FLORIDA.

Mr. George R. Wieland, of Harris township, who has spent several months in Florida, has written a lengthy letter to a friend at Linden Hall, descriptive of that state, from which we are permitted to copy the following extracts:

"I am very well able to understand why people come to Florida to spend the winter. I had an idea that it was always warm and pleasant. It is not so paradise like. One would have to go to Hereafter all subscribers paying the Burmudas to find a climate subject to none of the changes that give rise to such expression as "the vigors of climate." Frost very likely visits about all portions of the state every winter. Bananas are pretty well nipped at all places I have seen at present, and young plants for the early vegetable crop must usually be more or less protected until the 10th to the 20th of Jan. after which time the winter's severe cold snaps are considered about past. Grass grows nearly everywhere in the woods, and is green all winter, while the trees that shed their leaves are few, though vege-tation does not have a bright green as in spring and summer. For weeks at a time, the days are balmy and bright and often you can sit in a room and read and write without a fire, though a warm fire is often necessary to comfort, when not working on even a sunny day. Four weeks ago, began a warm spell that gave us three weeks fine weather; the past four or six days have been foggy, rainy, damp and disagreeable. We have thus far had five cold snaps, lasting from one to five days. About Florida cold, the wind veers around to the N. or N. W., and every one looks for a breath from the snow and ice embraced countries to the north. The thermometer sinks to freezing sometimes, then the coldest spell of this winter, you could see frost on roofs and boards everywhere, though I did not see ice. We had no water out; I got shingles which were well frozen to gether. It had been raining a short time before, as near as I remember, this was about the 15th of Dec. The wind blew hard during the night, on which the frost fell that I speak of. We had no thermometer here, so I do not know what degree it was. The only ice I have seen, I saw on the 3rd or 4th of Jan. It > ida wild is not nice," said a man to me, and that struck me as a shrewd observation. There is something uncouth about it in a wild state. It is the possibilities in the way of production of tropical and chiefly semi-tropical fruits and flowers and plants, and the winter climate that brings it into notice, and all these are not such wonderful things above other countries. The "cracker" boy thinks apples as great a luxury as a Pa. urchin thinks oranges, and they (apples) can be put to many more uses.

A BRANCH RR.

A branch railroad from Coburn to Miliheim, it often seemed to us, would be a project worth figuring on by those locally interested. The grade is very easy, the rails would only need to be light, and the rolling stock could consist of a small engine with an inexpensive passenger coach and a freight car or two. The total cost per mile would hardly be one-third that of the average ordinary stock above mentioned would be sufficient for passenger and freight traffic. The trade from part of Sugar valley, all Brushvalley and greater part of Haines and Penn twp's would be an item besides the convenience to the aforesaid locali-

As there is no rosy outlook for the Milton railroad going thro' Brushvalley -the northern route seeming to be preferred-the trade for such a branch to Millheim would not be interfered with. By estimating the amount of passenger and freight traffic that would use it, a basis might be had to figure on. The Penn'a rr. would permit its freight cars than this that pay, constructed by localities similarly situated. Why not get out a charter for the incorporation of the Coburn and Millheim RR. Co.? there is wealth enough there to put it through.

RIGHT-of-WAY.

The right of-way cases along the railroad between the Gregg and Harris twp. lines are being closed up. The Tressler case, which was to be tried at court last week, was settled, by allowing Tressler $400, which the plaintiff agreed to.
In the case of Mr. Wm. Hennich, for right-of-way over his farm, a short distance east of Old Fort, Esq. Boal and ex-Sheriff Spangler, proceeded to Millheim, on Friday last, to confer with Mr. Hennich, and arranged the matter with that gentleman for the sum of $200, payable n one year without interest.

There is another unadjusted case, that of the Col. Taylor farm, at Old Fort. In this case the demand is considered unreasonably high, which has caused delay

In these cases citizens of Centre Hall are the sufferers mainly as the money is to come out of their pockets.

-People outside of Bellefonte will not feel jealous of the little boom that is in store for the county seat, from the iron works that are to be put in opera. tion there soon-at least there should be no such feeling, for the benefits will be generally felt throughout the county. Mechanics and laborers will feel the good effects-an increased population at Bellefonte will require the erection of new houses, and will bring other enterprises that will add to the business activity of the town and vicinity. But a large increase in the population of Bellefonte will be lastingly felt by our farming population because of the needed local market it will create for produce -increased demand, increased prices. We therefore look forward with much satisfaction to the good that is to result all around, if Bellefonte gets a boom. Many of the ore fields in the valley will be opened to supply the new furnaces from which the owners will realize thousands of dollars and hands will find employment all the year round in localities miles from the county seat.

-All over the state the Republicans are organizing for the spring elections, to strengthen their party by electing none but Republicans to the local offices, and get their party in trim for 1888. ## MILLHEIM.

The protracted meeting in progress in the Evan, church at this place, under the officiation of Rev. Swengle, has become very interesting.

A band of musicians with tin horns passed through our town, we presume on their way to the concert at Aarons-burg, on Saturday afternoon, evidently

AARONSBURG.

The revival meetings in the Lutheran church are still being held, and a goodly number have been converted, and still there are others under conviction who present themselves nightly for the prayers of the church.

Mr. James Lenker expects to raise about a thousand chicks during the coming summer. He has filled his incubator and has besides about a dozen bens sitting.

The convention which was in progress here during the past week, was a grand success in every respect. Great interest was manifested by the people of our staid old town in behalf of a successful convention. It opened with 73 singers on the stage on Tuesday evening and that number was increased to 130 participants ere the closing session. The amount realized for the church, was near a hundred dollars, the proceeds amounted to $120. The two concerts, Friday and Sat-RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE CH'F brday evenings, were first-class and gave entire satisfaction. Lowell Meyer, as is usual, was the centre of attraction at the concerts. Rev. Yearick was president of with great skill. The convention was a pleasure and profit to our people. Potter twp, was well represented. A band (?) from Centre Hall attended the convention on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Adam Stover died at her home in the lower end of Brush valley on Sunday evening. Aged about 70 years. She was a daughter of Henry Stover of this place, and lived most of her life in Aaronsburg.

Elmer Weaver returned home from the Williamsport business college last week, bringing with him a first class business diploma.

The citizens of Aaronsburg showed their general hospitality during the past week in their agreeable style of enteropen and a welcome extended to every-body present at the convention, a kindness which will long be remembered by men and Millheim is the gainer. Mr. Jack Sylvas has moved his eating saloon and confectionery store to that dull town up the road, where he must expect to Mrs. Aaron Weaver has been confined

A number of ministers are in attendance to deliver addresses, and vocal music is rendered by the choirs to add to the attractions of these meetings.
