D. C. Keller shipped another car load of stock this week. Pomona grange met here on Tuesday, with a large attendance. Fred Decker, of College, gave us a shake of his hand, Monday. Thursday is groundhog day. You can't see it with a smoked glass. Jim Coldren is the boss of the season—he had a fellow look at the eclipse of the moon with a smoked glass. Prof. Lowell Meyer will delight the Snyder county people this week as he is billed for a concert at Middleburg. Little Johnny Miller who fell from a mow some time ago and sustained a fracture of the skull is able to be about again.

The argument for a new trial for Johnson, the convicted murderer of the Culveys, has been postponed until the 13th of February. Trains on our railroad, last week, were required to have two engines to overcome the snow drifts, and then found it difficult to get through. Bushman & Kreamer received another lot of new sewing machines this week. They keep a complete line of the best machines and at the lowest cash price. The pike from here to Spring Mills is filled with snow drifts at a number of places and has been abandoned; driving through fields being more convenient.

The hotel at Spring Mills, lately vacated by Mr. Bibby, remains closed and has not yet been rented by any one. Mr. Levi Houston, of Montgomery station, is the owner. Odenkirk's hotel had a large run of sleighing parties this winter, a party nearly every night of the week, most from Bellefonte and some all the way from Lewistown. Miss Carrie Harper, a bright and interesting young lady, of Bellefonte, who has been visiting friends at this place the last week, returned home on Monday evening. It is fortunate that the grain fields are well covered with snow, if bare the fierce storms and icy blasts of last week and week before would undoubtedly have done much injury to the wheat crop.

Mr. W. F. Campbell and Will Lee, of this place, on Thursday night last, had a rough time of it coming from Millheim, having to face the storm. They upset half dozen times and were nigh over come by the cold. From one of our exchanges we learn that some persons have an idea that coal deposits exist in the vicinity of Millheim and expect to sink a shaft one of these days to see what can be found below the surface. Coal, oil, gas and immense beds of bituminous coal may be there, but the only way to settle that is to dig.

We are inclined to think Centre county hunters have not played quite as sharp as related in this paragraph: In New Jersey the law is that for killing deer out of season the sportsman is fined $50, which goes to the informer. The law is evaded, however, in the following manner: Two hunters go out together they kill an equal number of deer and then one informs on the other by both doing this each one receives the other's fine and they lose nothing. The thermometer down to zero with wind blowing like a young cyclone on last Thursday evening kept a number of our young folks in doors, yet a large party gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benner, near the old Fort, where they had been invited to spend the evening. Upon arriving they found the elegant home lighted up and fire glowing to cheer and entertain the guests. The Spring Mills orchestra managed to pull through the heavy weather to enliven the occasion. Parlor games, dancing and other amusements were the means of spending a pleasant evening and was enjoyed by all present.

At the Altoona District Conference of the M. E. church, Presiding Elder Leidy's report stated that during the year new churches had been built at eight different points within the district, among them Spring Mills and State College. Twelve churches in the district had been renovated or improved. Milesburg, Philipsburg and Bousburg churches are among these. The reports given by the several pastors show a steady advance in missionary spirit and contributions which Bishop Andrews considers very gratifying. It was decided that the next district conference should be held in Philipsburg, Dr. Evans, on behalf of the Methodists of that town, having extended a cordial invitation which was cordially accepted.

A jolly crowd of young folks of Bellefonte took possession of Meyer's hotel on last Friday evening. They found it rather unpleasant weather to be sleighing as the cold blasts of the "blizzard" were felt in every nook and corner, but such things never interrupt a sleighing party. They found a royal repast awaiting them to which due attention was given. The party spent a pleasant evening and returned home as the wee small hours of morning were approaching. The following names are from the register: Misses Brew, Butts, Gordon, Harper, Harris, Aikens, Montgomery and Deim. The gentlemen were J. M. Bullock, G. B. Johnston, Frank Cunyngnam, J. J. Powers, Jr., Geo. L. Jackson, Ed. Swartz, W. F. Harris and Chas. Richards.

OUR BLIZZARD.

The blizzard that visited all over, did not miss Centre county. It howled for eight days, without interruption, until last Saturday night, when it ceased. It was an unusual storm, and carried with it icy coldness that penetrated everything. We never had such a storm before. The trains, freight and passenger, on our railroad, found hard work to get through. For one or two days there were no freights, and the passenger trains on Friday, coming from Lewisburg, were eight hours late.

The byroads were badly drifted everywhere, and it was difficult for sleds to get through. There were several cases of persons well nigh being overcome by the cold. A man coming up the pike in a sled held up at the Fort and was too stiff with cold to go in without assistance. We heard a similar case of a boy almost frozen while driving on a sled. Ex-representative Rhoads, while within a few miles of his home, near Earlstown, got stuck in a snow bank while the storm was running fiercest, and was not able to extricate himself with his team, as the cold had almost rendered him helpless; fortunately farmer Campbell, living near observed his struggles and came to his rescue.

LITTLE BLIZZARD.

The roads in all quarters are blocked with snow drifts. Our blizzard quit howling Saturday night, and took a rest Sunday and Monday. Must have been awfully tired. Some fellow is actually said to have looked at Saturday night's eclipse of the moon with a smoked glass and then reported "couldn't see nothin'." Our valley has been howling with musical conventions since Christmas, almost every nook and corner having such a treat. Accept our offer for two papers, if you want cheap reading—the Times, Press or World along with the Reporter—the lowest clubbing rates in the state.

A HUNTINGDON COUNTY MAN HORRIBLY MALTREATED.

Huntingdon, Pa., Jan. 26.—A dastardly outrage was perpetrated in Anderson township this morning, which will probably result in the death of the victim, Henry Merritts, an old woodsman. About 1 o'clock three masked men entered the humble hut of Merritts and demanded to be shown where his wealth was concealed. For several years Merritts has been engaged in the lumbering business and had accumulated about $4,000, which was secreted in the basement of his dwelling. His assailants bound and gagged him, and falling in their efforts to extort a confession by these means, they held his bare feet to a fire and otherwise maltreated him in a most shocking manner. Finally becoming unconscious, his assailants left him and searched the hut for his hidden wealth. Beneath the flooring they found over $1,500 hidden in a flour sack. But this was all they secured, as the other money belonging to him was hidden a short distance from the house. Merritts was found this morning still bound and gagged, and owing to his advanced years, it is thought the maltreatment he received will result in his death.

BANQUETING RAILROAD CONTRACTORS.

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 26.—To-night the citizens of Bellefonte tendered to Messrs. Collins, John Reilly and James Scott, of Philadelphia, and J. King McLanahan, of Hollidaysburg, and others associated with them in the construction of the Bellefonte and Buffalo Run railroad, which opens up one of the most prolific iron ore fields of Pennsylvania, and who to-day started the fires in the great furnace of the Bellefonte furnace company, a testimonial banquet at the Bush House, Gov. Beaver and Ex-Gov. Curtin presided at either end of the festive board. The toast of the evening, "The Health of Our Guests," was proposed by Governor Beaver and responded to by John G. Love. Governor Curtin gave an eloquent and entertaining description of the first furnace, and other prominent gentlemen spoke on the industries and resources of Bellefonte and Centre county.

INSTALLATION.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle of Spring Mills, installed the following officers for the next six months: East Chief, D. Burnett; Noble Chief, Dr. G. L. Lee; Vice Chief, J. I. Condo; High Priest, J. E. Reber; Venerable Herald, W. A. McClellan; S. Herald, W. A. Kennedy; Master of Records, J. A. Grenoble; Clerk of Exchequer, J. M. Miller; Keeper of Exchequer, Dr. Allison; Worthy Bard, E. Housman; Chamberlain, J. W. Lee; Esquire, N. S. Weaver; Esquire, W. Alexander; Guardian, H. O. Duck; 2nd Guardian, J. J. Taylor.

TIME CHANGED.

Rev. Yearick desires us to announce a change of time for the musical convention to be held for the benefit of the Aaronburg Ref. church, from 14 to the 21 Feb. A general invitation is extended to all singers to attend. Convention to open evening of 21.

NO CONVENTION.

The musical convention, which was to have been held at Aaronburg, we are authorized to say, has been dropped.

MAKING IRON.

The first cast of iron at the new furnace of the Collins Brothers was made Wednesday morning at 9 20 o'clock. The result is highly satisfactory to all concerned, the iron being of splendid quality. Everything at the furnace is moving on most auspiciously. The Messrs. Collins and all connected with the establishment were more than pleased with the result thus far accomplished.—News.

THEY MUST PAY FREIGHT.

An order has been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company directing that on and after February 1st all packages or baskets sent over the road must be properly stamped at the following rates of charge: "All articles weighing less than 10 pounds will be carried for 5 cents; articles weighing between 10 and 25 pounds will cost 10 cents; while for those weighing between 25 and 50 pounds the charge will be 15 cents."

PUBLIC SALES.

March 16.—Farm stock and implements of Mrs. John Rishel. March 21.—Farm stock and implements, J. O. Grossman, 14 miles west of Millheim.

SPRING MILLS.

The latest—a wedding in the air. A new paper is about to be printed by A. L. Auman, located on the hill and will be called "Agents Advocate." Mr. D. Eisenhart, father of our creamery man, and Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Eisenhart's mother, are visiting at this place. The sleighing party to Millheim was a success, both in number and enjoyment. Work has commenced on the new Reformed church in the way of cutting the timber which will be taken from the Grove tract on Nittany mountain.

Playing cards on Sunday has become a Sunday's practice by some of our young men; better stop this kind of business. Rev. Fischer has closed the meeting at the Union church and will commence at George's valley church on Thursday evening. John Houts and family, of Sycamore, Ill., formerly of Brushvalley, are visiting friends in this section. James Evans and family are making arrangements to celebrate their golden wedding on Monday next. Dr. Allison, please do not disturb the blacksmith so early in the morning—bells. The carpenters are busy arranging the seats in the new church which they expect to dedicate Feb. 19. Lock boxes have been placed in the P. O. by our enterprising P. M., Wm. Pealer.

The Evangelical meeting is still in progress doing a good work. Chas. Woodling has been successful in securing the mail route.

NINETY VICTIMS AT LEAST.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 26.—It is now thought that the victims of the Wellington mine explosion, which took place two days ago, will number at least ninety.

New dress goods.—Garman's.

New Calicoes and Century cloth.—Garman's. With all the excellent sleighing we had this winter, there does not appear to have been much fun about it yet—we have not learned of a single upset or spillout. Philip Durst on last Saturday morning found one of his most valuable cows dead in his stable. The cow seemed to be all right in the evening and had eaten all her food during the night. Where do you get your clothing and what must you pay for them? is a very frequent question asked. Try Fleming, the tailor, Bellefonte, as he keeps up with the styles; can give you a good fit and his prices always the most reasonable. There is no accounting for the pranks of the weather. From a cold howling blast all last week, that drove the chills through thick walls, it suddenly veers around on Monday to calm and moderate, with a slight drizzle of rain in the atmosphere.

The Clearfield gas well is now down 2,500 feet and light veins of gas and one of oil have been passed. It will be drilled to the depth of 2,900 feet in the hope of finding something better, and then torpedoed at the point where gas and oil were struck. Mrs. Jane Van Tries, died 25, at Warrior's Mark, aged 88 years. Her father, Andrew Robinson, was one of the first settlers of Huntingdon county, having located on the Little Juniata during the Revolutionary War. Mrs. Van Tries was postmistress at Warrior's Mark for thirty-eight years. One curious thing is related of the blizzard in Texas. While the storm was raging nine men dug their way out of prison to freedom, but when they encountered the blizzard one of the prisoners voluntarily returned to the jail, preferring imprisonment with safety to liberty with death before him. James Johnson, of Atlanta, recently sued Bradstreet's Mercantile Agency for defamation of character in publishing him to the trade. He lost his case in the lower court, but on appeal to the Supreme Court he has obtained a decision to the effect that Bradstreet's business is not a privileged one. Under this ruling a jury gave him a verdict against Bradstreet & Co. for $5000.

Our neighbor, Wm. Bible, down the road, a few days ago, purchased some fine bronze turkeys for breeding purposes. These were put above his pig-pen, where he thought no one knew of them, and for safety against the nocturnal sneak thief. But next morning the turkeys were not seen, some proving their having discovered the nest, and others appropriated for other uses. Our aged and esteemed friend, Bible, has been greatly annoyed by thieves. During one of last week's cold nights, a dog, accompanied by a man, paid a visit to one of the outbuildings of Jacob Runkle, across the valley, and next day Mr. Runkle found some flour, a lot of beef and mince pies missing. It seems the man got away and unkindly left the dog behind, which had to gnaw its way through the windows. Man and dog tracks were seen on the snow next morning, but were not followed up. Sam. Lewins, of the Philad. Branch, is busy day and evening waiting on customers. They are after clothing, and know they will get just what they ask for and at the lowest figures. The tailoring establishment is in full blast employing a large force to keep up with the orders. If he can't suit you in ready made goods, his tailor is ready to fit you with a first class suit. Give this establishment a call if in need of anything in the line of clothing. To be a grandmother at 25 is a rare thing—at least it never happened in Centre county, but they have one in Ohio, Mrs. Clarissa Jackson, a buxom colored woman living in Delaware township, Hancock county, has just become a grandmother at the age of 25 years. Mrs. Jackson was married when but 11 years old and while yet in her 12th year gave birth to a daughter. The latter became a wife at 12 years of age and a mother at 13. The child just born is a girl.

A banquet was given, on Friday night last, by the business men of Bellefonte, to the Collins brothers, in appreciation of the enterprises they have planned which are calculated to benefit that town. This conduct on the part of the business men towards the Collinses may strike some of our "business men" (?) as queer, and that instead of a banquet, these enterprising men should have been kicked, cuffed, slandered, misrepresented, opposed, and denounced. That's about the way the "business men" of Centre Hall would do. But, the answer is, you meet such fellows everywhere. No, not everywhere, not always quite as little and low as that.

A DOG SAVES HIS MASTER FROM BEING FROZEN TO DEATH.

George Heeg, a milkman living at East Williamsburg, Long Island, inmate of St. Catharine's Hospital, Brooklyn, waiting to have one of his arms and a leg amputated in order to save his life. During the intensely cold weather last Tuesday night he started to walk from Williamsburg to his home, about three miles. When about a mile from home, and while crossing an open field, he was seized with an epileptic fit and fell on the ice.

He became unconscious and would have frozen to death but for the timely assistance rendered by his faithful dog. The animal found him prostrate on the ice and attempted to recuscitate his master by licking his face and hands, rubbing himself against his master's body and howling dismally. No one seemed to hear or heed the dog; finally, Mr. Heeg recovered sufficiently to sit up, but could not regain his feet, as one leg and arm had become useless. He managed to reach his hat and held it out in front of the excited dog. The intelligent creature understood the motive, and seizing the hat, in his mouth, started at full speed for Mr. Heeg's residence. Reaching the front door he began barking so violently that he aroused one of the workmen employed on the place, and succeeded in making him understand that assistance was needed. The man procured help and followed the dog over the ice for a mile, where Heeg was lying badly frozen and unable to move.

LINDEN HALL.

Mr. D. Hess attended court this week. Prof. P. H. Meyer is off to Baileyville, holding a musical convention. The protracted meeting closed last week. There is an opening for a good blacksmith at Linden Hall. Eimer Campbell will build a new house near his father's, which will be built this spring. Earlstown loses a good citizen and we grieve on. We had quite a lively run off on Tuesday. Thomas Sankler was to the mill, and left his team in the millbed out on the ice and the freight train approached the horses took fright and started for home, leaving the sled near "Squire Potter's" barn, with which they came in contact in making the turn. The horses were found near Henry Potter's tied to the fence. DUCK.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Country produce wanted at Garman's. Eggs and butter wanted at Garman's. New scrim for Curtains.—Garman's. Thousands of yards of new embroideries, Garman's. D. Booser has a fine line of sleigh bells at lowest prices. Weather this week has been milder, with a cloudy sky. The musical convention for Aaronburg, has been recalled. Tax collector Jas. Coldren is stirring up the delinquents about town. Mr. Bible has found his turkeys, they had been sold at the Fort hotel. A protracted meeting is in progress in the Evangelical church at this place. A creamery company has been organized at Millhall, with A. C. Mann as president. Mr. John Foreman, who missed some chickens, has found them, cooped in a strange place. You can have your sale bills printed at the Reporter office for less money than elsewhere. Miss Annie Kellar expects to leave for Lewistown this morning where she will remain a short time visiting friends. A musical convention opens up at Tusseyville on Monday Feb. 13. The class will be under direction of Prof. Lowell Meyer. David Whitmer, the last surviving witness to the authenticity of the Book of Mormon, died in Richmond, Missouri. He had been lingering for several weeks. The pike between Centre Hall and the station, is in bad condition from snowdrifts. Safety demands some should work, which may not cost as much as a bill of damages.

The Methodist congregation of Spring Mills expect to dedicate their new church on Sunday Feb. 19. They have erected a fine building and is a handsome addition to the place. Mrs. Wert, wife of Jesse Wert, of Aaronburg, whose illness we made mention of last week's issue, died on Friday, and was buried on Sunday. She was a daughter of Fred Weaver, dec'd. The Williamsport Breakfast Table will send their paper free one year to every couple that gets married on the 29 of February. All that is necessary is to send your address and proof of the marriage on that date. When you want a good winter suit made to order try Fleming, the tailor, Bellefonte. Heavy winter overcoats in the latest styles and finished with the best trimmings are all the go. Let Fleming take your order. We had the pleasure of shaking hands with our friend, Henry Snider, of Reading, Pa., formerly of Millheim. He says he likes his new location, and has a splendid hotel stand, and now don't need to worry about lice.

While there is good sleighing, the people of this section should avail themselves of the opportunity to have fine photos of Derstine, Lewistown's photographer, who will give special rates to them. Further information of J. W. Wolf, of this place. We had the tail end of a Dakota blizzard on Wednesday night and Thursday, last, and it was a whopper even for a tail end. Now what would the entire body of such a blizzard be if not all broken up on the way before getting here, we guess we'd find other music in the air. George Dietz, insane, aged 71 years of Pleasant Gap, Centre county, Pa., died suddenly in the arms of his attendants on Wednesday morning while being carried from the P. & E. train to the D. L. & W., at Northumberland, for the purpose of taking him to the Danville asylum. Deceased was for many years employed as teamster for Mr. Hang. Mrs. Berry Copekin, living at Campbell's Mines, near Philipsburg, in this county, on Saturday night gave birth to three children, two boys and one girl. They are strong, healthy, well-formed children and are doing well. This is the only instance of the kind which ever occurred in this county.

A HORSE THIEF DELIVERED UP BY THE ANIMAL HE HAD STOLEN!

Middletown, N. Y., January 23.—Near Pine Island, in this county, and also near the New Jersey line, lives R. H. Carr, a well known farmer. A day or two ago Mr. Carr hitched his best horse to a sleigh and drove to Goshen, where he tied the horse under the Hoffman House shed. It was business and got ready to start home. When he returned to the shed his horse and sleigh were gone. After an anxious search around town, without getting any trace of the missing horse, Mr. Carr gave up the pursuit for the night. The thief was a young farm hand, a stranger in this section, who gives his name as William Berry. When he started off with the horse he took the direct road to the New Jersey line. He was not aware that the road he took was that by which Mr. Carr had come to town, and that it led directly to the farmer's house. It was a bitter cold night, the road was badly drifted with snow, and the thief made slow progress in his flight. In the struggle through the snow drifts, the sleigh was upset and badly broken. By the time Mr. Carr's place was reached, nine miles from Goshen, it was near day light, and the thief was perishing from the cold. When the tried horse came to the familiar lane, by which he was wont to go to his comfortable stable, he turned from the highway in that direction. The thief strove with whip and reins and voice to check the animal's deviation from the main road, but the fellow was thoroughly chilled and exhausted, and in this helpless condition the intelligent beast dragged him straight up to Mr. Carr's door. Meantime the noise made in the tug for the mastery between the man and horse had awakened Mr. Carr's son, who came to the door, and at once recognized the horse and sleigh, and formed the conclusion that the rig had been stolen. The thief was now so completely benumbed and subdued by the cold that he made no denial of the impeachment, but only begged for warmth and shelter. He was taken back to Goshen a few hours later and lodged in the county jail to await trial for the offense.

Derstine, Lewistown's photographer, whose work is not surpassed by any in the state, offers special inducements to the people of this section, who should not fail to take advantage of this chance for cheap and fine work. Please call and examine our large stock of cloths and cassimeres suitable for any garment in men's wear—a full assortment of overcoats "READY MADE." "The Campaign of Potiphar McLeray," a humorous story by Richard M. Johnson, "Scylla and Charibdis," an amusing comedy, by Octave Feuillet, and "The Villain Bargof," a dramatic story, by Alexander Kincaid, make the February number of THE COSMOPOLITAN especially readable for those fond of stories. In "A Defence of the Eighth Commandment," in the February number of THE COSMOPOLITAN, Professor H. H. Boyesen makes an interesting as well as powerful plea for international copyright. Why suffer sleepless nights with a distressing cough, while a quarter of a dollar invested in "Beller's Cough Syrup" will give instant relief.

THEY APPEALED IN VAIN.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 31.—When the men employed at the Glendower colliery, near Minersville, came out from work last night they were met at the mouth of the slope by a large crowd of men and women from the adjacent Heckeschersville valley, who besought them to stand by their striking brethren, and offered if they did so to "share their last crust with them." As an earnest of good will the women offered them substantial contributions which they brought them, consisting of bread, meat and potatoes. Little or no attention was paid to the novel offer.

The supreme court of New York City, has decided that a wife has a value ascertainable in damages when her husband is unjustly deprived of her services and society, whether the deprivation is caused by enticing her away from him altogether or inflicting upon her through negligence, such injuries as impair her usefulness as a helpmate and companion.
