of interest and replete with practical suggestions applicable to the opening of this new department. The speaker recalled the old and imperfect apprentice system and comparing it with the new manner of learning mechanic arts. Prof. Hamilton's ideas were sound and practical and will be car ried out hereafter at the College, where all students will have access to machinery, tools, the best of their kind, to acquire a knowledge in any of the mechan-

Gen. Beaver followed, on behalf of the Executive Committee, and delivered the presentation address. The General ably and eloquently set forth the objects of this new and important features in the instruction hereafter to be imparted at the College. He paid a glowing tribute to the mechanic arts, and in closing handed the keys to Dr. Atherton, presi dent of the College. The General's address was listened to with marked attention by the audience.

Dr. Atherton was the next speaker. He referred to the act of congress from which sprang the agricultural college, under the land grant act. He corrected some wrong impressions that existed as to the objects of the law, and showed that the Coilege was being conducted in strict accordance with the provisions of the act. Dr. Atherton can say about as much in a few words as any speaker we ever heard -and there is always clear meaning in every sentence he utters, and he has done much to correct misrepresentacions that have gone out respecting the

The institution was never in as flourishing condition as now, and to the untiring efforts, and ability of Dr. Atherton this success is mainly due. After the addresses the crowd was invited to proceed to the mechanic arts building, and see the infancy of what in the no distant future will be a feature at the College of which every Peausylvanian can reel proud for it will developto proportions that will be a credit to the institution and the common wealth

THE LOCAL ELECTIONS.

We give the officers elected in Potter and the borough below. In the North and South precincts the Republicans nominated straight tickets. The Democratic chairmen of those precincts did their duty and called meetings for nommating straight tickets, and the Democrats stood by their colors and elected their men all but one judge. In Centre Hall there was a failure to call a Demo-cratic meeting and by the aid of four or five pretended Democrats a combination was formed to give the Republicans half the offices and defeat Democrats for the other half. The Republicans justly rethe sold-out Democrats. In the deal the Republicans were given most of the long-term offices. The officers elected are: POTTER.

This cunnibal event was announced through our columns two weeks ago. The original order of procedure was changed from 8:30 to 10 o'clock, when the invited guests to the number of 125 repaired to the residence of Mr. J. W. Tibbot, where the ceremony was to be performed. The rooms, so brilliantly lighted and handsomely decorated, were never thrown open to a more brilliant assemblage, and everything seemed in perfect harmony and accord with the two loyal hearts soon to be united as

At the appointed time Mrs. M V.

Sweesy, who presided at the piano, began playing the grand wedding march, and as the sweet strains of music sounded throughout the rooms, the first bridesmaid, Miss Maud Copeland, supported by R. L. Thompson, marched to the head of the parlor and occupied the positions assigned them. They were quickly followed by the second bridesmaid, Miss Jessie Tibbot, accompanied by Mr. F. Powers, and immediately behind them came the bride and groom. When all was in readiness, Rev. L. O. Mead read a very beautiful ceremony, admonished them by the law of God, by all the ties of human love, to be fathful and true. and pronounced them man and wife, which was followed by a short but very impressive prayer by Rev. A. J. Coe, of Topeka. Rev. Mead then introduced them to the guests as Mr. and Mrs. Runkle, and congratulations were in order. This was followed by an elegant repast. After this came some excellent music both vocal and instrumental.

The bride was, beautifully attired in pearl colored silk, wearing beautiful boutonia of white carnation pinks, marshael neil roses and smilax. Bridesmaid Mi-s Copeland was dressed in white India muli trimmed richly with lace, and a blue satin bodice, wearing natural flowers of roses, smilax and cape jassimines. Miss Tibbot, second bridesmaid, was dressed in white India mull trimmed with lace, pink satin bodice, and also wore a bouquet of same natural flowers. The gentlemen were in full evening dress, cutaway coats, white kid gloves and buttonhole bouquets of natural flowers.

[The above is from the Halstead, Ks., Independent, 5th inst. Mr. Runkle was a former compositor in the REPORTER office, and a son of Judge Runkle, dec'd, of Potter. He is now in the drugg business in Halstead. The list of presents was large and valuable.-ED.
