Arrested as a Heavy Bank Defaulter. Much Surprise at Portland Over the Unexpected Developments-His Past Record for Plety Badly Broken.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 20.—It has just been discovered that William E. Gould, cashier of the First National bank in this city, is a defaulter to the amount of $87,000. To say that the entire community is surprised but feebly expresses the actual situation of affairs. Mr. Gould has always been looked upon as a model man by people acquainted with him. His piety was almost ostentations. He has been in the habit of preaching in small churches in the vicinity of this city to supply vacancies of regular pastors, and his sermons to young men on moral rectitude and the advantages of strictly honest business principles have won him some notoriety and not a little admiration.

Mr. Gould built a very handsome house, at a cost of $50,000, and indulged in other lux-uries of living which any man in receipt of a good salary and with fair social position might do without exciting public comment. No man in the city has gradually got a closer grip on the psople's confidence than Mr.

He is president of the Hayden association, vice-president of the Portland Trust company and a trustee in the Maine savings bank, one of the strongest institutions of its kind in the state. It is not known to a certainty whether these institutions are involved in his crookedness, but some of the stockholders and depositors are feeling very neryous about it. Some of the directors visited the banks yesterday to take a casual look at the books and securities, and a rigid investigation will be made at once.

The people in the bank where Mr. Gould is employed place unlimited confidence in him. The bank recently erected a new building at a cost of $180,000 or more, and Mr. Gould had very much to do with making the contracts and looking after the disburse-

Gould's father is also a prominent banker with an unblemished reputation, and is at present cashier of the National Traders' bank. It was largely through the father's influence that the son was made vice-president of the National Banking association, of which he was a conspicuous member. The younger Gould's opinions were always given weight in grave questions of financial policy, and his papers on banking topics have been considered features of annual meetings of the association.

Gould was somewhat of a society favorite as a young man, but his social position was secure when he married the handsome daughter of Neal Dow, the veteran Prohibition Scarcely a young lady in the state had a larger circle of acquaintances than Miss Dow, and Gould was considered a very fortunate fellow when he won her. Three children have been born to them, the eldest son holding a responsible position in the same bank with his father.

Mr. Gould's family and his immediate relatives are almost wild over the disgrace which the defalcation has brought upon them, and the exposure which it was impossible to avoid. As it is, consideration for the feelings of the family have induced the directors of the bank to make it as easy as possible for the defaulter. Instead of a criminal prosecution, he has simply been arrested by the bank authorities on a civil suit to await the action of the comptroller of the cur-

The capital of the bank is $1,000,000, and the surplus $300,000. It is said that the usual business of the bank will not be affected by the loss. The doors are open to-day as usual, and precautions have been taken to meet a possible run.

The directors of the bank refuse to talk, and it is impossible to get much information about the defalcation, but the amount will certainly reach $87,000, even if it is not larger. The silence is to shield Gould as much as possible, but the facts are bound to become public property before long. Harrison J. Libby is president of the bank, and Governor Robie is one of the directors.

It is impossible, even by diligent inquiry, to get the slightest inkling of the manner in which Mr. Gould has spent the money he is accused of appropriating. He never speculated, so far as can be ascertained, and assiduously shunned all forms of gambling. His habits of living have not until lately been at all expensive. Gould has been so prostrated by the shock that it is said to be useless to try and get from him an intelligent statement of his financial trouble or the causes that led Fears it has Been Spread.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—There are grave fears that the cattle on the Harvey farm, at Ridgeland, near here, have spread the pleuro-pneumonia contagion. When the disease was discovered there the other day measures were at once taken to confine the disease, and the usual notice of quarantine was served on Mr. Harvey. There are 118 head of cattle on the farm, mostly belonging to milkmen who merely pasture there, and as there is not much pasture the animals have wandered all over that section of country. Two cows and a calf have been killed on Mr. Carne's farm, and an examination of the lungs of one of the animals showed unmistakable evidence of pleuro-pneumonia.

Only a Missionary Country. NEW YORK, Sept. 20.-Right Rev. Mgr. Straniero, the papal ablegate, who brought the cardinal's beretta to Archbishop Gibbons, was asked if the next red hat would come to the archbishop of St. Louis, and answered: "I do not think that the pope intends to give more than one cardinal to the United States. It is only a missionary country, and, until its condition changes, more need hardly be expected."

Unidentified Wreck. St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 20.-The strait of Balle Isle has intely been the scene of a great disaster. The coast is lined with wreckage. Stateroom doors, cabin furniture, bedding, spars, life preservers, etc. The wreck must have been complete. The name of the steamer is unknown. The absence of dead bodies implies that the crew and passengers took to the boats.

Diphtheria Epidemic. LOGANSPORT, Ind., Sept. 20.-Diphtheria has been prevailing to an alarming extent in this city recently. The board of health has served notice on the school board that they deemed it unwise to open school to-day. The school board has not yet acted, but if school opens hundreds of scholars will be kept at home, so great is the scare. The matter is being examined into by the state board of

Mayor Grace on the Committee. New YORK, Sept. 20.-The sub-executive committee of the County Democracy have agreed upon Mayor Grace as a member of the state committee in place of John Keenan, resigned. Ex-Mayor Cooper is named to take the place of the late H. O. Thompson. A MEMORIAL ARCH

Formally Dedicated at Hartford to Her Soldier Dead.

HARTFORD, Sept. 18.—The dedication of the soldiers and sailors' memorial arch took place yesterday. All the banks and places of business were closed, and the day was observed as a general holiday in honor of the event. Fully 15,000 persons were present, and the city was gaily decorated with flags and bunting. Among the military who par-ticipated in the celebration were many Grand Army corps, the Tibbits Veteran corps, the Providence United Train of artillery, and the Thirteenth Separate company of Troy, N. Y.

THE MONUMENT. At a few minutes past 1 o'clock the monument was presented to the town by Col. George P. Bisseil, who spoke in behalf of the building commission.

Gen. Hawley then delivered his address of

At the conclusion of Gen. Hawley's adiress a dedication song by Rev. Dr. E. P. Parker was sung. The literary exercises then followed, after which there was a parade under Col. Jacob L. Greene as chief marshal, which was participated in by thousands of veterans, visiting military corps, the Governor's Foot guard and other organizations.

The memorial is executed in Connecticut brown stone, similar to that of the old stone bridge with which it is connected. The general surface is rock faced, in keeping with the simplicity of the design, but relieved by buff-colored Ohio stone dressings; and the frieze, which is of light-colored terra cotta, natches the color of the Ohio stone,

The arch opening is thirty feet wide, and springs from two massive round towers, one on either side. These towers are each sixtyseven feet in circumference, and rise to a height of over 100 feet, terminating in conical roofs, which increase the apparent height of the memorial, and add very much to the artistic effect by the variety they give to the sky line. About forty feet from the ground, above the archway, a broad frieze of rich sculpture runs entirely around the monument. Its length is 164 feet and height seven feet, and is divided into two subjects. The side facing the south represents a condensed Story of the War," and on the opposite side "The Return of the Army." Angels, playing on musical instruments, act as finials on the tower roofs and face the south, as though welcoming the returning army, which is represented on the frieze below.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

A Comparatively Light Vote and a Republican Victory.

Sept. 14.-Election da this year was one of the loveliest of autumn days, but regardless of the auspicious weath er the vote of the state shows a large reduc tion over that of two years ago. The returns indicate the election of Bodwell, Republican, for governor, by a reduced plurality from that given to Robie two years ago. The returns from 150 towns show a reduction in the total Republican vote of 4,887, and in the Democratic vote of 1,785. The reduction in the Republican plurality, therefore, foots up 3,102. If the same ratio continues through the state the Republican plurality will be reduced about 6,000 from 1884. It is evident that Bodwell has received from 12,000 to

GOVERNOR-ELECT BODWELL. The only congress district in Maine where my contest was made, or where any any contest prospect existed for a Democratic victory, was in Tom Reed's district, consisting of York and Cumberland counties. The Democratic party there placed in nomination the Hon. Wm. H. Clifford, the Maine member of the National Democratic committee. Two years ago Reed had a plurality over Nathan Cleavas of 925, though Robie carried the ditrict by 1,912. This year the returns indicate that the tables are reversed, and Reed's plurality will exceed Bodwell's. On the Home Run. As the baseball season nears the close the interest in the results of the various contests increases. The following table shows the positions of the clubs in four of the leagues at

GEORGE GOULD MARRIED.

Jay's Eldest Son Weds Edith Kingdon,

the Actress. New York, Sept. 15.—The happiest man in all Christendom last evening was handsome George J. Gould, the crown prince of Wall street. The happiest woman was his beautlful and accomplished bride. Everybody who wants to know what everybody else in the world is doing knows how Miss Edith Kingdon, a Brooklyn beauty of willowy form and queenly carriage, after an education finished at the Elmira Female college, able genius for the stage, as a member of Brooklyn's bon ton amateur dramatic associations. After a successful visit to rural New Jersey as a star in a light company she made her deout four years ago in "Jalma," on the Boston theatre stage, was discovered three years ago by Augustín Daly, and became a star of alnost the first magnitude.

They were married at Irvington, in the resence of all the members of his family, at this afternoon.

The young couple will spend three weeks at Lyndhurst, Jay Gould's summer home, after which George will buy a house in the city and attend to business as usual.

GEORGE JAY GOULD. much pleased to see George married. He has always greatly enjoyed his domestic life, and has never attempted to figure in society. George, on the contrary, has been somewhat of a man about town, and his father was very anxious for him to settle down. The young man's choice is in every way satisfactory to the family. Mr. Gould's friends say he fairly beamed when he entered his office yesterday. He had not forgotten the hug the young lady gave him when she landed on the wharf at Irvington the day before.

A LIVELY RACE RIOT.

Sons of Italy and of Erin Agree to Disagree.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 20.-Race hatred was the cause of a riot yesterday between a number of Italian and Irish residents of the Fourteenth ward, this city. The quarrel resulted in the shooting of Patrick Constantine and the fatal injury of "Paddy" Rocco, an Italian, whose head was crushed in with an ax. The riot was the sequel to an attack made on Joseph Vernard on Saturday even Vernard had incurred the wrath of his ighbors on account of his marriage to an Irish woman. On his road home he was held up against a building and terribly beaten. Vernard claimed to have recognized among his assailants Mike, John and Pat Daly. The victim dragged himself home more dead than alive. Yesterday afternoon a gang, headed by the Dalys, demanded admission to Vernard's house. On being refused admission they burst open the door. Then followed a scene of riot and confusion. The frightened Italians were driven in every direction by the intruders, who numbered about twenty. "Caddy" Rocco finally turned on his pursuer, Mike Daly, fighting him savagely, when one of the gang struck Rocco on the head with an axe. His skull was laid open, exposing the brain. His injuries are pronounced fatal. The pros trate form of Rocco, covered with blood, frightened the rioters, who fled. A shot was fired into the fleeing mob and Patrick Constantine fell, the ball of a large calibre revolver having entered his back, passing nearly through his body. He died at 9 o'clock. It is not known who fired the shot. The police have five Italians under arrest and are searching for the rest of the mob.

IS THE BEST AND HAS NO EQUAL. Because the wire is stretched the full length of the field before the weaving is com 2 Because any sized wire can be used, and either 2, 3, 4, or 5 double strands can be used, wearing all with equal facility.

3 Because any size, length, or style of picket, or slat, or board, can be used, weaving fancy iron pickets equally well and solid.

4 Because it will make a fence over rough and uneven ground, or up and down hill alike, making as good a fence as on even, level ground; and the machine being adjustable, the pickets are all woven plumb.

5 Because the Monarch machine stretches the wire tighter, thus making the strongest and best wire and picket fence.

9 Because it is the only machine that forces the slat or picket firmly against the wire, thus securing the slat in such a solid and and permanent manner that it cannot be pulled out, and securing the stat in such a solid and and permanent manner that the processible.

10 Because the fence made by this machine will turn all kinds of stock, and is much stronger than any barb wire fence, and completely obvictes all danger of injury to stock.

11 Because by weaving past the post, and fastening the wire strands to the posts with staples, and not nailing the slats to posts, thus keeping the wood parts from coming in contact with each other, it will not hold the moisture or rot. This is a very important matter, as all boards in board fences soon rot off at post, and occasion continued expense for repair.

12 Because all kinds of old material can be used for making new fence.

13 Because it makes the handsomest, best, strongest, and most durable fence, and is the only first-class, practical fence machine in the world.
