TELEGRAPHIC CONDENSATIONS.

The News of the Week Briefly Told for Busy People. Governor Hill has vetoed a bill entitled "an act to secure more fully the independence of electors and the secrecy of the ballot," which was passed by the last New York legisnture, on the ground of unconstitutionality. He has signed the bill regulating elevator charges.

George G. Van Deusen, a prominent drug-gist, was found dead in Kingston, N. Y. His leath resulted from heart disease. A heavy thunder storm did considerable lamage in Oswego county, N. Y. Two barns and two houses were struck by light-ning and burned, causing a loss of several housand dollars. In the eastern part of the county trees and fences were blown down and much damage done to buildings.

The Democrats in congress are now trying to devise a way to hasten action on the Mills pill. It has been decided in caucus to let the lve minute debate run on for a while longer. Mr. Depew denies The St. Louis Globe-Democrat letter, don't believe it was written to begin with, and, if it was, it is unwarcanted and untrue.

A meeting of American sympathizers with Irish patriots was held in Philadelphia, and a telegram was sent to Parnell, stating that $5,200 had been raised and will be forwarded

Ex-Sheriff B. F. Van Camp, of Carlton, Orleans county, N. Y., executor for several states, has disappeared with almost $22,000 of other people's money.

Thomas Dolan is dying of smallpox at Newburg. He had been all over the city while the disease was in its incipient stage, and there is a great scare in consequence.

Col. Abner Taylor has been nominated for congress by the Republicans in the First district of Chicago. Three men have been arrested at Cynthi-ana, Ky., on suspicion of being the parties who attempted to rob the "big four" train near Cincinnati. Forty thousand Knights of Pythias participated in the parade at Cincinnati preceding the annual convention. Henry Muenchthaler, of Detroit, wanted to sell the store which was in his wife's name.

She refused, so he murdered her and committed suicide, and thus the matter was set-John D. Hughes and Thomas Clark, of Pittsburg, are going to Ireland to stump the country with Michael Davitt to organize K.

of L. assemblies. The change from three to two turns a day n the mills operating under the Clapp-Grif-fith process of manufacturing steel will throw nany workmen out of employment.

The International Typographical union is holding its annual session at Kansas City. Albert Wettle, a shoemaker, has been arrested at Cumitzschan, Saxony, for the murder of a banker in Watertown, N. Y., in 1886, and robbing the bank of $18,000.

Lord Stanley was sworn in as governor stration. A derrick used in the construction of the soldiers' monument at Milford, Conn., fell, zilling the foreman, R. McGinn, of Ryegate, Vt., and probably fatally injuring R. C. Bennett, of Newark, N. J., a workman.

Another Victim of Carelessness. AUBURN, N. Y., June 12 .- A special to The Dispatch from Locke says: Minnie Mosher, aged 16 years, was accidentally shot in the neck and instantly killed by her 12year-old brother. The boy was playing with s gun, which he did not know was loaded.

A Tenement Death Trap SPRIN

Fire in New York Causes Terrible Loss of Life.

SIX PEOPLE PROBABLY DEAD.

Fire Escapes Worse Than Useless-Brave Work by Firemen, Who Rescue Most of the Inmates - Terrible Fate of Little Children-Many Badly Burned.

NEW YORK, June 13 .- Fire broke out somewhere under the narrow stairway of the big our story tenement at 43 Second street this morning, on the southeast corner of Second avenue. An officer saw smoke coming out of the basement, and he and another officer went through the building to waken the tenants. The alarm was sent out, but before the firemen arrived the flames were bursting out of the roof. They spread with so fearful rapidity that the whole buildng was a mass of flames five minutes later, and a number of the tenants were cut off rom all escape, and were burned to death. A third alarm was struck, and the firemen who responded made a gallant battle to save

There were iron fire escapes on the house, out the flames ate away the staircases as if they had been built of paper, and burst in oaring sheets through the windows that pened upon the fire escapes, and made them worse than useless

Capt. Kruger and his lieutenant, Bradley, got up the life ladder in a twinkling and dashed up amid the smoke and flames to escue the frightened and half dressed tenants who had run to the roof. Fireman Wallace spread the life net, and without a noment's hesitation Mrs. Julia Koenig, who nad got to the window near the corner of he third story, climbed to the sill and sprang with a scream to this net. She landed safely

Her face was scorched. By this time a dozen firemen, with hose playing upon them, were breaking the win-dows on Second avenue, and climbed into the mnoke filled interior to search for the tenants. They carried those they found out to the windows, and other waiting firemen bore them down the ladders to the street.

Mrs. Julius Clement and her husband were eized in firemen's-arms and carried down the life ladder to the street. The flames had burned the woman's face and arms terribly, and had scorched the flesh from Clement's

A family of five named Wischlerski were imprisoned by the flames on the third floor. The firemen got the husband and wife out inconscious, and then dashed in through the flames to save the little children, who were asleep in their bedrooms. They were a boy of 9 and two girls aged respectively 7 and 4. All three children were unconscious when ound, and the surgeons of the four ambulances, which the elder Capt. McCullagh had telegraphed for the instant he got to the building, gave up hope of saving any of the little ones but the boy. The little girl died shortly afterward.

Gustave Burdy, the janitor of the building, lived on the top floor, near the scuttle, but before he could get to the roof he was so badly burned that he fell unconscious on the ladder leading to the roof. The foreman of the life ladders bore him to the street. Capt. McCullagh tried to find out for the firemen how many others were in the building, but couldn't do it with any definiteness, owing to the panic stricken condition of everybody who had been rescued from the building. He was told that there were nine families in all in the building, and that there were children in the house who had not been ound or accounted for. It is authoratively stated that at least six people probably perished in the flames. SHERIDAN'S MOTHER DEAD. Fhe General Resting Easy-Neither Knew of the Other's Illness. ZANESVILLE, O., June 13 .- Mrs. Mary Sheridan, mother of Gen. Philip H. Sheridan died at her home in Somerset yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Sheridan's death was due as much to extreme old age as to a slight cold contracted last week. She had been bedridden for only one week, and yesterday morning it was thought she was decidedly better, until towards noon, when a change for the worse set in. She retained all her faculties, except that of speech, to the last. Mrs. Sheridan was born in Ireland in 1801, her maiden name being Mary Moinah. She was married to John Sheridan at an early age and came with him and their one child to the United States in 1829. After two years' residence in Albany, N. Y., they came to Somerset, where Mrs. Sheridan's home has, been ever since. Her husband died in Februsry, 1873; Patrick, the oldest son, in 1849, and Mary, the only daughter, in 1867 or 1868. But three of the family are now alive-Gen. Sheridan, Col. Michael D. Sheridan, aide on the general's staff, and Col. John L. Sheridan, of Indian Territory, who was with his mother at her death. Mrs. Sheridan's funeral will take place at Somerset. She was never informed of her son's critical illness, and her illness has been just as seduously concealed from the general. Col. Michael Sheridan has telegraphed that it will be impossible for him to attend the funeral on account of the general's grave

Washington, June 13. - The favorable turn which Gen. Sheridan's disease has taken continues, and the hopes of the family and the physicians have been greatly strengthened. The general passed a comparatively quiet night, and appeared decidedly refreshed upon awakening. . About midnight he was troubled by the cough which has annoved him at short intervals for more than ten days, but after that time he sank into a sounder siumber than he has yet enjoyed, and the dry, hacking sound was no longer heard by the reporters still watching on the street

Col. Sheridan received a telegram from Somerset, O., announcing the death of the general's aged mother. The physicians did not deem it safe to communicate this sad in teiligence to him. He believes her to be still alive and improved in health. The shock, when it does come, will undoubtedly be severe enough.

Veterans Who Support Alger. CONCORD, N. H., June 13 .- A veteran's circular letter signed by thirty-six Republicans, possessing honorable war records, and who are highly influential in civil life, was sent to the members of the New Hampshire delegation to the Chicago convention, expressing a preference for Gen. Russell A. Alger, of Michigan, as a candidate on the national

A Binghamton Defaulter. BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 13,-A sensation was created here when it was announced that George Winfield, of the firm of Hallock & Winfield, brokers, had defaulted and left the city. His shortage will aggregate $10,-000, the first being the principal sufferers.
Winfield borrowedimoney in large sums from his friends, and took a train for Buffalo. It is believed he has fled to Canada.
