FACTS vs. PREJUDICE Prejudice is hard to combat. It cannot be overcome in a day. More than likely it wasn't formed hastily. Indeed it may have been gradually strengthening its hold for years. Forinstance, some folks believe Rheum cannot be cured. Their fathers believed so before them. So did their grandfathers: Now, RHEUMATISM CAN BE CURED, notwithstanding this prejudice, but the trouble is to make people think so. The only way we know to meet popular unbelief is to state the PLAIN FACTS, and then present the POSITIVE PROOFS ey are facts. It is a fact that the RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE not only relieves but banishes Rheumatic Pain. There is positive proof of it too. It comes from those who have suffered untold agony with Rheumatism and have been completely cured by this remedy. All who have tried it have had this experience. Some of them permit us to print their testimony. It makes quite a little book, which we send free to any who are interested enough to ask for it. A complete Russian Rheumatism Cure, costs $2.50. ## A TRIP IN ARIZONA.

LANDSCAPE OF ALKALI DESERT AND CLIFFS OF BARE ROCK.

Across the Desolate Plateau - The "Painted Desert" Which the Red Man Fears-A Remarkable Natural Curiosity-Petrified Forest.

Any one who crosses southern Arizona in the summer season-from January to November-will decide that the territory's weather is unbearably hot, and the chief features of the country are alkali desert and some cliffs of bare rock. The surveyors of the Southern Pacific road selected the route which would require least grading, therefore, would be the cheapest; but it gives a most unfortunate impresiion of the region it is designed to open up. After leaving Deming, on the New Mexican border, the traveler enters upon twenty-four hours of | glass of steaming hot rum before him. torment. The heat is sweltering, the glare every chink and cranny pours the white them-he has scarcely returned to the tiny compartments where he blacks the boots and philosphizes upon the vagaries of his charge before from parched throats and cracked lips comes the ery; "Porter! where is that

ACROSS THE DESOLATE PLATEAU. A good dinner in a Japanesque restaurant can be had at Tucson toward afternoon, but tourists are generally too hot, 'usty and exasperated to profit by it. At Yuma the Indians have accepted the situation: they hang about the train and lounge on the track, dressed becomingly in bead necklaces, without accessories. Yuma marks the western boundary of Arizona, the train has passed through the entire southern portion of the territory, and the passengers, as they gasp and fan, devoutly thank heaven for bringing them out of the ordeal alive.

But this desolate plateau, destitute of to the scientist and the sightseer. In the we tern portion of Arizona, where the desert runs northward to the parallel of 34 degrees, lies the remarkable region known as the "Painted Desert." It is a wild, solitary, level plain, the entire surface covered with lofty co'umns and isolated buttes, composed of sandstone, and worn into fantastic shapes by the storms of eges. This weird desert is a veritable Fata Morgana, presenting the most marvelous mirages. On its dazzlingly clear air are depicted palaces, hanging gardens, colonnades, temples, fountains, lake;; fortifications, with flags flying on their ramparts; land-capes, herds of cattle, deer and antelope; companies of men and women, etc.—all painted with such an admirable mixture of light and shade that it is impossible to form any conception of the picture without seeing it. The Indians call it the "Country of Departed Spirits," and carefully avoid it.

Fire and flood have left indelible traces on the face of Arizona, and in this region, sui generis in its strata and formation, the geologist finds in an open book the records One bottle is generally sufficient for a cure. being evident that for centuries vast inland seas covered its surface. Isolated peaks rise like isless above the valleys and plains, and show clearly the evasion caused by retreating waters. Granite, porphyry, micaschist, trachyte, quartite, feldspar and many other varieties are found in close juxtaposition.

REMARKABLE NATURAL CURIOSITIES. Near the headwaters of the Little Colorado, called by Coronado the Rio de Lino, is one of the most remarkable natural curiosities of the United States. It is a petrified forest extending over many miles. The trees are silicified confera of gigantic size. One has been discovered that measured more than twenty feet at the base, and at a and Mississippi that was deep enough our break 100 feet from the base it was ten feet in diameter. NEW WAY TO GET DRUNK.

Going to Bed Sober and Waking Up Intoxicated-A Bartender's Remarks. "Let me have a little butter, please," said a stout, elderly gentleman, who stood in front of the bar the other evening, with a

The white-aproned bartender bent down from the desert inflames the eyes, through and from a shelf underneath the polished mahogony brought up a dish of butter, in alkali dust, coating every surface, and never which was stuck a silver knife. With this to be cleaned from dark garments. The the man took off a lump of butter and Pullman porter opens the windows; in five minutes the choking passengers pray that they may be closed. Patient John shuts the concoction slowly, with an oily smile overspreading his features.

"Yes, it is rather a curious drink," said the bartender to the reporter standing by, "but it's a very pleasant one, and a great favorite with some gentlemen. Those who porter? Quick, open these windows, give don't know of its effects, however, had better leave it alone, for the effects are apt to be queer. The man who drinks a number of these hot rums would be quite sober when he went home, but in the morning when he woke up he would be as drunk as a lord. That's odd, isn't it? But it's easy enough to explain. It's because there is so much oil in the butter.

"Let me explain, and you can try it yourself. Take a bottle of sweet-oil with you when you go out with the boys the next time. Order any kind of liquor you like, though I wouldn't bothes much with beer if I were you. Pour into your glass a few drops of the sweet-oil every time you take a drink. No matter how much you drink you water and vegetation, is a land of marvels | will keep sober, while your friends, if they have kept up with you, will be in a very 'how-come-you-so' condition. You go home and go to bed feeling-all right, and in the morning, when you wake up, you will be dead drunk. The reason is simple. Oil, as you must know rises to the surface.

"Consequently, when you drink these oilcovered concoctions the oil will remain on the surface in your storach, keeping the fumes of the liquor down. That prevents you from getting drunk. When you have stopped drinking and gone to sleep, thus giving your interior arrangements a chance to go about their ordinary duties, the oil will gradually evaporate itself through the system, allowing the fumes of the liquor to rise to your head. The consequence is that you awake in the morning 'full.' It's the funniest thing in the world when a man has this experience for the first time."-New York Star.
