LONG SUFFERING From Stone in the Bladder.

It is by no means strange that Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., should have received the following letter. By reading it you will see in one minute why James Andrews was thankful;

one minute why James Andrews was thankful;
Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.
Dear Sir—Until within a recent date, I had for several years suffered greatly from Gravel, called by doctors the Brick-dust Sediment. For about a year past this sediment has not passed off in the usual quantity, but has accumulated, causing me untold pain. Having heard of Dr. David Kennedy's EAVORITE REMEDY I tried it, and after using about one and one-half bottles. I voided a stone from the bladder, of an oval shape, 7-16 of an inch long, and rough on its surface. I send you the largest piece, that you may see of what it is composed. Since then I have felt no pain. I now consider myself cured, and cannot express my thankfulness and gratitude for so signal a deliverance from a terrible disease. You have my consent to use this letter, should you wish to do so, for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, JAMES ANDREWS,
No. 10 Marshal St., Ida Hill, Troy, N. Y.

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of kidney and liver complaints, constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex "Favorite Remedy" is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend-a real blessing. There is no more agonizing class of disease, and none more certain "not to get well of itself than the disorders of the kidney and bladder. The only medicine that affords speedy relief and permanent cure of such affections is Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," of Rondout, N. Y.

To-day the first June rose bloomed out Down by the daisies and clover; All a-tremble, with leaves a-pout, Buttercups bending over.

"Sweet, so sweet," the butterfly said, "Rose, in your rustic splendor!" And honey-bees lingered over her head Murmuring love words tender.

"Sweet little blushing wayside rose, Tell me what is the reason All of your brothers and sisters sleep, You are first of the season?"

All a-blushing, the little rose said, "I know they can not have missed me! I waked this morning"-she hung her head-Because a honeybee kissed me. -Gertrude E. Heath.

Her Toilet Her Serious Occupation

Her Poor "Fannie." She never could bear either beggars or children. She live entirely apart from her husband, who occupied another wing of the villa. She literally adored an ugly little dog, which seemed to constitute all she cared for. She rose between 12 and 2; at night she would sit alone for hours in her recep tion-room, witing her memoirs she would state with a show of vanity. Her toilet was her sole serious occupation. She washed with starch, often taking baths in olive oil; at night she would wear on her face a linen mask, saturated with perfumed grease, as we are told certain effeminate kings of France used to do. To show herself to any one she always considered in the light of a

Capricious to a degree, she caused a number of useful fields to be laid out with sugarcane and truffles; in addition to this she built on the estate a superb stable in which she kept about seventy milch cows disposed in two long rows, each manger with the name of its occupant attached-Sarah, Rebecca, Rachel, etc., much to the horror of the scandalized local priest. Here in this stable the marquise would pass long hours, stating that the smell which pervaded the place was most wholesome, and especially kept the skin

During one of her visits to Setlimello her little dog died; she determined to bury it herself, and I can still see her, double-gloved, muffled with thick veils, and protected by a large umbrella, digging with a spade the little grave in which she placed the body of the pet, enclosed in a rich casket, covered with flowers. A few weeks later when I was ill, and my mother expressed her anxiety with regard to me, the marquise was heard to say in her insinuating tone, always so carefully modulated with regard to its musical effect, "Poor Erminia, if she were to lose her son. Ah! I know how I suffered with my poor Fannie"—the little dog above referred to.-Signor Rindi.

Practicing with Bogus Diplomas. A painful discovery that I have made concerning the profession in America is that it embraces a certain number of men now practising by means of forged medical degrees, professedly conferred by the University of Zurich. When the bendle announced, two years ago, the publication of a statistical report, covering the fifty years of the university's history, he was besieged with letters offering him sums of money for the insertion. of names of men practicing in America, and a caller one day offered him a handful of bank notes and a heavy purse of gold in the name of a foreigner then practicing in New York state.

These two facts taken together, the preposterous ease with which the degree M. D. may be obtained and the total want of efficient control of the medical profession by the state authorities doubtless explain in great measure the contemptuous marmer in which which they regard American diplomas. Their view is not the result of wholesale in the manipulations of operative surgery and the excellence of Arnerican surgical instruments are always fairly regarded .-Zurich Cor. Philadelphia Times.

Cigarette Smoking in Vfinter. "The practice of cigarette smoking in the open air during a cold winter," said an well known physician, "is undoubtedly a good thing for those who are inveterate smokers. thousand would be returned to the When smoking a cigar in the open air, the thermometer being below zero, the nicotine, which should pass away with the smoke, is condensed in the mouth and enters the system, producing nervousness. Swedish Colony in the Wilderness. Fifteen years ago a little company of fifty Swedish colonists came to Maine, sailed up the St John river, and made a home in the Aroostook wilderness. There are now nearly 1,100 souls in the colony at New Sweden, with two churches, six schools, and many well-tilled farms. "Children in the Woods" the colonists call themselves. BLANG Stang, profoundly considered, is the lawless germinal element, below all words and sentences, aud behind all poetry, and proves a certain freedom and perennial rankness and protestantism in speech. As the United States inherit by far their most precious possession—the language they talk and write -from the Old World, under and out of its feudal institutes, I will allow myself to borrow a smile even of those forms furthest removed fom American democracy. Considering language then, as some mighty potentate, into the majestic audience hall of the monarch ever enters a personage like one of Shakespeare's clown's, and takes position there, and plays a part even in the stateliest ceremonies. Such is slang or indirection, an attempt of common humanity to escape from bald literalism and express itself illimitably, which in highest walks produces poets and poems, and doubtless in prehistoric times gave the start to and perfected the whole immense tangle of the old mythologies. For, curious as it may appear, it is strictly the same impulse source, the same thing. Slang, too, is the wholesome fermentation or eructation of those processes eternally active in language by which froth and specks are thrown up, mostly to pass away, though oca- A sionally to settle and permanently crystalize. To make it plainer, it is certain that many of the oldest and solidest words we use were originally generated the rear of the bank, on Church street, from the daring and license of slang. MURDER THAT WILL NOT OUT.

Small, venomous serpents of Oriental countries have always been in vogue as a means of suicide, the asp of Cleopatra recurring to every one's memory as a prominent example. In certain parts of Bengal there is said to be a will furnish a small cobra to any applicant, "and no questions asked." A man who desires to commit murder procures one of these reptiles and places it within a bamboo just long enough to let the head protrude at one end and the tail at weapon the murderer creeps softly to his enemy's tent at dead of night, cuts bamboo. The tortured reptile, careless upon whom it wreaks its animosity, strikes its fangs into the sleeper. Then it is withdrawn and the assassin steals silently away.
