THE CENTRE REPORTER, MUSICAL CONVENTION AT TUS-SEYVILLE.

The musical convention which was held in the Zion Evan. church, last week, was a grand feast of song from begining to the end of the sess on which closed with two grand concerts on Friday and Saturday evenings. The opening session was a signal of success as an unusually large class was at once formed, numbering some seventy voices. At the close of the session the class numbered a hundred and twenty-three which is considered the largest held in this county this year. The class was under the direction of Prof. Lowel M. Meyer, to whose untiring efforts the success of the conven-tion was due. Lowel, as we are accustomed to hail him, has been in the musical arena ever since we knew him, yet in this case he made his little debut, as a class instructor and surpassed himself startling humor make him a favorite at once, and his musical talents we dare say have no equal in this section of the State. The class made wonderful pro-A horse dealer from New York sults of their labors were displayed in inent singers from a distance were pre-sent; and Master Leslie Jacobs, of this place distinguished himself by several fine renditions on the cornet, which brought forth applause.

To cut the story short, the convention was a success in every particular. Everybody enjoyed themselves, and the week was one of pleasure, and profit as well. About a hundred and twenty some dolars were taken in, leaving a balance for the church of about ninety dollars, a

THE CENTRE HALL MILLS.

The business of the Centre Hall Roller flouring Mills, in the last six months, in flour, grain, etc., amounted to about $75,000 -or at the rate of $150,000 per year. This is, no doubt, by far, the largest business enterprise in the valley, and | erman, Jr. rats.

LOCAL PROSPERITY.

Our town is keeping pace with the business prosperity generally felt throughout the country. There are double as many general stores here, as there were a few years ago, besides sey eral groceries, and all seem to be enjoying a healthy trade. Many houses have been erected in the last three years, and there are still new ones in contemplation on the 7th, inst., at the age of 49 years to be erected next summer. > AND LEFT IN AN OFFICE ALL NIGHT.

Williamsport, Pa, Feb. 19.—Osceola Mills, Clearfield county, has been in a state of intense excitement over an attempted abduction of Gertie Walker, the 14-year-old daughter of R. J. Walker, proprietor of a planing mill at that place. The girl was out playing with companions on Friday afternoon, and on leaving them started for her home alone. Failing to reach home, her parents became alarmed and searching parties were organized and were out all night seeking for her in all directions. In an old abandoned cellar the child's cap was found, together with pieces of rope and other indications that she had been gagged. The search was continued yester-day morning and resulted in finding the lost girl tied in an office in Osceola Mills, where she had been left by her abduc

DEATH OF MICHAEL MUSSER.

Michael Musser, an old citizen, living a short distance below Aaronsburg, died on Monday morning last, and was buried at Aaronsburg, on Wednesday morning. He was ill for several months, and a farmer by occupation, although he did not busy himself as such for some years, on account of his age. He was a good citizen and an honest man, and a consistent member of the Lutheran church.

BAD ROADS

This time of the year traveling through the valley is difficult and dangerous. In most places sleighing is played out, and have to go it on wheels which is very difficult some places on account of the immense snow drifts which closed up the country roads some time ago.
