AARONSBURG ITEMS.

The Aaronsburgers were treated to musical sernade on Friday night by a choir of singers from up the road, real nice music too, and that man who said it was a party sawing wood on the hill back of town had no ear for music, either. Sleighing parties and conventions are quite frequent and popular in our end of the valley, but Aaronsburg promises the best convention of the season. Every lady should come, there is lots to eat and good beds in every family. Wm. Moyer and daughters of Freeburg, Lowell Meyer and Prof. Bierly will conduct

Miss Mary Boyer died at her sisters home, Mrs. Guisewite, on Monday morning, of typhoid fever. She was 22 years old. She had been visiting in this county when she took sick. She lived in Union county, where she will be taken for interment.

The Aaronsburg sick-Miss Polly Thomas, Mrs. Weaver, M. Harper, D. R. Foreman and the Burd family. Some of the above had quite a siege of sickness.

Mrs. Moyer, the lady who formerly kept the toll gate at this place, died at her home, about two miles below As-ronsburg, last Tuesday. Also Mr. John Hoy. the oldest man in Miles township, died on Saturday evening, aged 93 years. And the youngest child of Mr. Hostermah, storekeeper at Fiedler, this township, died on Friday morning.

Rev. Deitzler, the Lutheran minister, is having quite a successful revival in this place. There seems to be great in-terest in the success of salvation manifested by all the people hereabouts.

Henry Fry, formerly of the Old Fort, has rented a stand in this place and will open a tin-shop soon.

Mr. Crouse, our enterprising chicken merchant, will move to Lock Haven ere long and engage in huckstering.

Calvin Weaver, of this place, put away twenty-nine hundred dozen eggs last summer, at a cost of eleven cents per dozen, and has just shipped his last cases of eggs the past week, and on the first ots he shipped, he obtained from 23 to 27 cents per dozen, and on his last shipments he received as high as 39 cents per dozen. Thus persons can see what might be made by properly salting down their surplus summer eggs.

week. ----There was a break in the cold spell and it began to thaw on Saturday, and continued thus until Monday with slight rains, when a cold storm set in and turned back to the old thing again. Sleighing came nigh being spoiled but the blizzard fixed it up again.
