A LESSON IN TOLERATION.

Col. Thos. L. Jones, of Kentucky, an ex-Congressman of national reputation died at Newport in that state. He is truthfully described as "a man of scholarly attainments, chivalrous and elegant and popular speaker, a gentleman of pleasing address and most engaging manners."

In a note written a week before his decease, Col. Jones, after designating a number of friends whom he wished to act as his pall-bearers and giving direc tions for a simple funeral, said:

I die in full faith of the Protestant Episcopal Church, but entirely without prejudice. I love all Christian denominations. I have always had friends to them for many kindnesses. May God bless all mankind, Amen.

A religious sympathy that embraces "all mankind" and a creed that enables a man to die "utterly without prejudice" to the same goal are not so rare as once them nave enough money how to the same goal are not so rare as once them out of the district if they wanted they were, and yet the spirit of the deceased statesman's last utterance conveys

There is no form of bigotry so unreasonable as that which would appropriate to a sect or a class all the felicity of a future life. There is no egotism so stupendous as that which causes its possessor to consider himself and those who think with him as the favorites and all who differ with him as the future victims of the Deity. Faith without prejudice towards others and a charity that includes all mankind are essential elements in all true religion.

The above we copy from the World and may be read with profit by some parties whom we know to use church to build up prejudices.

price it is likely to command. Careful inquiries made by the commercial agencies indicate this quantity to be rather above the average for the present year. The invisible supply, or that which still remains in farmers' hands, is placed at 21,500,000 bushels, as against 28,600,000 bushels a year ago. The quantity in transit, or between the farmers' hands, and that is reported in the visible supply is 11,000,000 bushels, making the entire invisible supply 32,500,000 bushels, as against 35,800,000 bushels a year ago. As an offset to this, however, the visible is great enough to bring the total up to 72,000,000 bushels, against 69,000,000 a year ago. This, with the prospect of a good crop for the current year, the bulk of which is already harvested, indicates that wheat will be neither scarce nor high in price for the coming year,

For six weeks the remaining 6,000 have been carrying on the strike and have lost $442,800, making a total loss in wages of $996,300. The only disposition to create bad feling, that is shown, is among a remant of those who led off last year in a plot to defeat the Democracy. A YOUNG BRIDE'S AWFUL FATE She Becomes Violently Insane Soon After Marriage. HARRISBURG, Penn., July 25 .- One of the saddest cases that have ever come before the public in this city came to light on Thursday last when Mrs. Thomas Waiters, of Reading, a bride of but three weeks, was brought here to be placed in the asylum for the insane in this city as a hopeless lunatic Bix weeks ago she formed the acquaintance of her husband and after a hasty courtship was given a grand we ding, as her parents are wealthy people. While on their wedding tour the unsuspecting husband, who is from Boston, discovered unmistakable signs of insanity, and last Saturday, while at a picnic, the young lady became very violent, but when taken to her home recovered her usua composure. She became so irrational on Sunday, smashing the furniture and wrecking everything in the house she could lay her hands on, that it was found necessary to confine her in the Berks county jail, where she was kept until brought

While in jail no amount of persuasion could prevail upon her to keep any clothng on whatever, as she tore into shreds every stitch put on her body. On Wednesday morning the time decided upon to remove her to this place, it was with the greatest difficulty that her mother got her to wear a dress. When she alighted from the carriage at the Reading depot, she again became violent, and it was necessary to obtain the assistance of two train men to hold her down. When she arrived at Harrisburg there was no trouble in taking her to the asylum, as she was wholly exhausted.

The only cause assigned for the sudden development of insanity was the taunts and cruel remarks made by some of her neighbors, for when in her cell she frequently cried out, "I don't care what they say," and other similar remarks.

IT CREATES NO SURPRISE, When and Why the K. of L. is Decreas-ing in Membership, PROVIDENCE, July 25 .- The announcenent that the reports of the Massachusetts knights of labor show that the order has lost largely in membership creates no surprise in this state, where the order has exercised but little influence on the course of industry, for many months. When the manufacturers of Rhode Island organized for self-protection about a year ago they resolved that there should be no interference by knights of labor with their business, and to this resolve they have strictly adhered. The manufacturers have in every instance refused to arbitrate or to listen to any suggestion as to arbitration by committees of knights of labor, and they have given unequivocal evidence of their purpose to adhere to this line of conduct. Thus while there has been no lock-out ofknights of labor as such, membership in the order is not a recommendation to promotion in the mills, and the acceptance of office in a knight of labor assembly is considered as standing in the way, not exactly of employment, but of an employer's favor and confidence. This is the actual situation in the great industries of this state, and apparently also of Massachusetts, and it is not surprising, therefore, that there is a decrease in membership.

Trouble Over Boulanger.

Paris, July 24 .- M. Paul de Cassagnac has denied emphatically the report published by La France that eighty-four generals had proposed a coup d'etat to General Boulanger, and has challenged La France to publish their names. The editor of La France then declared that with General Ferron's permission he would publish their names. Upon this Cassagnac printed an article headed "Coward, Liar," in which he made a fierce attack upon the editor of La France. The result of this last ebullition has been to bring a statement from Deputy Laur, admitting that he was the author of the letter himself, and he promptly challenged Cassagnac to fight a duel with him.

Workmen in Demand.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 25 .- Workingmen will be interested to know that there is an unusual scarcity of wageworkers in this city. The brass foundry and machine works have asked the New York comissioners of emigration to send them a lot of fifty workers for their forges. The Pennington Machine works have sent to Cincinnati for fifty machinists. The roadmasters and supervisors of railroads find their track work greatly embarrased by the want of help, and the unusual'amount of building and street pavlng is making demands for 1 bor which cannot be supplied.
