LIABILITIES NEAR $60,000.

This community was startled at the close of last week, by rumors of the failure of I. J. Grenoble, a prominent merchant at Spring Mills, which later proved correct. His liabilities, at this writing, are reported at $57,000 with possibility of reaching $60,000.

We are sorry to hear of Mr. Grenoble's misfortune; he was a large and enterspirit of improvement which did much his own loss and injury.

Mr. Grenoble's business operations exgrain house and coal yard. It appears that several years ago he sustained a heavy loss, some $13,000 through a large store in connection with a $1.50, $1.75 up to the best. Lyon & Co. The largest state of the largest st heavy loss, some $13,000, through the failure of another party with whom he had transactions in grain. This was too severe a strain for him, and he battled with all the industry of his nature to overcome it, but it aided materially to bring on the crash and he had to succumb. We hear many regrets from those goods, he sure to call on Lyon & Co. who know him, and who wish it were otherwise-it certainly is a misfortune for his neighborhood as well as for himself, for, could he have weathered the storm, his continuation in business, attended by prosperity, would have been of good to Spring Mills. One of the reasons for Mr. Grenoble's failure was a reckless manner of doing business, reaching beyond his capacity and often paying prices for grain and produce beyond what the markets warranted in order to distance rivals in securing trade. This is not a correct business method and will generally end in financial ruin.

It is said that on about $10,000 of Gren. oble's paper the endorsers deny their signatures, saying they never signed the notes. Mr. Grenoble has left, whether on account of these crooked papers, or not, we are unable to say.

The failure of Mr Grenoble has affected Mr. Bartholmew, of this place, somewhat, as he was security on some of Grenoble's paper. The matter has obliged Mr. Bartholomew to arrange with his creditors upon such a basis that his store will continue under his management and be able to secure his legitimate creditors, which he is desirous to do.
