ANCIENT JERUSALEM.

Excavations in Jerusalem, on ground belonging to the Russian government, have resulted in the discovery of remains of the ancient town wall and the position of the gates of the town during the life time of the Saviour, through which the Saviour passed to Golgotha.

HEATING WITH STEAM.

The Beech Creek railroad is heating its cars with steam. The Beech Creek management is progressive and we are pleased to see that they are determined not to have the sin of burned corpses on their souls. The road is carefully managed, and a strict watch kept at all places in the least dangerous.

Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, is at last satisfied to choose successor to Mr. Beecher. Rev. Charles A. Berry, an English clergyman, is the man. So favorable was the impression made on the members of the church by his first two sermons that the next Sunday there was a rush to hear him at each service, and hundreds were obliged to remain standing. For the first time since the great Brooklyn preacher occupied the pulpit the historic building seemed to be itself again. Anything, only so it is English, you know.

WAS HE TOO ENTHUSIASTIC?

After the eloquent and non-partisan addresses of the Hon. H. C. McCormick, H. C. Parsons and R. P. Allen, in connection with the Bucktail reunion, it was, to say the least, unfortunate that Dr. W. C. Doane, with all the zeal of Foraker and the Ohio campaign in his mind should come back and wave that "bloody shirt" here. As Mr. Parsons said: Those flags are here and they are going to stay here." Because loyal Democrats, as well as patriotic Republicans, have so decided.

The above is taken from the Gazette and Bulletin, the leading republican organ of Williamsport and displays more courage and good sense than is found in the republican organs of our section. We admire a journal that is not afraid to criticize the frothings of hot headed party leaders. We believe in decency in everything and especially in politics. The hog that wallows in the mire always dirties himself.

SPURGEON, THE GREAT BAPTIST DIVINE, WITHDRAWS FROM HIS CHURCH.

London, Oct. 27.—Mr. Spurgeon has withdrawn from the Baptist union. In announcing his decision to withdraw and replying to his critics, he says: "To pursue union at the expense of the truth is treason to Jesus. To tamper with His doctrine is to become traitors to Him. We have before us the wretched spectacle of professedly orthodox Christians publicly avowing union with those who deny the faith, call the fall of man a fable, and deny the personality of the Holy Ghost."

Replying to the question why he does not start a new denomination, he says that it is a question for which he has no liking, that there are enough denominations already and that if another were formed the thieves and robbers who have entered the other gardens walled around would enter it also, so nothing would be gained.

Baptists generally regret Mr. Spurgeon's decision and are urging him to reconsider it.

PROGRESS BETTERWARD.

One of the best evidences of progress among the people is the constant increase in the use of non-poisonous medicines. Not only has the old faith in poisonous compounds declined but people have less faith in health disturbing articles. They don't like to vomit or physic or salivate themselves as formerly. Experience has taught them better. They have learned that it is not necessary to kindle one fire in order to extinguish another; or to produce medicinal disease with poisonous drugs, in order to cure a natural one. They see every day not only how fruitless drug-gings, but how completely cures are made and health perfectly restored by the mildest of doses and remedies. For thirty years Dr. Humphrey's has been proclaiming "The Mild Power Cures" and his Specifics have not only been scattered everywhere but have come into daily use in tens of thousands of families all over the land. For the young, the feeble, the ailing, to the wise and observing, they are a constant source of refuge and recovery. Scarcely a disease known among men, or animals even, but has its own antidote and cure, among his Specifics. The suffering relieved, the health restored and the lives prolonged and usefulness extended by these simple inexpensive Humphrey's

A TERRIBLE LAKE DISASTER.

The Steam Propeller Vernon Goes to Pieces in a Storm.—Twenty-two Lives Lost.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31.—The first intelligence reached here last night by the steamer Superior of the loss of a large passenger steamer, supposed to be the Northern Michigan line, off Manitowish, Wis., with all on board. The Vernon had on board a crew of twenty-two men and several passengers, the exact number not being known, and it is supposed that all hands perished. It was about 10 o'clock in the morning when the first signs of the wreck in the shape of floating cargo and furniture, were seen. About an hour after the vessel was sighted, on some of the occupants were almost exhausted, while others signalled the Superior.

Capt. Moan, of the Superior, said yesterday: "To pass one man on a raft appealing for our help, another dying of exposure, and a small boat in which we could see one woman and three men hailing us with a coat stuck upon an oar, all being tossed about in a terrible sea, without our being able to assist them, was heartrending in the extreme."

"We were fighting for our lives, our steamer having become disabled at sea. With the exception of the cook, our entire crew of sixteen men, even to the engineer, were down below, some of them steering the vessel with a temporary tackle which we had rigged up, while the others were trying to repair the breaks. Our tiller had become disconnected from the rudderpost, leaving us at the mercy of the seas until we managed to rig up a temporary tackle. With this we managed to keep our vessel out of the trough of the sea and before the gale. It was three hours before we had made repairs so we could handle ourselves, and then were out of sight of wrecked men."

"The cooks on deck were the first to call our attention to the wreckage. Among them being and life-preservers here and there. One man said he counted thirteen life-preservers, and I know it must have been a passenger boat. We passed so near some of the life-preservers that they might have been picked up. I was the only one on the deck part of the time. When six miles east-northeast of Manitowish the cook, who had been keeping a look out, called me on deck with the information that a raft could be seen with a man on it. I could plainly see the man waving to us. He was standing upright on a raft which was about half a mile off between us and the shore, and the sea was washing over it. It appeared about twelve feet square and as if it might be the top of a cabin. "Poor fellow, he must have thought it cruel for us to pass by and leave him to his fate. Ten minutes later we sighted another raft about a half mile inside of us. It was much smaller, apparently not more than 4 by 5 feet and looked like a piece of bulwark. On it was lying a man, who, although alive, probably did not discern us, as he was too far gone. We could see his head as his frail little float was tossed about in the sea as though he was about dead."

"We saw a yawl with three men and one woman a little further south. There may, however, have been more of them lying down in the boat, the three we saw being on the seats. One of the men was standing holding his ear with his coat swinging to attract attention. Their hearts must have been gladdened in their expectation of help from us. How inhuman they must have thought us when we vessel toward them, but with our steering gear disabled we could not steer our vessel, and there was nothing for us to do but to drop his head as his frail little float was tossed about in the sea as though he was about dead."

"There is a possibility that a large schooner coming up the lake after us might have picked up the persons in the boat. She was three or four miles astern of us and I could see through the glass that she was heading towards them, but she may have been bound for Manitowish and could have passed without seeing them. "There was little possibility that she could have taken the men off the raft, and it is doubtful if she could pick up the yawl in such a sea. If she could get close enough to throw a line she scudded by, and they hold it, there might be a chance for them. It was as heavy a sea as I ever experienced in all my life on the lakes. Just to give you an idea of it the Sandusky, which we had in tow, sometimes buried herself so that only half of her masts could be seen. Once she stayed under so long that I thought she was gone."

"A singular coincidence is that the Vernon was the vessel which took the place of the Champlain in the Northern Michigan line, and had only been on the line since Aug. 1. She was one of the finest furnished passenger boats on the lakes and had a valuation of $75,000."

MR. POWDERLY. He is Accused of Resorting to Crooked Work to Carry His Point. NEW HAVEN, Oct. 31.—The Union to-day printed an article showing how General Master Workman Powderly managed to retain his position at the head of the knights of labor at the recent convention held in Minneapolis. The Powderly faction feared that there would be a strong effort to oust him. All of the local assemblies in this district were suspended some time before the convention for the alleged reason that they were delinquent in paying their dues.

It was well known that District Master Workman Hume, who is opposed to Powderly, would, in the ordinary course of things, be elected representative to the convention. But the suspending scheme prevented his opposition having any effect on the convention. This same scheme was used with good effect in other cases, and as little representation as possible was accorded to the opposition to Powderly. The local assemblies have recently been notified with astounding coarseness that their suspension was simply a "clerical error." The end of the matter is not yet known.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—The twenty-four hour test of the double turret monitor Terror was completed at noon yesterday, to the entire satisfaction of Chief Engineer Potts, Assistant Engineers Abel, Autrade, Zorn, Hull, Young, and Rowbotham, United States Navy. The test was as severe as the methods of modern science could make it. For hours the boat remained tied up to the dock, her engines straining and working at a high pressure. The result of the test will be forwarded to the navy department and the contract of Cramp & Sons will then be complete. The boat when finished will be one of the most perfect and well equipped monitors in the navy.

More Clerks to be Dismissed. WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Fairchild Saturday authorized the dismissal of sixteen $1,500 clerks in the New York custom house who had failed to pass the civil service examination for promotion. This is in addition to the thirty-three clerks in the custom house who were

COMMON SENSE REASONS WHY THE IMPROVED HENLY MONARCH FENCE MACHINE IS THE BEST AND HAS NO EQUAL.

- 1 Because the wire is stretched the full length of the field before the weaving is commenced. 2 Because any sized wire can be used, and either 2, 3, 4, or 5 double strands can be used, weaving all with equal facility. 3 Because any size, length, or style of picket, or slat, or board, can be used, wearing fancy iron pickets equally well and solid. 4 Because it will make a fence over rough and uneven ground, or up and down hill alike, making as good a fence as on even, level ground; and the machine being adjustable, the pickets are all woven plumb. 5 Because the Monarch machine stretches the wire tighter, thus making the strongest and best wire and picket fence. 6 Because any one, man or boy, can operate it, and there are no parts to get out of order and repair. 7 Because it is made of the best materials, and, with proper care, will last a life-time. 8 Because the price is within the reach of every farmer. 9 Because it is the only machine that forces the slat or picket firmly against the wire, thus securing the slat in such a solid and permanent manner that it cannot be pulled out, and breakage is impossible. 10 Because the fence made by this machine will turn all kinds of stock, and is much stronger than any barb wire fence, and completely obviates all danger of injury to stock. 11 Because by weaving past the post, and fastening the wire strands to the posts with staples, and not nailing the slats to posts, thus keeping the wood parts from coming in contact with each other, it will not hold the moisture or rot. This is a very important matter, as all boards in board fences soon rot at post, and occasion continued expense for repair. 12 Because all kinds of old material can be used for making new fence. 13 Because it makes the handsomest, best, strongest, and most durable fence, and is the only first-class, practical fence machine in the world.
