

As the warm weather approaches shade must be supplied for the fowls and chicks if they are expected to thrive. Fowls suffer greatly from cold in winter, but not so much as they do from heat in the summer if compelled to be under the sun's rays at all times. Farmers usually let their fowls run at large, and in that case they can always find plenty of shade.

A PLANK FLOOR is not good for hogs; they are liable to slip on it and injure themselves so that they have to be killed. Hogs will not move about any more than they are obliged to on a plank floor, on account of slipping, and this want of exercise will help to bring on constipation.

Lost Faith in Physicians. There are innumerable instances where cures have been effected by SCOVILL'S SARSAPARILLA, OR BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP, for all diseases of the blood, when they had been given over by their physicians. It is one of the best remedies ever offered to the public, and as it is prepared with the greatest care, as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it should be more effectual than hastily written and carelessly prepared prescriptions. Take this medicine for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is endorsed by leading professional men.

Douglas Jerrold used to say that logmatism was puppyism come to its growth.

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia is indescribable. The relief which is given by Hood's SARSAPARILLA has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs.

Purify the Blood.

"We do not claim that Hood's SARSAPARILLA is the only medicine deserving public confidence, but we believe that to purify the blood, to restore and renovate the whole system, it is absolutely unequalled. The influence of the blood upon the health cannot be over-estimated. If it becomes contaminated, the train of consequences by which the health is undermined is immeasurable. Loss of Appetite, Low Spirits, Headache, Dyspepsia, Debility, Nervousness and other 'little' ailments are the premonitions of more serious and often fatal results. Try Hood's SARSAPARILLA."

SCIENTIFIC.

If pitcher plants eat insects after catching them by their leaves, there is no reason why they should not suffer from overgrowing themselves, as other meat-eating beings do; and Mr. Veitch has shown by exhibiting some Sarracenia, before the Royal Horticultural Society, that, while they are moderately, they seemed to be benefited; they were injured when there was "an accumulation of dead insects."

A contemporary maintains that the persistent use of the microscope is the only means whereby the necessity for a change of yeast in brewing can be ascertained, and that the examination must be kept up from day to day. As soon as the cells are seen to become elongated and lose their round shape there is something wrong.

Resemblances of human footprints have been found almost everywhere in ancient rock. Even very modern horse-shoes seem to have made their mark at some distant age on such rocks, but when the indentations are pointed out the imagination must be violently exerted to say that the impressions are like anything in particular.

The following is said to be an excellent stain for giving light-colored wood the appearance of black walnut: Take Brunswick black, thin it down with turpentine until it is about the right tone and color, and then add about one-twentieth its bulk of varnish. This mixture, it is said, will dry hard and take varnish well.

The well-known Parisian editor M. Moigno, has written a paper on the by-themes of the heavens and the earth. In this he makes the deduction that everything originated from ether, which first generated hydrogen. To an impulsion of ether he attributes the existence throughout the universe of the action of gravitation.

If Your Lungs are Destroyed do not expect that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make new ones for you. It can do much, but not impossibilities. If, however, you have not yet reached the last stages of consumption, there is hope for you. But do not delay, lest you cross the fatal line where help is impossible. The Discovery has arrested the aggravating course of thousands of consumptives, cured their night-sweats and hectic fevers, and restored them to health and happiness.

Mr. W. S. HARRIS, Pittsboro, N.C., says: "My little boy was suffering from a very serious attack of blood poisoning, and the doctor not benefiting him in the least, I tried Brown's Iron Bitters. One bottle cured him, and he is now a healthy and robust child. I can truly say that it is a great tonic and purifier, and I heartily recommend it to all who are afflicted with any of the ailments which it cures."

Dr. J. W. McCREARY, 301 N. Green St., Evansville, Ind., says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for the blood with the best result. I cannot recommend it too highly as a blood purifier."

FARM NOTES.

THE APPLE TREE BORER.—The apple tree borer is in some places a formidable enemy, while in other near by where it may be, it is practically unknown. Various washes have been recommended and various other devices have been employed to prevent the damage done by them. The eggs are laid generally during the months of June and July and when hatched the small worms work their way slowly downward just under the surface of the bark. They may be detected at this time by the dark, damp appearance of the spot where they are at work. It is not till the following year that the damage is done, but the earlier they are destroyed the better for the more easily it may be done. If in early spring the dirt is scooped away from the trunk carefully scraped and a wash applied for about 18 inches above the surface of the ground, most of the young worms and eggs if any will be destroyed. We would suggest that Paris green may be used here with profit. It might be mixed with the wash mentioned in the Farm and Home as used by Mr. A. N. Brown, and formerly employed to good purpose by the late Randolph Peters. After this has been applied, heap up clean sand or gravel around the tree and let it remain till autumn. This method persistently followed will result in a complete victory over this troublesome enemy.

L. S. HARRIS says in the Dairyman: "Not one tub in fifty of creamery butter reaches top prices, and many of them far below it, simply on account of the grossest carelessness. One man will use spruce tubs for a market that imperatively demands ash. Another salts or colors his butter to death for a market that is particularly sensitive on these points. Nearly all the tubs are overworked, and frequently one-half the tub will be fresh butter and the other half old, with one or two shades of color between them."

The air permeates all soils unless filled with stagnant water. If there is motion in the water through the soil it is evidence that some air is present even there. All soils except pure sand absorb and retain fertilizing properties from the atmosphere, though heavy and loamy soils do this most. When the country was new it was noticed that fever and ague developed from malaria were worst on sandy soils, though these were generally dry, and the malaria itself was most apt to originate on low, wet lands, where there is an abundance of decaying vegetation.

LIEBIG makes the statement that rain water filtered through field or garden soil does not dissolve out a trace of potash, silicic acid, ammonia or phosphoric acid. The soil does not give up to the water one particle of the food of plants which it contains. The most continuous rain cannot remove from the field, except mechanically, any of the essential constituents of its fertility. The soil not only retains firmly all the food of plants which is actually in it, but its power to preserve all that may be useful to them also extends to withdrawing from rain or other water all the ammonia, potash and phosphoric and silicic acid held in solution.

BE CAREFUL OF THE HORSES.—Too much care can scarcely be exercised in beginning work with horses that have requiring days and sometimes weeks to fit them to do a full day's work. In been idle most of the winter. It does not pay to let horses get in this condition, for when hard work comes on to the meantime not only is the work delayed, but those employed in running the team have to be paid full wages for half service.

RHUBARB.—The rhubarb beds in most farmers' gardens become crowded, and no matter how heavily manured will not produce large, succulent leaves. Digging out the roots and either throwing away the surplus or making new beds is the only remedy. If transportation can be had to market at low rates this rhubarb will sell for much more per acre than any farm crop, but it requires excessively heavy manuring.

WHEN corn is but a few inches in height, before the roots have had time to spread, deep plowing with a shovel plow may be beneficial; but after the roots have become far reaching, cultivation with a cultivator or harrow should be resorted to to stir only the surface of the soil.

The great flow of milk of cows is artificial. In a state of nature the cow gives only the necessary quantity, and gives it only the necessary time to sustain the calf. The greater and longer yield of milk is the result of better feeding, better treatment and longer manipulation of the teats. Hence, to increase the yield of milk, feed and milk well.

As a rule the most intelligent and faithful farm hands, those who command the highest wages, will be found much more profitable than help which can be hired for little money. This is particularly true of those to whose care is intrusted the feeding and management of stock during the winter.

The evolution of the tomato is going on in a remarkable way. Not many years ago the fruit was mostly skin and seeds, but the newest varieties are almost solid pulp, with very few seeds. Possibly, as in the case of the banana, the seeds will yet disappear altogether, and the plants will have to be propagated by cuttings.

LATE investigations indicate that the chlorophyll, or green coloring substance of the leaves, is most liable to pick up metallic matter absorbed by the roots of plants. When vines have been manured with sulphate of copper, merely a doubtful trace appearing in the juice of the grapes. Tea-leaves contain much iron, doubtless due to the ochreous soil on which they best grow.

Cannot be washed off. The color produced by Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers. As an antidote for malarial disorders, Ayer's Ague Cure has no equal. It never fails. Gratitude pays all our debts.

The Great Spring Medicine

During the past four years I have been troubled with Bilious Humors broke out all over my face and skin. I used to dig Burdock root, clean and winter that I could not dig it, so the next thing I could do was to get some of your Burdock Bitters. One bottle did me so much good I concluded to try the second, and finally the third effected a full and perfect cure. I have gained over thirty pounds in flesh. I recommend them to all my friends. C.
