FARM NOTES;

KEEPING ROSES IN BLOOM .- AS soon as they have formed their first flowers in the open ground, pinch off the end of the first shoot, and as soon as the rose is fully opened. pick it off. No rose should be left to fade upon the bush, as when so left it exhausts the plant in the formation of seed. As the plants grow, pinch back the ends of the shcots when they have grown six inches, and rub out all puny shoots, thus keeping the plants in a round open bush form. If strong shoots alone are left to grow, they will soon control the strength of the plant, and the flowers will befew and often of imperfect form. Should the season be hot and dry, a mulch of fine, fresh grass or sawdust, or moss from the woods, should be placed over the soil, three inches deep, and at night watered thoroughly, not sprinkled, but wet like a day's rain. The Hybid Perpetuals or Noisettes require this pruning or pluching back, more promptly than the Teas, Bengals or Bourbons.

ALSIKE clover produces seed the first crop, while red clover produces seed for the second crop only. This is due to the fact that the former is ferthized by the honey bee, while the fertilization of the later is dependent upon the bumble bee to a large extent, and these are not sufficiently numerous at the time of the first crop of red clover. These facts are so well known that about a year since bumble bees were shipped in large quantities to a foreign country, where they had not been known to exist.

IT is convenient sometimes to mark tools. This can easily be done as follows: First clean the place wished to be marked and then cover it with a thin layer of beeswax, raising the edge so as to form a basin. Mark the name in the wax with a sharp instrument cutting it through to the steel. When this shall have been done fill the basin with undiluted nitric acid or aqua fortis and let it stand awhile. The longer it shall stand the deeper it will cut. Then wash with water.

An old farmer says that dandelions in pasture form valuable food for cattle, and especially for dairy cows. Some years ago he had two fields, one with him with no more questions in history. few and the other with a great many dandelions. It was found when the cows were put on the field with many of these plants their yield of milk was improved both in quality and quantity. Since then he has planted dandelions in fields laid down in grass in order to improve the pasture, and the effect has teen beneficial.

SPREAD plenty of manure over the asparagus bed in February and allow the melting snow to carry down the soluble matter to the roots. Asparagus shoots come up early, and are on the table before the seeds of some vegetables are in the ground. Soapsuds are excellent for asparagus beds.

You say you want my daughter, said the proprietor of a New York newspaper to a young man who was sitting nervously on the edge of a chair, and wiping his feverish brow with a trembling handkerchief. "Y-yes sir."

"Have you spoken to her on this matter?'

"She-she referred me to you, sir." "Is your affection for her deep and sincere?"

"Sincere!" gasped the young man. "I pledge you my word I haven't slept a wink or eaten a mouthful of victuals for six whole weeks for thinking of her." "George," said the father, after, looking at hun a moment reflectivly. ++1 think you may come into the family. I need a young man of your capabilities to swear to the circulation of the paper.

THEY CALLED IT "BUNCO."-Mr. Gentle, an innocent faced young man, was walking by himself in a shady part of a street one night, when an insinuating stranger approached and accosted him cordially. "Ah, Mr. Morris. Good evening."
