

Civil Service Review.

The President Praises the Commission's Work.

WORKINGS OF THE NEW SYSTEM.

The Fourth Annual Message of President Cleveland Transmitted to Congress.

What the Commission Has Done and Is Doing—Steadily Overcoming Opposition.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Cleveland has transmitted his fourth annual message to congress, the leading points of which follow:

I herewith transmit the fourth report of the United States civil service commission, covering the period between the 16th day of January, 1885, and the 1st day of July, 1887.

While this report has especial reference to the operations of the commission during the period above mentioned, it contains with its accompanying appendices much valuable information concerning the inception of civil service reform and its growth and progress which cannot fail to be interesting and instructive to all who desire improvement in administrative methods.

During the time covered by the report 15,852 persons were examined for admission in the classified civil service of the government in all its branches, of whom 10,746 passed the examination and 5,106 failed. Of those who passed the examination 2,977 were applicants for admission to the departmental service at Washington. Twenty-five hundred and forty-seven were examined for admission to the customs service and 5,222 for admission to the postal service. During the same period 547 appointments were made from the eligible lists to the departmental service, 641 to the customs service and 3,254 to the postal service.

In the departmental service there occurred between Jan. 16, 1885, and June 30, 1887, among the employed, appointments from the eligible lists under civil service rules, 17 removals, 36 resignations and 5 deaths. This does not include 14 separations in the grade of special pension ex-aminers, 4 by removal, 5 by resignation and 5 by death.

In the classified customs and postal service the number of separations among those who received absolute appointments under civil service rules are given for the period between Jan. 1, 1885, and June 30, 1887. It appears that such separations in the customs service for the time mentioned embrace 21 removals, 5 deaths and 81 resignations, and in the postal service 256 removals, 23 deaths and 469 resignations.

Among other things the scope of the examination prescribed for those who seek to enter the classified service has been better defined and made more practical, the number of names to be certified from the eligible lists to the appointing officers, from which a selection is made, has been reduced from four to three, the maximum limitation of the age of persons seeking entrance to the classified service to 45 years has been changed, and reasonable provisions have been made for the transfer of employes from one department to another in proper cases.

A plan has also been devised providing for the examination of applicants for promotion in the service which, when in full operation, will eliminate all chances of favoritism in the advancement of employes by making promotion a reward of merit and faithful discharge of duty.

The path of civil service reform has not at all times been pleasant or easy. The scope and purpose of the reform have been much misapprehended, and this has not only given rise to strong opposition, but has led to its invocation by its friends to compass objects not in the least related to it.

This partitioning of the patronage system has naturally commended it. Those who do not understand its meaning either mistook it, when disappointed, because in its present stage it is not applied to every real or imaginary ill, accuse those charged with its enforcement with faithlessness to civil service reform.

With a continuation of the intelligent fidelity which has hitherto characterized the work of the commission, with a continuation and increase of the favor and liberality which have been evinced by the congress in the proper equipment of the commission for its work; with a firm, but conservative and reasonable, support of the reform by its friends, and with the disappearance of opposition, which must inevitably follow its better understanding, the civil service reform law cannot fail ultimately to answer the hopes in which it had its origin.

GROVER CLEVELAND, EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 23.

The house spent the entire session Wednesday discussing amendments to the tariff bill. There were some very warm passages pro and con.

The tariff debate was concluded in the house Thursday.

The time of the house Monday was devoted to the consideration of business relating to the District of Columbia.

Canalmen Terrorize a Village.

ALBION, N. Y., July 24.—The little village of Knowlsville, on the canal in Orleans county, is in a state of terror from the depredations of canalmen. About 400 canalmen are held there by the break, and every night bold robberies are committed. Villagers now arm themselves and watch their houses, praying at the same time that the boats may soon get away. In spite of all precautions the robberies continue. Saturday night nearly all the boat colony got drunk and turned the little village upside down. Some turned before a farmer was aroused by half a dozen drunken drivers, his family terrified, and he was compelled to entertain the intruders. Vigilance committees are talked of.

Prices steadily advanced to the close under the lead of St. Paul and New England, which were the features of the afternoon's trading. The highest prices of the day were generally current at the close of business. The strength of the market is attributed to the favorable crop reports and the prospective increase in the earnings of railroads. THE KEYSTONE STATE.

NEWS TOPICS OF LOCAL INTEREST TO PENNSYLVANIANS.

Facts and Fancies Gleaned from Many Sources and Boiled Down to Brief Paragraphs for the Benefit of Busy Readers.

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—Mr. Powderly has received many letters advocating change of the name of the Knights of Labor because of the odium which now attaches to it. In the next Journal of United Labor Mr. Powderly will say: "Those who talk of odium being attached to the Knights of Labor have done their share to heap the odium on the order. The officers of the Nation Trade assembly which desires the change have not done their duty by the assemblies that are attached to it. * * * Change the name and then ask for grace at the hands of organized capital after you have taught the capitalist how to organize. Get a new, high sounding name after you have reached your present knowledge of affairs through the order. Play the ingrate and burn the bridges that carried you to the place where you could see your danger in common with other men."

The Iron Association Dissolved.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 19.—The conference committee of the Western Iron association met and dissolved the organization. The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the conference committee of manufacturers be dissolved, and that all members of the association of manufacturers of iron, steel and nails who have not signed the amalgamated scale be absolved from all pledges, written or otherwise, and be otherwise to act in their individual capacity regarding the starting of their works.

Coleman, Shields & Co., of Niles, O., signed the amalgamated scale and will start their works in the West. It is expected that the Kensington Iron company will shortly sign the scale.

After Many Ballots.

PITTSBURG, July 19.—The Republican conference of the Twenty-fourth congressional district reassembled in this city after a recess of several weeks. The ballots, making 303 in all, were taken without result, and the conference recessed for dinner. In the afternoon J. W. Ray, of Green county, was nominated by acclamation. Mr. Ray is about 40 years of age, and is a power in Green county politics.

American Mechanics' Officers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., 20.—The American Mechanics' state convention continued halting for officers. The following officers were elected: State council conductor, S. F. Myers, of New Brighton, Pa.; warden, Timothy Kaye, of Homestead; sentinels, S. W. H. Painter, of Harrisburg, and Joseph E. Morris, of Pittsburgh. The next state convention will be held at Harrisburg on the third Tuesday in July, 1889.

Amateur Oarsmen.

SUNBURY, Pa., July 20.—At the business meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, James S. Alvin, of Providence, and C. G. Peterson, of New York, were re-elected as delegates. Harry McMillen, of Philadelphia, was chosen a delegate to fill the position made vacant by the retirement of E. C. Parsons, of Dixon, Ill. The same board of officers, with Henry Whiting Garfield, of Albany, president, and W. Howard Gibson, of Washington, secretary, was selected. The report of the executive committee stated that in the twenty-nine cases brought before the association within the year, nineteen persons were involved were rejected, three disqualified and seven reinstated. The next meeting was arranged for the Gilsey house, New York, Oct. 1.

The Rumored General Labor Union.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—Prominent labor leaders are reticent concerning the proposed amalgamation between railroad men and other classes of organized labor. Some deny that such is the case. Two members of the Brotherhood of Firemen's executive committee, residing in this city, favor the idea of all railroad men joining hands, but declare that no one organization can answer the purpose of every class, and to amalgamate all labor, without regard to the special needs of each industry, will work vastly more harm than good, and they will vote against such a measure if it shall be proposed at their convention.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—The Rev. Marcus Alden Tolman, of Mauch Chunk, writes to the Press to say that "Oval Oil Johnny" is not named McNulty, that he is named Smith, that he was not killed on the railway near Burlington, N. C., and that he is a prosperous farmer and church member out west.

A Swindler Checkmated.

PITTSBURG, July 20.—Special Pension Examiner C. H. Davis, of this district, and Assistant Superintendent O'Mara have arrested Henry Max Goddar, who is wanted by the United States government. Goddar has been working several western cities pretty thoroughly, impersonating a special pension examiner, and charges have been pending against him for months. He will be taken to Columbus, O., to be tried before the United States courts. Goddar is of German birth. He traveled the country as a lightning rod agent.

Among other vocations he adopted that of body snatcher. On Jan. 4, 1875, he undertook to rob the grave of Robert Baker, at Newport, Ky. He was discovered for nearly a quarter of a century being considered a "sucked orange," and the oil right of 100,000 acres around the old town would not have brought $100. Now the excitement there is greater than in any other field in the region.

In this old abandoned territory Black Bros. have now seven wells that are good for 8,000 barrels a month. Great activity is reported among the lease hunters.

Reading's Tax Rate Fixed.

READING, July 20.—The long deadlock in councils over the tax rate was broken tonight by an agreement upon a seven and one quarter mill rate. This is substantially a victory for the common council. An extra force of clerks will be at once put to work making out the duplicates, and it is hoped that the stress upon the treasury will be relieved in a week or ten days. Payments are about $20,000 behind.

THEY DID IT.
