The Lewistown News says that quiet boro' is at last getting life and abounding in spite of some croakers who croaked and choked enterprisers. Glad it is; let the wheels of enterprize go on, everywhere and grind the croakers to powder. We have the same kind of croakers and chokers in Centre Hall, but the town works ahead backed by the REPORTER, in spite of 'em.

Reub Spangler received a curiosity by express this week. It was a box containing a pair of beautiful white rats. Their coat is pure white, the tip of the nose and feet are delicate red, while their eyes sparkle like small purple beads. These rodents are much different from the ordinary common rat; as they are tame and can be handled as pets by children. They are not destructive by any means and when let run about the premises it is said they will drive the other species away.

Last Sabbath, in his sermon on jealousy, Tam Saabath, wound up as follows: "Surely this world is large enough for you and all your rivals. God has given you a work to do. Go ahead and do it. Mind your own business. In all circles, in all businesses, in all professions there is room for straight forward success. Jealousy entertained will not only bedevil your soul, but it will flatten your skull, beamen your eyes, put pinchedness of look about the nostrils, give a bad curl to your lip, and excel from your face the divine image, in which you were created. If you are assailed by jealousy make no answer. Take it as a compliment, for people are never jealous of a failure."

A CRAZY WOMAN PASSES THROUGH TOWN.

On last Sunday evening at about six o'clock a woman with her dress drawn up over her head for a covering was seen coming up the Brushvalley road; she was walking at a rapid pace and her actions and general appearance as she passed up church street, keeping the middle of the road, attracted the attention of every one who saw her.

She stopped at one of the houses and asked for lodging but was unable to keep her as they had no vacant room. She then resumed her journey westward and arrived at Samuel Bruss' who allowed her to remain at their home over night. Mr. Bruss informed us that from her actions she must have escaped from some asylum.

She said she had been in the Lewistown poor house also in a similar institution at Harrisburg and at the asylum at Danville from which place she likely escaped. At times she would sit and talk to herself speaking of her husband John and money she had invested in machinery.

She was poorly clad and said she left in a hurry and didn't have time to get all her clothes; she had been away five weeks, was on her way to Altoona, and would return again in two weeks. When asked as to where she would return, replied that she didn't know where. She was about five feet ten inches in height wore a bonnet, and a dark blue dress, and is about thirty five years old.

With the traditional perseverance of inventors Mr. Huger Robertson, the designer of the great raft that broke loose last fall on the Atlantic, is hard at work building another. He has fifty men at work on the shores of the bay of Fundy and expects to launch his craft in June.

Strictly speaking it is not a raft, but a great ship without hold or cabin, a solid mass of lumber 600 feet long, 54 deep and 35 wide, fitted with six masts, square rigging, and full steering gear. On two of the masts will be powerful self-feeding lamps capable of burning thirty days, so that in case it should be abandoned it would not be so dangerous to commerce as an unlighted wreck.

On last Thursday evening the 5, during a thunder storm, J. James, the farmer, lost one of his best cows, the animal along with two other cows were in the stable, the lightning striking a wire fence which runs along the upper part of his lot following the same to the corner of the stable and killing one cow instantly. It was the severest storm we have ever experienced in this locality for so early in the season.—Centre Democrat.

If our readers want to see a machine that will beat eggs "quicker'n lightning" they should call at McFarlane's hardware store in Bellefonte, where the Keystone Egg Beater is for sale. It is the best device for that purpose ever made. It is not one of those common humbugs peddled from door to door, but a first class article just as represented.

Spring Mills' monied men talk of establishing a bank in that place. The names of Maj. Fischer, Mr. Eisenhart, and others, are mentioned in connection with the movement. With half dozen good stores, and other business industries, Spring Mills and Penn Hall would find a bank quite an addition and convenience; they would wisely need to take care, however, that it be not used for dirty jobs in politics and to breed petty quarrels among neighbors and churches, and so on, and become an actual curse to the community instead of a convenience. Much banking business by that community is done at Bellefonte, and a decenter institution of the kind in the place, would keep the trade at home.

John Bubb, of Williamsport, tells us a few years ago he caught a monster trout in one of the streams of Lycoming county, upon which his ancestors had practiced before him and who had related to him wonderful stories of the big fish. The trout was 17 years old, weighed 84 pounds, when landed, and had a set of false teeth. Owing to the loss of the latter, which had on a previous occasion been pulled from its mouth by Mr. Bubb, the trout had become somewhat emaciated and only pulled the scales down at the above figure. To capture it Mr. Bubb says he had a hook made at a blacksmith shop and used a green gossin for a bait.—Breakfast table

THE EMPTYNESS OF FAME. One phrase in General William T. Sherman's address at the Ohio dinner deserves more than mere repetition. You all seem to be young and healthy and wish for fame, but remember, there is far more pleasure in anticipation of the acquisition than after you have got it. CURIOS MATRIMONIAL MIX.

A NEGRO AND A WHITE MAN EACH CLAIM A PRETTY BLONDE AS HIS WIFE. Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 11.—A remarkable scene was enacted in Alderman Rooney's court here at 1 o'clock to-day. George Gaines, a well known colored porter, whose face is as black as night, appeared as the complainant against a good looking white man named Charles Williams, who claims Clearfield as his home, charging him with an attempt to abduct his wife Ida, a handsome and stately blonde of 30, who came to this city a short time ago and was married to Gaines by a suburban justice of the peace. Williams swore that the woman was his wife, he having married her several years ago, and is the mother of their four children, who are at Clearfield. The woman admitted the truth of the statement, and seemed anxious to return with Williams. They were arrested at the depot while waiting for a train. Williams and his expected wife were committed to the county prison in default of $500 bail each.

Work was begun at Millheim last week for the purpose of erecting a creamery by some of its enterprising citizens. Creameries must bring in the bundle like a young mint. Since the erection and the operation of the Spring Mills establishment, one has been started at Lemont and is in operation, Millheim follows as third on the list, and the fourth one we hear will be erected at or near Bellefonte. In fact butter factories and printing establishments are getting thick in old Centre, and next in order will be for each, to form a trust, work on half time, force up millions and then retire from business as millionaires and bootlers.

For several weeks past the literary geniuses and Demosthenic disciples of this place have been at work trying to organize a literary society, and success has attended the effort. An organization has been effected with about forty members. The name adopted is "The Calliopean Literary Society of Centre Hall". The society meets on Tuesday evening of each week at seven o'clock in the school house and exercises will consist of essays, recitations, declamations, orations and debate. The meetings are public and all are invited to attend.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. J. W. Wolf of the firm of Wm. Wolf & Son, merchants of this place, took the east bound train, and will be gone for a week or more. He expects to visit all the eastern markets for the purpose of selecting a spring and summer stock of goods, which will be here in a short time. They are making a special effort this year to have the very latest in all kinds of dress and furnishing goods. You can look out for a surprise when their stock arrives as it will be the finest ever opened in Pennsylvania and cheaper than ever.

The undersigned has purchased, at reasonable sale, all the personal property of Howard Smith, of near Farmers Mills to wit: Cow, cookstove, coal stove, 2 sinks, 4 beds, flour chest, 2 chairs, 2 clocks, chest carpenter tools, and all his personal property and will leave the same in his possession. All persons are hereby cautioned against meddling with said property. 19 ap 3t HARPER & KREMER, Centre Hall.

OF INTEREST TO ALL. We wish to call your attention to a few facts which are of importance to every one. The first principle in practical economy is to exercise the greatest care in making your purchases of the necessities of life, such as food, clothing, shoes, etc. In judicious shopping you save money—and get what you want, and to apply this we would say if you want to buy a certain article go to that store which handles those goods only, and that is all. But in our line we have every thing—all grades, qualities and styles, of boots and shoes. We are offering our goods at rates that defy competition.

We would call your attention to our stock of plow shoes and work shoes which are the best and cheapest ever shown in Bellefonte.

Many ask us the reason why our goods are much cheaper than any where else. In reply we would say that we have been in the business for years, know how to buy, we handle large quantities and get better commission than many others and hence can sell our goods cheaper. We think you will find it to your interest to buy your boots & shoes at

KAISER FREDERICK DYING.

CROWN PRINCE APPOINTED REGENT. Berlin, April 17, 2 A. M.—The Emperor is dying, and has appointed the Crown Prince as regent. The extreme gravity of his Majesty's condition was made public yesterday afternoon when a bulletin was issued at 3.30, signed by Dr. Mackenzie, Wegner, Kratuse and Hovell, to the effect that he did not pass a good night, bronchitis having supervened yesterday, accompanied by a high fever and shortness of breath. A later report declared that inflammation of the lungs had set in, and official confirmation of this statement was obtained. There is no longer ground for hope. In the court circle it is abandoned, and his Majesty seems if a finaly surrendered by signing the decree appointing the Crown Prince regent, with full power to act in all matters. This document was obtained by Bi-marck on Sunday night.

Vance McCormick moved into John Neff's house on Courthouse.

Mr. Whiteman goes quite lame from a severe sprain of the foot.

For many years previous the faculty at State College has been opposed to the introduction of any Greek fraternity or secret society in that institution. During the last year the obnoxious clause has been stricken out, and the first secret society was organized last Friday. The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity has the honor of establishing the first college fraternity in P. S. C. The organization took place at the Bush House, Bellefonte and had six representative young men as charter members of the new fraternity.

The death of the new Emperor of Germany is looked for any day.
