MR. O'BRIEN EXPLAINS

SATISFIED THAT HE DID THE PROPER THING.

Deriles That He Was Captured By Any Party and Says That Is Just the Reason He Did Not Attend the Meeting.

NEW YORK, June 6 .- The refusal of editor Wm. O'Brien to countenance or attend the great demonstration in Union square Saturday night was the one topic of conversation and argument throughout the city yesterday. Labor circles in particular were greatly agitated and there was a great diversity of opinion as to the propriety and wisdom of his action. There is no doubt on that point in Mr. O'Brien's mind, how ever. He considered it one of the most trying and momentous periods of his life, and of the struggle against coercion, and while he deeply regrets the bitter feelings conquered, and his being placed in a false light, he is fully satisfied that he took the proper course. He attended mass at St. Patrick's in the morning, and in the afternoon took a drive in Central park. On his return to the hotel he was met by a crowd of his friends who warmly congratulated im upon his action.

Speaking of the meeting and his refusal o attend it under the conditions imposed 10, Binghamton 4; Hamilton 7, Toronto 0. by the committee, or at least a few of them Mr. O'Brien said:

"I an very sorry such a wrong construc tion has been put upon my action, and I am at a loss to account for the conduct of the gentlemen who have sought to put me it such an unfavorable light, before the American public. At no time was I more satisfied with the position I have taken than at present. I came here to lay the case of the Luggacurran tenants before American public, but more especially did I appeal to the Irish and Irish-American element, and am not one bit afraid to trust my case to their verdict. Every Irish nationalist, both in this city and elsewhere, will thoroughly understand my position and indorse

the stand I have taken. "I was asked to indorse Mr. George's theories and admit that that was the principle advocated by the National league, a supposition that I repudiate because I know the contrary to be the fact. With regard to the statement that I objected to attending the same meeting presided over by John McMackin, who acted as chairman of Mr. Tynan's lecture a few day's ago I desire to say that I have nothing personally against either of these gentlemen, and I feel reasonably sure that no one knows that better than Mr. Tynan and Mr. McMackin. But when I acted in this matter I did not express my own sentiments. I am here as the representative of Mr. Parnell and the Irish people, and everything I do or say reflects on the men the other side of the Atlantic, no matter how I feel. They should not forget that at the present moment the London Times is recking with the cry of 'Parnellism and crime,' and claims that the national movement is supported mainly by the physical force movement. If I spoke at the meeting with McMackin, who presided at Mr. Tynan's lecture, the London Times would have been fully vindicated."

"It was undoubtedly the most important moment of my life," pursued Mr. O'Brien "Had I attended that meeting the coercion bill would have become a law in very short order. The Irish parliamentary party would have been ruined. Mr. Parnell's hands would have been tied, and I would have been consigned to well-merited

"There is one thing about that matter," "that I consider I have been shamefully used over. And that is the point concerning Dr. McGlynn. I understand that it was stated from the meeting that I refused to attend because he was a speaker. Now that is absolutely false. I have as much respect for Dr. McGlynn as any one else, and would be glad to speak from the same platform with him, without engaging in any religions or political controversy. I have been placed in a very false position in this matter. "Another outrageous statement was continued Mr. O'Brien, with warmth; "that I had been captured by a gang of politicians from Tammany hall. Now, there's where the trouble all lies. I object to any one capturing me, and think I have sense enough to avoid such. I have been captured by no party. We did not come hear to lay our case before the democrstic party, the republican party or the labor party, but before the whole world, irrespective of party or politics, and if any ring of politicians tried to make capital out of our mission here on behalf of humanity I would not hesitate to denounce it in the rounaest terms. "The next four months," concluded Mr O'Brien, "will be the greatest trial of our lives, and I would indeed be sorry if, through any action of mine here, the glorious future in store for our country was darkened. By the movement on Saturday night I was placed in a false position. I am not sorry I acted as I did and further, I am satisfied to stand by the opinion of the gentlemen who really had charge of the reception to prove whether I was not misinformed when I consented to accept the

The idea of holding an O'Brien demonstration originated with James H. Casserly of the united order of American car-penters and Mr. Crowe of the tailors' union. Mr. Casserly was one of the reception committee. He it was who made the arrangements with Mr. O'Brien in Boston and was to have presided at one of the platforms. In speaking of the unfortunate incident he said: "I agree with everything Mr. O'Brien has said and done in the matter. I think he would indeed have been very foolish if he had allowed himself to be played upon the matter contemplated. I was one of the parties appointed to carry the reception through, and I tell you I would never have introduced the matter in the central labor union, or asked any union to parade, if I thought it was going to be diverted from the purpose originally intended. The intention was to give Mr. O'Brien a reception on Irish matters alone, and not that he should be invited to attend a united labor demonstration. There seems to be a wide difference of pinion among the members of the committee appointed by the central labor union to receive Mr. O'Brien. Chairman George McVey and a majority of the committee are agreed that John McMackin did quite right, while Secretary George E. McQuade and Committeemen Crowe, Clark and O'Shea take opposite views. At various labor meetings yesterday Editor O'Brien was severely condemned by speakers and by resolution and Mo-Mackin and McGlynn were warmly commended.

The Thistle Meets with a Slight Accident in Saturday's Race.

LONDON, June 5 .- The Thistle had her topmast carried away in the Thames yacht club race and was beaten by the Genesta

The course was from the Nore to Dover. The Genesta was the first across the finishing line, the Irex second and the Thistle third, half a mile behind.

The boats at the start had the wind abeam, and crossed the line at good speed. The Thistle immediately forged ahead, and with the aid of a brisk breeze reached the foreland three minutes ahead of her foremost competitors. The wind then died away, leaving the Thistle becalmed. The other yachts were more fortunate in keeping in the wind and passed the Thistle far to the windward. The Thistle again got a breeze, which freshened to a strong wind, and she lowered her topsail and housed her topmast.

The Thistle was gradually overhauling her leaders when the wind fell again, and she was unable to regain her lost ground The Genesta came in first, arriving at 5:46, and the 1rex crossed the line 25 seconds behind her. The Thistle came in five minutes after the Irex, whose topsail was carried away. The wind throughout the race was fitful and varying, and the weather cloudy, with intervals of thunder and light ning.

Hunting for a Man to Lynch Him. St. Louis, June 5 .- While Henry Gaunt, the owner of a large farm near this city, was working in his field with a hired man known by the name of John, a slight altercation occurred and John struck Gaunt over the head with a heavy hoe, inflicting a terrible wound and it is thought fractured the scull. John fled and the whole neighborhood turned out en masse and have ever since been scouring the country for him. If he is captured he will be lynched.

California Takes the Yachting Fever. SAN FRANCISCO, June 6 .- A movement has been started here to form a syndicate to build a yacht to represent California in competing for the America cup. The vessel is to be built here, wholly of California material, upon a local model, and will be shipped to New York in sections and there put together. Isadore Gutte and other shippers and merchants are interested and the success of the scheme is assured.

Jumped From a Fast Train, Madison, Wis., June 6 .- H. Pierick, at prosperous farmer and stock buyer of Drybone township, Iowa county, 40 years of age, jumped through the window passenger train going at full speed in a suburb of Madison, while crazed with liquor, and was killed. He was on his way home from Milwaukee.
