COBURN ITEMS.

Times are about as usual at Coburn -perhaps somewhat dry since court. Business is brisk, especially in wheat. They are still paying 85 and 88 cents for wheat, which is more than the markets afford, and farmers are taking advantage of this.

The lumber business is a little dull, but more or less is being shipped.
On Friday afternoon, Eddie, a child of A. M. Greninger, fell in the dam and was rescued by Harry Vanvalin just in time to save his life. At first they thought the child was dead. Dr. Sumner Musser happened along and soon brought him to life. This should be a warning for parents to keep their children away from the creek. On Saturday afternoon, 15, the news had been for treatment. Harvey was a whole-soled, kind-hearted man and liked by all. He had been in the prop business here with E. Barlow for two years. He was a well-read man and by profession was a druggist. He came here for his health, but this spring he began failing and went to Philadelphia for treatment. His funeral took place at Ashland, on 18. Peace to his ashes. W. H. Kreamer attended the funeral of Mr. Smith at the above named place.

Our Sunday School is progressing finely. Last Sunday was the third meeting, which was attended by 100 scholars. There is material enough here to make up a No. 1 Union S. S. if all take an in-terest in the grand work. Let all de-nominations join, and next fall have a grand picnic.

Royer and others of 298, Rebersburg.

Twenty-two new recruits were mus-tered in and eight of the old members retained their membership, making now thirty members in all. The meeting, which was a pleasant and instructive one, closed at 12 o'clock at night. The Post is now composed of some of the best business men of Rebersburg, Millheim, Aaronsburg and Coburn, and there is no reason why it should not flourish in every particular. Commander Andrew Gregg, of 282, Centre Hall, conducted the muster with Past Department Commander Cortin as Officer of the Day, W. J. Thompson as Senior Vice commander, Commander Keller as Junior Vice commander, C. D. Runkle as Quar-termaster, W. P. Shoop as Adjutant, Jes-se Stewart as Officer of the Guard, Henry Meyer as Chaplain and John A. Mil-ler as Surgeon. The muster was well performed and full instruction given, the comrades evincing much interest in the work.

The following named officers were then elected and subsequently installed by Commander Curtin. Commander, W. O. Vanvalin.

Senior Vice Commander, John A. Mil-Surgeon, S. G. Gutelius. Chaplain, W. J. Springer. Officer of the Day, S. R. Gettig. Quartermaster, M. M. Musser. Officer of the Guard, Geo. M. Rupp. Adjutant, W. A. Tobias. Sergeant Major, S. D. Musser.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The test given by the Monarch Fire Killer Co., of New York, on Friday evening last, in the public square was certainly a grand success and proved beyond a doubt the merits of the chemical in extinguishing fire.

There were three separate fires , started. The first one being an oil or greese barrel which was put out with two bottles of chemical. The second was a plain surface ten feet high and was covered with oil and turpentine and was put out in less than two minutes. The third was the same surface covered again with oil and turpentine and after this burnt out it gradually smouldered out on account of the chemical put on the first time, showing conclusively that where the chemical once touches it can not catch again. We cheerfully recommend it to the public and it is to be hoped the council will take steps in this direction at once. Mr. Blake, who represents Messrs. Hoffman & Locke, of New York, expects to be back the first Monday in

The Times says at a meeting of the Engineer's Club a very interesing paper was read by E. S. Hutchinson on the Panama Canal, made up chiefly from notes recieved from John Biglow, who was sent out by the New York Chamber of Commerce to accompany M. de Lesseps. It appeared that up to the present time there has been sent out for the construction of the canal 72 portable enginees, 13 fe floating apparatus, 20 tow-boats, 4 steamships, 21 dredges, 260 miles of rail, 8,960 cars, 122 locomotives, 814 hoisting engines, 38 steam windlasses, 5,66 derricks, 256 pumps, 20 endless band transporters and 79 excavators. From this, Mr. Hutchinson said, one could get a faint glimpse of the magnitude of the undertaking. Up to July 1, 1885, about seventy-three million dollars had been furnished, and to complete the complete masic than some older bands. It is composed of about twenty pieces, and when they blow it makes one listen until the last note; is sounded. For the piece with which the Reporter was favored, the band has the thanks of the printers.
