The Governor of Tennessee has signed the bill submitting a Prohibition amendment to the people. The amendment will be voted upon next September. The Sultan of Morocco has prohibited the sale or purchase of intoxicants in his dominions, and has also abolished the use of tobacco. The Kansas Legislature has passed a law for the suppression of the drug-store-saloon. The act goes into effect March 30. One hundred and three out of one hundred and twenty-one towns in Massachusetts have voted for no license.

The following is one of the thrilling incidents of last week's terrible flood in Dakota:

D. M. Kennedy, his wife, and three children are held on Sable Island by the flood, and for six days have been living on such food as they saved from the water. There is no hope of rescuing them until the flood subsides, and their friends are distracted. They can be seen through field glasses occupying a nest built in limbs of trees, over three miles from shore.

The United States is nearly the only great country increasing its iron production to-day. As compared with 1885, Great Britain shows a decline in production of 379,992 tons, Germany of 411,972 tons, France of 102,495 tons, Belgium of 15,766 tons and Sweden of 10,000 tons. On the other hand, the United States increased its production 1,640,917 tons.

The contrast between the United States, Germany and Great Britain for the two years is as follows:

WANTS A BOUNTY ON SNAKES.

A Harrisburg correspondent for a city paper says that "among the strange requests made for legislation is a letter received by Senator Wolverton last week from Northumberland county. The writer thereof is a lady. She refers to the bill which has passed the House, repealing the scalp act, except that portion referring to wolves and wildcats, and in conclusion she makes a pathetic appeal to the Senator to have a clause inserted for the protection of the people from snakes. She is of the opinion that a bounty on snakes would be a blessing to the country. Well, who would have expected a woman to urge the passage of such a bill.

$2.50 FOR 35 CENTS.

A GREAT OFFER MADE BY THE MELLIN'S FOOD PEOPLE, OF BOSTON, MASS.

In order to advertise "MELLIN'S FOOD," the following offer is made to readers of this advertisement: On receipt of Thirty-five Cents, Doliver, Goodale & Co., proprietors of "MELLIN'S FOOD," will mail to any address two beautiful lithographed water-color engravings and a copy of "Smiling for Little Children," a magazine crowded with charming pictures and exquisite stories for the little ones. These engravings are by Ida Waugh, the greatest of American child artists, and Bongerard, of Paris, whose radiant child faces are known in every quarter of the globe. One, an exquisite picture of rare excellence, represents a lovely infant, with a face as beaming as the morning; the other is a young miss in school, book in hand, puzzled over a difficult lesson. They are now selling in New York city at One Dollar and Twenty-five Cents apiece. They are pronounced by artists to be works of unusual merit. They offer to be with the beautiful "Smiling" for the nominal price of Thirty-five Cents. The offer is absolutely limited to 100,000 pairs of pictures. When these are gone the supply will be exhausted for the season. As a mother's gift to her girl or boy, nothing could be more appropriate or acceptable. "MELLIN'S FOOD" is advertised only on the inside of the "Smiling" covers. All orders should be addressed to Doliver, Goodale & Co., Proprietors of "MELLIN'S FOOD," 40, 41, 42 and 43 Central Wharf, Boston, Mass.

REPORTORIAL CHECK.

How a Young Press Representative Entertained Two Children of Royalty.

The New York Times says that when the Princess Louise, accompanied by her brother Prince Leopold, visited Niagara Falls about seven years ago, she was for the first time acquainted with the quality of a genuine American reporter's check. Half a dozen lackeys and a score of Canadian newspaper men accompanied the distinguished tourists from Montreal. Two Buffalo reporters were at the Prospect House, adjacent to the Horseshoe Falls, to meet the visitors. One of the Montreal reporters, apparently the chosen leader of the Canadian press delegation, patronizingly offered to take the American knights of the pencil under his wing. He proudly affirmed that he was "solid," with the man who looked after royalty's baggage. "Thank you, old boy, I guess we can get along," said one of the Buffalo reporters, a handsome, cheery and gentlemanly lad to whose check the flush of diffidence had never come. When Prince and Leopold drove up to the hotel lackeys and the Canadian reporters respectfully drew back and uncovered their heads. The breezy young American reporter advanced to the carriage, tipped his hat gallantly, and gracefully assisted the Queen's daughter to alight.

"O, where are the falls?" the Princess exclaimed with the enthusiasm of great, but long-deferred, expectations. The young man from Buffalo, coolly assuming that the question was directed to him personally, said: "The best sight can be obtained a few rods down the road. Allow me to drive you to the falls." Bowing pleasantly to Prince Leopold, the young Buffalonian, placed himself at the Princess' side, and by that rare and irresistible nerve force that forms the basis of monumental cheek, he impelled the two children of royalty, to trudge down the dusty road with him. "These are the falls. What do you think of them?" said the reporter as they reached a commanding eminence on the river's bank.

"Very fine," said Leopold. "Beautiful! Grand! Sublime!" said the Princess, earnestly. "What a wonderful manifestation of power!" "Yes, it is an impressive sight," responded the reporter, with an effort to place himself en rapport with the Princess. For several minutes the trio stood looking at the great cataract, and a few more adjectives were uttered. The consequenceless interviewer replied his arts skillfully and succeeded in putting both the Prince and Princess in very good humor. He supplied them liberally with "facts" concerning the falls, the whirlpool, the suspension bridge and table rock, near which they stood, and he threw in one or two neatly-phrased funny stories by way of seasoning. "By the way, who are you?" said Leopold after he had laughed for the fourth or fifth time at the reporter's drolleries. "O, I am a reporter for the Buffalo," said the young man with beaming frankness.

"What a reporter!" exclaimed the Prince in a tone of alarm. "But you are not a bit like other reporters," said Louise, graciously, as her glance turned instinctively to the group of Canadian reporters who were waiting patiently to witness the disappearance of the cheery young American. "I am very glad to be recognized for your kind attentions, and I am glad that we met you," concluded the Princess, cordially, meanwhile extending her hand.

"Thank you, Princess," responded the Buffalonian heartily, as he clasped the proffered hand.

"And I am also obliged to you," said Leopold, somewhat stiffly. "That's all right, Prince," responded the reporter genially, as he bent his steps toward the hotel.

CANNED SOUPS.

Millions of Gallons Put Up Annually in the United States. "There are only two or three houses in the country that make a specialty of canned soups," said a manufacturer of the article to a representative of the New York Commercial. "These soups are known all over the world. They are prepared in the most careful manner. The cans are hermetically sealed, and the soups are warranted not to spoil in the torrid zone or the Arctic circle. All that is necessary is to open the can and place the soup on the fire. It does not need to be cooked, merely heated through. It needs no seasoning. The required condiments are put in when the soup is made in the great cauldrons of the manufactory. Your soup sufficiently heated, is removed from the fire, placed in the tureen—and there you are!"

"What quantity of these soups is sold annually?" asked the reporter. "What quantity? It is almost beyond computation. Enough to float the Great Eastern; to fill the Erie canal; to float half a dozen small cities. Last year this house alone made more than 1,700,000 gallons of it. The total soup production of the country—I mean canned soups, of course—runs up into the tens of millions. What kinds of soups are made in this form?" he continued, repeating another question by the reporter. "Every soup known to modern or ancient culinary art."

Never Saw One of His Children.

A genuine Yankee having bored a new-comer with every conceivable question relative to his object in visiting the gold country, his hopes, his means and his prospects, at length asked him if he had a family. "Yes, sir, I have a wife and six children, and I never saw one of them." After this reply the two sat a few minutes in silence, then the inquisitive man began again—"Was you ever blind, sir?" "No, sir." "Did you marry a widow, sir?" "No, sir." Another interval of silence. "Did I understand you to say, sir, that you had a wife and six children living in New York, and had never seen one of them?" "Yes, sir, I so stated it." Another and a long pause. Then the Yankee recommenced: "How can it be, sir, that you never saw one of them?" "Why," was the reply, "one of them was born after I left."

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Greenfield, Mass., May 19, 1886. I have been troubled with rheumatism in one of my knees for years, being at times laid up for several days. Athlophoros has entirely cured me. It has also cured two friends of mine who were the worst cases I ever saw, one of them a young man only 16 years old, who was so bad the doctors gave him up. Two bottles of your remedy entirely cured him.

GEO. W. SPRUN, Mgr Diamond Soap Co. October 14, 1885. Two bottles of Athlophoros cured me of inflammatory rheumatism. My family physician advised me to take it, saying he had done all he could, but could not give me any relief; but Athlophoros drove it away, and I am happy to say it has never come back. My daughter was also cured by half a bottle after suffering the pangs of rheumatism. Mrs. JANE DOWNEY, 24 Pleasant St., Waterbury, Conn.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros, and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism. LEVI L. CLARK. Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c for Pills. Frequent ailments, such as indigestion, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequalled.

HENLEY MONARCH FENCE MACHINE.

HENLY MONARCH FENCE MACHINE

IS THE BEST AND HAS NO EQUAL.

- 1 Because the wire is stretched the full length of the field before the weaving is commenced.
2 Because any sized wire can be used, and either 2, 3, 4, or 5 double strands can be used, weaving all with equal facility.
3 Because any size, length, or style of picket, or slat, or board, can be used, weaving fence pickets equally well and solid.
4 Because it will make a fence over rough and uneven ground, or up and down hill alike, making as good a fence as on even, level ground, and the machine being adjustable, the pickets are all woven plumb.
5 Because the Monarch machine stretches the wire tighter, thus making the strongest and best wire and picket fence.
6 Because any one, man or boy, can operate it, and there are no parts to get out of order and repair.
7 Because it is made of the best materials, and, with proper care, will last a life-time.
8 Because the price is within the reach of every farmer.
9 Because it is the only machine that forces the slat or picket firmly against the wire, thus securing the slat in such a solid and permanent manner that it cannot be pulled out, and breakage is impossible.
10 Because the fence made by this machine will turn all kinds of stock, and is much stronger than any barbed wire fence, and completely obviates all danger of injury to stock.
11 Because by weaving past the post, and fastening the wire strands to the posts with staples, and not nailing the slats to posts, thus keeping the wood parts from coming in contact with each other, it will not hold the moisture or rot. This is a very important matter, as all boards in board fences soon rot off at post, and occasion continued expense for repair.
12 Because all kinds of old material can be used for making new fence.
13 Because it makes the handsomest, best, strongest, and most durable fence, and is the only first-class, practical fence machine in the world.
