

FARM NOTES.

BRACING A COLT TO THE HALTER.—If the colt endeavors to pull away after the halter is on, you have to circumvent him by a little strategy. Take a common clothes-line rope and make a large slip-loop knot around the body, drawing it moderately tight, and pass the end up between the front legs through the halter. The reason for doing this is very apparent. He cannot understand how anything can pull the hind part of his body, and his head at the same time; and on feeling the strain behind he will go forward, and thus you will accomplish your object without being compelled to use force. Taking this rope in the right hand and standing directly in front of the colt, say, in a decided manner, "Come here!" and at the same time pull the rope sharply. The colt will invariably move forward, and when he does so, caress him. Repeat this two or three times, until he will quickly move forward; then say, "Come here!" Next, with the rope hitch him to the manger or to a post, and standing in front of him, open and shut umbrellas, shake buffalo robes and beat tin pans—in fact, make as noise as possible without touching him. Of course he cannot think of two things at once, and the rope tied around him behind catches him by surprise, and he will end by giving up trying to get away when he finds that he is freer from pain when he is quiet and still than when jerking his head. For a very nervous horse put the rope as far forward as possible around the body. This treatment can be applied until he is thoroughly halter broken. The same arrangement is the most successful one in existence for halter pullers, and is also a most valuable assistant in leading a horse behind a wagon. How many people are at their wits' ends continually when on a long ride with a horse tied to the carriage behind—and yet this simple invention would prevent it all, and they would not be obliged to even give the horse a thought.

PROFIT ON FOWLS.—A Northern farmer says that last year he kept 25 hens and two cocks which cost him $28.15 to feed and care for. But he sold eggs and chickens enough to bring him $31.60, leaving a profit of $3.45. But a woman in his neighborhood from 42 hens cleared $100 profit above all expense. There are doubtless thousands of such instances that could be given, both in the North and South, if accounts were kept, even where such pairs are taken to raise fowls; but what must be the profits of those tens of thousands who take no pains, but leave the fowls to forage for a living, and yet sell off all the surplus eggs and fowls at extravagantly high prices? A pair of such hens at $1 pays about 1 1/2 per cent. upon the investment. The eggs are not as rich as those of well-fed hens, but they sell for the same price, while the uncared-for hens fall but a few cents below the fattest and finest in the market. If these things are true they show that it will pay to raise fowls under almost any circumstances.

It may not be generally known that there is a very simple and inexpensive remedy for cuts, and bruises on horses and cattle, at the command of almost every one. In cases of fresh cuts or injuries from barbed wire, however severe, or running sores, apply to the wound, lime, fresh slaked, of the consistency of thick cream, with a common paint brush. Cover the wound as quickly as possible and repeat daily, or oftener if necessary. In a short time new flesh will form, and the wound heal without hardly a scar.

The idea that straw is only of value to rot down into manure has had its day. It has very little value for this purpose, and if no better use can be had for it there would be good policy in selling straw wherever there was a near market. But bright wheat or oat straw makes a valuable part of the ration for horses or store stock. It needs to be cut with grain, but with either corn or oats, cut straw makes in most places a better and cheaper feed than hay alone.

To produce the seeds of an apple exhausts the tree more than to produce the much greater quantity of meat, because they contain a much larger proportion of the mineral elements. As such meat or pulp can be grown on 500 fine large apple trees as upon 1000 small, inferior ones, but the production of seeds will be only one-half as great. Thus "thinning" not only adds to the value of the present crop, but economizes the energies of the tree for future ones.

DISEASES are often communicated by feeding horses in stalls which have been occupied previously by diseased animals. Such stalls should first be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. To do this take a pint of sulphuric acid and put it in a bucket of water. Then, with an old mop, wash all parts of the stall, especially the trough or manger. All stalls should be occasionally so disinfected, as their constant use permits them to gradually become unfit abodes of the animals.

CANTALOUPE.—Melons were first called cantaloupes from being cultivated at Cantaluppi, a villa near Rome, where they had been introduced from Armenia, by missionaries. The name is said to be still in use in some parts of Europe for a class of deeply ribbed, yellow-fleshed melons. In this country it is applied to different kinds of melons in different localities, and the significance of the word cannot be well defined as now used.

ENGLAND BUYS $19,252,884 out of the $20,805,824 worth of the bacon we export, of hams, $2,454,990 worth out of the $3,231,600, nearly half of the $3,402,538 of pork, and about one-third of our surplus lard.

The calf born in the fall, fairly well wintered and given the vigorous growth that grass food gives the following summer makes a better cow than the spring raised one, and she is two years old—the right time for the birth of her first calf.

HOUSEHOLD.

ANGELICA (to preserve).—The way in which French confectioners preserve the fresh stalks of this plant in Paris is exceedingly simple, and the result an agreeable sweetmeat which contains most of the virtues of the plant, the angelica being an excellent tonic and carminative. They remove the outer rind of the young stalks, cut them into pieces three inches long, and blanch them in boiling water; lay them on a sieve to drain and put them into a syrup made of clarified sugar. Then boil them until aqueous vapor ceases to ascend, and leave them to dry on a sort of wooden frame in a cool stove. The Laplanders think the angelica one of the most important productions of their soil. It grows wild there, and they eat both the roots and stem raw with butter. The root of the first year, before the stem has shot up, they call "vutus," and this they declare to be the best medicine for preserving health to a very old age.

LOBSTER BISQUE.—Meat of a large lobster, four cups of milk, one cup of pounded cracker, one quart of boiling water, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one quarter teaspoonful of cayenne pepper. Salt to taste. Cut the lobster meat small, put it into a pot with the boiling water and simmer five minutes before adding seasoning and crumbs. After these let cook ten minutes and stir the butter. Meanwhile heat the milk in a farina kettle with a tiny bit of soda. Let the buttered mixture in the pot almost reach a slow boil, remove from the fire, put in the milk and turn instantly into the tureen. Pass crackers and sliced lemon with it.

CREAM PICKEREL.—Clean a large fresh fish, leaving the head on, lay it at length in a dripping pan, score the back almost to the bone in four places, and pour a cup of cold water about it. Bake, closely covered, except when basting with butter and water, twelve minutes to the pound. Baste at least six times. Remove the fish with care to a hot water dish, strain the gravy from the dripping pan into a farina kettle; add two tablespoonfuls of butter, rolled in one teaspoonful of corn starch, and as this boils a small cup of cream, in which has been dropped a bit of soda no larger than a pea. Heat until scalding hot, stir in a tablespoonful of minced parsley, boil up quickly, pepper and salt to taste, and pour over the fish.

RED RASPBERRY SHORTCAKE.—One quart of prepared flour, two tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one and a half cupsful of milk, two cups whipped cream, one cupful of eggs, the butter and sugar, beat in the whipped eggs; the milk, and lastly the flour; bake in a square or oblong pan; when cold, cut it in three pieces, cover one with red or yellow raspberries, sprinkle with sugar, lay another third on this, more berries and more sugar, then the final layer; sift sugar on it, and spread thick with the whipped cream; stick the finest berries thickly in the snowy capping, and send around liquid cream to eat with it. You will admire and enjoy this dessert.

POTATO OMELET.—Take six good-sized potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of salt, one tablespoonful of butter and a little pepper. Peel the potatoes and put them into boiling water. When they have been boiling for fifteen minutes, add one teaspoonful of salt. As soon as cooked drain and mash well. Add one teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper, the butter; then add four well-beaten yolks, mixing well. Rub through a colander. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying-pan. Put in the potato, smoothing it over. Fry it a light brown color, double, and serve like an omelet.

A VERY ECONOMICAL DISH.—Line a pudding-shape all through with thin slices of bacon. Take some boiled spinach, seasoned and chopped as if for table. Cut some carrot and turnips into square pieces, and a few small onions if liked; whip up the yolk of an egg with a little pepper and salt. Mix the carrots and turnips well with the egg and seasoning, stick them thickly alternately at the bottom and round the sides of the tin, and fill up the middle with the dressed spinach. When the tin is full cover it with thin slices of bacon, steam it one hour, turn it out in a corner dish, and lift up the bacon whilst you pour some rich brown gravy, then replace the bacon neatly.

LAMB POT-PIE is delicious at this time of year, made exactly after the recipe for veal pot-pie and from the breast of lamb. For a very rich crust for any pot-pie rub into two pounds of flour half a pound of butter, put a quarter-pound of butter into a half pint of milk and let it dissolve over the fire, but not boil. Mix it with the flour, gradually until you form a stiff paste, and while still warm mould into the crust. As most pastry has to be made ice cold in summer, this way is a novelty. Do not roll out the crust, but work it into a cone with your right hand above and your left hand underneath the paste-ball.

When you visit or save New York City, save baggage expenses and $2 carriage fare, and stay at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot. 600 elegant rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, $1 and upwards per day. European Plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

STEWED LAMB AND PEAS.—Have the bones taken out of the under side of a shoulder of lamb and bind into a good shape with tape. Cover the bottom of a pot with chopped salt pork, stew with minced young onion, lay in the meat and pour in a quart of weak broth made from the extracted bones and other trimmings. Cover closely and stew tender. Take out the lamb, unbind it, and keep hot, covered, over boiling water. Strain the gravy left in the pot, return to the fire with two quarts of green peas and cook until they are done, strain and lay about the meat.

A Remarkable Cure of Scrofula.—William S. Baker, of Lewis, Yego County, Ind., writes as follows: "My son was taken with Scrofula in the hip when only two years old. We tried several physicians, but the boy got no relief from their treatment. Noticing your SCROFULA'S SARSAPARILLA AND LIVER SYRUP, recommended so highly, I bought some of it of you in the year 1862, and continued taking it till the sore finally healed up. He is now 21 years of age, and, being satisfied that your medicine did him so much good when he used it, we want to try again in another case, and write to you to get some more."

The great mass of mankind can only gaze and wonder; if they undertake to think, they grow listless, and soon tire out.

To thoroughly cure scrofula, it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid.

A Danish clergyman named Hanson has made some experiments relative to the growth of trees. Regarding the latter, Mr. Hanson has made daily measurements of a number of trees in the garden of the institution, and has convinced himself that a period of growth in length, as represented by the branches, twigs and tops, alternates with another of increase in bulk—that is, in the circumference of the trunk—followed by a third period of enripescence or rest. In April and May the entire force of the tree was expended in lengthening the branches, while the thickness of the trunk remained stationary; all through May the most exact measurement failed to discover any increase of bulk; but in June, until the middle of July, when the new twigs had been all formed, it was the trunk that absorbed the nourishment from the roots, and bulged out. Then came the period of rest and inactivity.

Scientific men have been perplexed for many years over the phenomenon of a certain well at Yakutsk, Siberia. A Russian merchant in 1829 began to dig the well, but he gave up the task three years later, when he had dug down fifty feet and was still insolently frozen soil. Then the Russian Academy of Sciences dug away at the well for months, but stopped when it had reached a depth of 382 feet, when the ground was still frozen as hard as a rock. In 1844 the Academy had the temperature of the excavation carefully taken at various depths, and from these data it was estimated that the ground was frozen to a depth of 512 feet. Although the pole of the greatest cold is in this province of Yakutsk, not even the terrible severity of the Siberian winter could freeze the ground to a depth of 600 feet. Geologists have decided that the frozen valley of the lower Lena is a formation of the glacial period. They believe, in short, that it froze solidly then, and has never since had a chance to thaw out.

The Bollettino Mensuale of the Central Observatory, published by the Italian Meteorological Society, for February, 1886, gives among numerous interesting articles an account of the International Congress of Hydrology and Climatology to be held on October 1 next at Biarritz. Persons wishing to attend and take part in the Congress should address its General Treasurer, Visconte de Chastaigner, at Biarritz.

A new star has arisen in the firmament of ladies' lawn-tennis, in the person of a Miss Dod, of Rockford. Late this young lady, who is only fifteen years old, carried off the West of England Championship for Ladies, beating Miss Watson, who is the Champion of All England in the final tie by 7 to 5 and 6 to 4, without giving her a chance. If she goes on like this, by the time she is twenty, Miss Dod ought to be able to beat all the men out of the field.

German engineers have succeeded in diminishing the swaying of locomotives, and with it the wear of the rear drive flanges, by making the tender coupling more or less rigid laterally, and indeed, four-wheeled locomotives have been used on some roads for line engines by having heavy shoot bolts on each side entering sockets on the tender—in this way preventing either vertical or horizontal swaying.

It isn't so much what a man has that makes him happy, as it is what he doesn't want.

Advice to Consumptives.

On the appearance of the first symptoms—as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night-sweats and cough—prompt measures for relief should be taken. Consumption is a scrofulous disease of the lungs;—therefore use the great anti-scrofula, or blood-purifier used equal. Sold by druggists the world over. For Dr. Pierce's treatise on consumption, send 10 cents in stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

RICE WAFFLES.—Two cups of milk, one cup of cold boiled rice, three eggs, one scant tablespoonful of lard, one even teaspoonful of salt, one cup of prepared flour, a scant one. Melt the lard and beat into the rice, adding the whipped eggs when you have a smooth paste, next the sugar, the salt, the milk and the flour. See that the waffle irons are perfectly clean and dry, then grease well with salt fat pork before baking.

The disadvantages of the ordinary system of setting milk in shallow pans for raising cream are that a longer period elapses before the skimming is completed, too much space is required, and in summer the milk becomes sour before the whole of the cream is raised.

FOR THE BLOOD BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Combining IRON with PURE VEGETABLE TONIC, quickly and completely CLEANSES and ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Quickens the action of the Liver and Kidneys. Clears the complexion, makes the skin smooth. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—ALL OTHER IRON MEDICINES DO. Physicians and Druggists everywhere recommend it.

MISS EMMA HARTMAN, Allentown, Pa., says: "My blood was very thin and watery, and I became weak and languid. After using four bottles of Brown's Iron Bitters I am entirely restored to health and strength, and cheerfully recommend it." Mrs. M. W. Hall, 115 S. Pine St., Richmond, Va., says: "My little boy was suffering from a very serious attack of blood poisoning and the doctor had sent him in the hospital. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters. Two bottles cured him, although his blood was in a terrible state. It is certainly a great tonic and purifier and I heartily recommend it." DANIEL McCRECKENY, 209 N. Green St., Trenton, N. J., says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for the blood with the best results. I cannot recommend it too highly as a blood purifier."
