A RACY BOOK.

Scintillating with Sarcasm and Brilliant Truth.

Europe. Chap. III. "Has Rheumatism;" goes to Ems. Chap. IV. Has a row with his Doctor. I have read a deal of sarcasm in my day but I never read anything equal rot. It is easily cured by paring away to the sarcasm contained in the above the dead, decayed horn, washing the four chaptered book, written by some anonymous. I suspect the experience portrayed is a personal one; the author intimates as much on page 31. Let me give you a synopsis:

"Malaria" as it states, "is the cloak with which superficial physicians cover up a multitude of ill feelings which they do not understand, and do not much care to investigate. It is also a cover for such diseases as they cannot cure. When they advise their patient to travel or that he has overworked and needs rest and is probably suffering from malaria, it is a confession of ignorance or of inability."

"The patient goes abroad. The change is a tonic and for a time he feels better. Comes home. Fickle appetite, frequent headaches, server colds, cramps, sleeplessness, ir itability, tired feelings, and generaldunfitness for business are succeeded in due time by alarming attacks of rheumatism which flits about his body regardless of all human feelings.

"It is muscular,-in his back. Articular,-in his joints. Inflammatory, my! how he fears it will fly to his heart!

"Now off he goes to the springs. The doctor sends him there, of course, to get well; at the same time he does not really want him to die on his handsl

That would hurt his business!

"Better for a few days. Returns, After a while neuralgia transfixes him. He bloats: cannot breathe; has pneumonia; cannot walk; cannot sleep on his left side; is fretful; very nervous and irritable; is pale and flabby; has frequent chills and fevers; everything about him seems to go wrong; becomes suspicious; musters up courage and demands to know what is killing him! "Great heaven!" he cries, "why have you kept me so long in ignorance?" "Because," said the doctor, "I read your fate five years, ago. I thought best to keep you ignorant of the facts." He dismisses his doctor, but too late! His fortune has all gone in fees.

But him, what becomes of him?

The other day a well known Wall Street banker said to me "it is really astonishing how prevalent bright's disease is becoming. Two of my personal friends are now dying of it. But

and gathers sand and gravel, which wear the softened sole and make the foot sore. In cattle the space between the hoofs become affected in the same way, and the soft horn wears and decays. Then the tissues under the horn become inflamed and sore, and suppurate, and this is known as ordinary foot deceased tissues under it and applying some healing dressing. Laniger recommends for this purpose tincture of benzoine, or the green ointment made of four parts lard, one part venice turpentine, one part spirits of turpentine and one-half gart acetate of copper, all well mixed by melting the lard and well stirring. IT IS a mistaken policy to feed out the best fodder of all kinds first. Cattle having been pampered with the best the farm afforded early in the season, and there being nothing else than coarse stuff to feed them later, find it difficult to make the change, get, "off their feed," and what is more, come out in the spring a sorry-looking lot. If they were intended to be sold, their price will be distressingly low, and they must undergo another summer of best pasturage, another winter of more rational feeding, and come out the next spring very costly beef.

THE Dairy World learned that several member of a family were made sick by drinking the milk from a young cow. An investigation was made by that paper with the following result: "In the correspondence we drew out the fact that the cow was rather a wild one and had been driven from the auction on a fast run, and that before she had been cooled off the milk had been drawn, with the results above stated. We have time and again warned readers that milk taken from a frightened or heated cow is unfit for use, and sickness in some form or other is sure to follow its use.

As a green manurial crop sow four bushels of the Southern cow pea in May on an acre of ground. After it shall have begun to blossom, and become green and bushy, turn the crop under, using a two horse plow, with a chain, for pressing down the vines. It decomposes quickly, and if twenty bushels of lime be then applied the land will be suitable for grass.

QUALITY seems to be largely dependent upon the rapidity and healthfulness of growth, and a slow-acting manure will mosisurely produce inferior vegetables, lacking flavor. THE LAND OF EXILE. George Kennan's Trip to Siberia-His Story to Appear in The Century. HE CENTURY MAGAZINE

TITE has inspired a number of important enterprises-the Great South papers; the ar-ticles on South America (the result of an expedition sent out by the magazine); the War Papers, which in-creased its circulation by 100,000; the Life of Lincoln, for the serial publication of which Messrs. Nicolay and ACT STALL Hay, formerly private sec-retaries to the President, are now receiving $50,000; these, and many others. But of all its enterprises and serials none will surpas its enterprises and serials none will surpass in interest and in far-reaching results the papers on "Siberia and the Exile System," the publication of which has just begun. Mr. Kennan, who writes the articles, hid spent a number of years in Siberia before The Century people started him off to ex-plore the country in their interest, and what he expected to do was to prove that the exile system was not as terable as it had been described. Knowing that he held views favorable to them, the Russian Government gave him every facility for a thorough ex-amination of all the prisons and mines of Siberia. The Minister of the Interior fur-nished him with a circular letter which ad-

fully convinced that Stepniak and Prince Krapotkin and other nihilist writers have not drawn with too strong colors their pict-ures of the horrors of the life of a Russian exile. In these papers, beginning with the May Century, Mr. Kennan will describe his Russian frontier. In June he visits the very interesting forwarding prison at Tium

In rooms built to accom-modate forty men, 160 were sleeping. "I breathed as little as I could while I was there," says Mr. Kennan, "but every respiration seemed to pollute my very soul, and I became faint from nausea and lack of oxygen. It was like trying to breathe in an underground hospital-drain." Mr. Kennan's articles are torn out of the copies of The Century which enter Russia; they, as well as Mr. Kennan himself, being they, as well as Mr. Kennan himself, being now on the Russian black-list. But other countries are reading what Mr. Kennan writes. The articles are being translated into Polish, and they are appearing also in the organ of the Russian liberals at Geneva. Even a Dutch newspaper published on the merly represented his government in a ous to the very tips. foreign country. He knows, appreciates and declares the value of that preparation, because his nephew, who is a son of Danish Vice-Consul Schmidt, was pronounced incurable when the remedy, Warner's safe cure, was begun. "Yes," said his father, "I was very skeptical, but since taking that remedy the boy is well."

I happen to know what it was that cured the boy, for Genl. Christiansen, of Drexel, Morgan & Co's., told me that it was that 'wonderful remedy Warner's safe cure.'

Well, I suspect the hero of the book cured henself by the same means.

I cannot close my notice better than by quoting the author's advice:

"If my friend, you have such an experience as I have portrayed, do not put your trust in physicians to the exclusion of other remedial agencies. They have no monopoly over disease and I personally know that many of them would far prefer that patients be saved to earth by the use of any "ur authorized means."

But the most important office of the new instrument seems to be its use in receiving and transmitting telegraphic dispatches. It is said at the Patent Office that the instrument can be used both BI a transmitter and receiver of intelligence over a single wire, no matter how great the distance may be. The receiving instrument does not require the attendance of an operator, but prints the dispatch automatically. The instruments at both end of the line print the dispatch sent, and so a safeguard against mistakes is provided. It is claimed that the electric type-writer ordering trees. will be valuable as a local aid to business, and offers many advantages over the telephone. One advantage claimed for it is that no matter whether a person is called up at his place of business or not. the message can be printed through the medium of his type-writer, and will be there for perusal on his return. The dispatches printed are in letter form, and not an endless tape. The instrument has been christened the dynamograph.
