A FEW FACTS.

One of the most important items of your yearly expenses is that of shoe leather. You cannot get along without it, and in buying you can not be too careful--shams and counterfeits in this line are abundant, and it is always the best policy to deal only with honest and reliable parties. For years Powers' shoe store, at Bellefonte, has held a most estimable reputation for fair and square dealing. They also have the reputation for keeping the largest and completest stock of Boots and Shoes to be found in Central Pennsylvania. In prices they can meet any, and beat all in their line. This is "big talk," but facts are facts treated the president of the United and cannot be denied.
