His Life Work Is Done

Death of Bartley Campbell, the Great Playwright.

DIED SUDDENLY IN AN ASYLUM.

No Friends Near to Cheer His Last Hours-Dreary End of an Eventful Life. His Death Was a Complete Surprise, as He Appeared to Be Physically Sound.

New York, July St.-Bartley Campbell, whose plays have interested and delighted audiences in every city in the land, is dead. He died suddenly, but peacefully, in the Bloomingdale Asylum for the Insane, where he has been confined for more than a year. His death was so sudden that his friends, who had been hastily sent for, were not able to reach his bedside. He never recovered his senses after he was attacked by the dread cared for by the Actors Fund. Manager Palmer was out of town last night, but the reasurer of the and, Mr. Watkins, who was at the Madison Square theatre, said: "We BARTLEY CAMPBELL, received the news of Mr. Campbell's death at 6 o'clock this evening, and we have sent several people to the asylum to take charge of his remains.

"The funeral arrangements will probably be made to-morrow. We understood that Mr. Campbell was in good physical health, and his death is a sad surprise.'

Mr. Campbell was born in Allegheny City, Pa., on Aug. 12, 1843. In 1856 he entered a Pittsburg law office, but being an unpromising student he was sent home. He began to write for The Pittsburg Leader in 1858, and made campaign speeches for the Democratic party in 1863 and 1864.

In 1858 he started The Evening Mail in Pittsburg, and the following year. The Southern Magazine in New Orleans. In 1870 he was the official reporter for the Louisiana house of representatives.

His first play was a sensational drama called "Through Fire." It was produced in 1871 and ran four weeks. His next was "Peril," a comedy laid in Long Branch, brought out in 1872. Then in 1873 came "Fate," which was played in England by Charlotte Leclerq. "Risks" and the "Virginian," two others of his works, were played in England. The latter was brought out by Frank Mayo, who changed its name to "Van, the Virginian,"

"Gran Uale" was produced in 1874, and "On the Rhine" at San Francisco in 1875. "The Big Bonanza," which was produced in 1875, was an adaptation of a German comedy called "Ultimo." It proved worthy of its name, for in four weeks it netted its adapter $16,000

In 1876 Campbell went to England and wrote "A Heroine in Rags," and "How Women Love," which were produced in 1877. The latter was reconstructed as "The Vigilantes." In 1877-8 he wrote "Clio," and in the following spring "Fairfax; or Life in the Sunny South," which was brought out in Earlier the same season was played "My Partner," which was the first financial success in New York.

"The Galley Slave" was produced the same season, and all three were on the boards in that year. "Matrimony" was also written in the winter of 1879. Subsequently Mr. Campbell wrote and produced "My Geraldine," "White Slave" and "Siberia," which met with immediate success. During the years between 1880 and 1885 he was mainly engaged in producing and managing his own plays, and in 1885 subleased the Fourteenth Street theatre under gaged that his mind began to fail. It soon became necessary to remove him to an asylum, and he was taken to Bloomingdale, where he was supported by the Actor's Fund and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and later was removed to the Middletown asylum. A short while ago it was thought that he would recover, and he was brought back to Bloomingdale, but as it turned out only to die.

QUINN MUST SHOW CAUSE.

The District Assembly 49 Quartel Taken Into Court.

NEW YORK, July 27 .- At the instance of Henry N. Unger as counsel for Michael Breslin, treasurer of District Assembly 49, Knights of Labor, Presiding Justice Van Brunt, of the supreme court, has granted an order requiring ex-Master Workman James E. Quinn to show cause on the 31st inst. why he should not be enjoined from interfering with or doing any act under or by the name of the office of district master workman, and why he should not be compelled to deliver up the charter and book of secret work. The order was secured on the complaint and affidavit of Richard Raleigh, one of the judges of the court that removed Quinn. is alleged that charges were preferred against Quinn for neglect of duty and violation of the laws of the order before the district assembly court, and the unanimous judgment of the court was that he be removed from the office of master workman and suspended from membership for six months. Raleigh contends that, in accordance with the laws of the order, Worthy Foreman McGrath now succeeds to Quinn's office. Quinn is of a different opinion, hence the application to the court.

Keenan's Motion Denied. NEW YORK, July 31 .- The exile politician, John Keenan, who is in Canada, has been unsuccessful in his first legal warfare against Heman Clark, the aqueduct contractor. Keenan is suing Clark to recover a share of the profits in the aqueduct contracts held by the latter, under an alleged claim as partner. Pending the action Keenan asked for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the contracts and an injunction to restrain Clark from interfering with the partnership assets. In the court of common pleas Judge Van Hoesen denied Keenan's motion for an injunction and receiver.

Chairman Hoge Sues for Libel. LINCOLN, Neb., July 28.—Some weeks ago The Lincoln Daily News published matter reflecting upon S. E. Hoge, the head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' grievance committee, and his wife. It was alleged that her character was questionable, and that, with Hoge, she was blackmailing citizens of western towns. Hoge has brought suit for libel against The News for himself and wife, putting the damages of each at $25,000. They will sue Detective Pinneo, of the Burlington and Missouri railroad, for the same amount on the same charge.

IMPROVING OUR DEFENSES.

Becommendations in the Fortifications

Bill of Interest to All. WASHINGTON, July 27 .- The fortifications bill reported to the house appropriates $6,202,670 for the current year. It embodies a plan for the expenditure of more than $13,-255,438 in the construction of heavy ordnance between the time of the passage of the act and June 30, 1901, which opens the field of gun construction to parties outside of the government and which, if adopted, will inite competition among manufacturing establishments for this work, and, as the committee says in their report accompanying the bill, will result in the ultimate establishment of one or more gun factories, independent of the government shops. The bill provides for the creation of a mixed board of three civilians and three army officers, who are authorized to make tests and experiments with new guns and to make contracts with parties presenting the best guns.

The estimated money value of these contracts is placed at $8,804,980 for steel guns, $750,000 for twelve-inch cast iron guns, $300,-000 for twelve-inch cast iron mortars, $3,446,-457 for gun carriages and $350,000 for mortar carriages. The prospective expenditures under these contracts are to be distributed in point of time as follows; Between now and June 30, 1892, $1,165,000; between 1892 and 1895, $600,000; between 1895 and 1898, $7,500,-000; between 1898 and 1901, $4,000,000.

The board is to make annual reports to the president, and submit estimates of the appropriations needed to carry out contracts authorized by the bill.

Among the authorized items of expenditure for the current year are: $754,000 for an army gun factory at Watervleit arsenal; $100,000 for preservation and repair of fortifications; $175,000 for construction of sea walls; $200,000 for torpedoes for harbor defense, and $400,000 for experiments in gun earriages and the development of new powders, and of steel projectiles for armor piercing purposes.

THE SENATE TARIFF BILL.

Estimated Reduction of the Surplus of $65,000,000 to $80,000,000. Washington, July 27 .- The senate's tariff bill, or substitute for the Mills bill, it is estimated, reduces the surplus $65,000,000 to $80,000,000. The sub-committee leave the wool tariff as

Very little change is made in manufac tures of wool beyond the equalization of the duties on woolens and worsteds.

The duty on sugar is cut down 50 per cent. So is the duty on rice. Very little change is made from the present rates on cotton.

The hemp schedule is untouched, save to correct some minor details, and flax is very little changed. Paper fares the same.

There is a pretty general reduction in the chemical schodule There are a number of changes suggested in the glass schedule, more in the nature of a revision than a reduction. On some classes of ware duties are re duced; on others they are increased. China ware, porcelain, etc., are cut down about 5

Lead is made dutiable at 21/4 per cent. Pig iron is unchanged, and steel rails are fixed at $14 a ton. The tobacco tax is wiped out, and alcohol used in the arts is made free. Republican senators say their bill will probably not be reported from the comon finance until next week, and that the debate upon it will not begin till the week after. It is the general estimate that congress will be in session until the latter part of September.

AGAINST A SETTLEMENT.

The Brotherhood Unanimously Votes Not to Accept the "Q" Concessions.

CHICAGO, July 27 .- Chairman Hoge and Chairman Murphy have returned from their joint trip over the "Q," made for the purpose of ascertaining the feeling of the strikers in regard to declaring the strike off on the basis of propositions made by the company.

"I submitted the propositions to every im portant lodge on the 'Q' system," said Mr. Hoge to a reporter for the United Press, "and the men everywhere voted unanimously to reject them. I left Denver Tuesday morn ing, and there they are as enthusiastic to continue the struggle as at any place on the

"What do the men expect to gain by refusing to declare the strike off!" "Well, they think that by holding out awhile longer the 'Q' will be compelled to "Do you think so?" "Yes. The road is not doing nearly so much business as formerly, especially in the freight department. And it is in poor shape." A general officer of the "Q," when ques-tioned on the situation, declared that if the men did not care to accept the propositions they might leave them alone, and that as far as the actual working of the road was concerned it didn't care a copper whether the men returned or not. "We have demonstrated our ability to do without the Brotherhoods," he added, "and will continue to do so. We will make no more concessions, of that you may rest assured. Hay Was Green as Grass. OTTAWA, Ont., July 31 .- Alexander Hay, wealthy resident of Cornwall and a candi date for parliament, has recently lost $3,000 at three card monte to two United States gamblers, who came over ostensibly to purchase farming property. Making Hays' acquaintance McDonald, one of the crooks, invited him to drive out into the country to look at some property he was about to buy. On the way McDonald's confederate met them and said he had been winning much money at cards. Hay became interested, the game was explained to him, and they sat down to play. Hay won $1,500, which he subsequently lost. He went to town, got $3,000 and returning, continued the game with varying luck. When his pile was reduced to $1,000 fortune turned in his favor, and he won $3,000. He then played for the whole sum and lost.

More Dynamite in Chicago. CHICAGO, July 28 .- An unsuccessful attempt was made to blow up the house of Christian Kruger, 675 Lincoln avenue. The agent used to do the work was a dynamite bomb made out of a piece of ordinary two-inch welded gas pipe about eight inches long, and if it had been prepared by a person of ordinary mechanical intelligence it would have done a great deal of damage and the loss of life would have been appalling, as there were a dozen people sleeping in the house at the time.

How the Farmer Lost His Bonds. ALBANY, July 31.-P. K. Deiderick, a manufacturer, of Loudonville, drove into Albany from that place. After transacting some business at the Mechanics and Farmers' bank he came out and laid a package containing $20,000 worth of bonds in his carriage. A stranger engaged him in conversation about his horse while a confederate abstracted the bonds from the carriage seat. They both escaped. Later one of the robbers was captured in Troy and brought back BRIEF MENTION.

A Review of the Week's Most Important Events.

A. Kleshar cut his wife's throat at Ferndale, Cal., and took poison. Both died.

Two tugs sailed from Boston for Joggins, N. S., to tow the big timber raft. Charles T. Smith, an insurance agent, aged 55 years, of Brookline, Mass., had been some days at the Hooker house, Willimantic, Conn. He attempted to manage the elevator, when his head was caught under a floor, crushing Morris Kempler, a molder, 26 years old, shot his wife fatally at Belleville, Mo., on account of jealousy. P. A. Stout, who shot and killed his son Adolph because he sided with his mother, was convicted at Pittsburg of murder in the second degree. Maggie Lavine, 24 years old, of Waterbury, Conn., left Albany June 19 for Buffalo. Since then her friends have no tidings of her, and fear she has met foul play.

In the investigation at Boston into the fatal accident in the Fitchburg railroad yard by cars falling into Charles river, it was proved that some of the piles upon which the track runs are entirely eaten by worms. A danger signal, warning trains to keep off the track while it was being repaired, had been removed by some unknown person without authority.

The reports of trouble caused by the Skeena Indians are said to have been greatly exaggerated.

Julius Willis was sent home dead from the insane asylum on Ward's Island, N. Y., having evidence of having died from maltreatment. His wife notified the coroner and demands a post mortem and investigation, which the coroner promises to do in a thorough manner.

The letter of ex-Governor Porter, declining to be the Republican candidate for governor of Indiana, has created a great political sensation and much disappointment throughout the state.

The New York World still insists that Hon. Samuel Randall has cancer of the stomach, and Mr. Randall's physician, while denying this statement, refuses to state what the trouble is.

Three Louisville roughs went on an excursion to Madison, Ind., where they attacked a citizen and tried to rob him. A sheriff and posse went on the steamer to arrest them. and a fearful riot ensued, but the roughs went to jail.

While Mr. and Mrs. Hughr Hacker, of Chicago, were milking, their neighbor, Dennis McGurl, leaned over the fence and made offensive remarks. A fight ensued, and Hacker fired a charge of bird shot into McGurl's breast, killing him.

The New Jersey Republican convention will be held at Asbury Park, Aug. 15.

Norwalk, Conn., had an unusually lively Sunday. A bridge on the Danbury and Norwalk railroad, near Georgetown, was burned; a special train carrying timber for a temporary structure ran over a boy and decapitated him; an incendiary fire destroyed one of the great barns of Stephen Hoyt's sons; the New Canaan nurseryman, John Lloyd, stabbed Joseph Smith in the breast, making a very serious wound, and a colored gentle man was arrested while at his devotions in a neighbor's chicken coop.

The strike against a reduction of wages in the Freeman wire mill at East St. Louis has been compromised after six weeks duration. At a Scandinavian celebration at Lake Vadnois, near St. Paul, Minn., Ole Oleser was hit in the back of the neck with a club and killed, and a man named Johnston was semboweled by a dirk, both by "fakirs." Governor Ames, of Massachusetts, has nearly recovered from his illness. During the first year of the high license law in Pennsylvania the number of licenses has been reduced from 14,553 to 7,724, and the revenue increased from $976,279 to $1,835,963.

Luke Muldoon and Pat Flaherty, young Cincinnati laborers, wrestled, and Muldoon threw Flaherty and broke his neck.

TRADE BULLETIN.

New York Money and Produce Market Quotations.

New York, July 30 .- Money closed at 116 per cent., the highest rate. The lowest was 1 per cent. Exchange closed steady; posted rates, 4.85½@4.88½; actual rates, 4.55½@4.86 for @days and 4.87½@4.88 for demand. Governments closed firm; currency 6s, 190 bid; 4s, coup., 127% bid; 496s, do., 107% bid.

Pacific railroad bonds closed as follows: Union firsts, 114@117; Union land grants, 103@196; Union sinking funds, 125@123; Centrals, 114@117. The market was only fairly active this morning, with St. Paul the feature. That stock was very active, 22,000 shares of it changing hands by noon. The opening prices were 14 to 34 per cent. lower, except for the Vanderbilts, Reading, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific preferred, all of which opened firm and 1/4 to 3/4 per cent, higher. During the first half hour the bears raided some of the leading stocks, causing a general decline by 11 o'clock of 1/4 to 1 per cent. This decline brought out some buying orders both for domes-tic and London account, and in the second hour there was a gradual hardening of values. At midday nearly all of the early decline had been recovered, and the changes from Saturday's closing prices were insignificant either way. The coal stocks were quiet, although Reading was second to St. Paul in point of activity. The total sales for the morning amounted to 103,000 shares. There was not much demand for stocks during the afternoon, but prices steadily advanced to the close, the best figures being generally made in the final haif hour. The advance for the day ranged from 1/2 to 11/2 per cent. The strongest stocks to-day were St. Paul, Northwest, Reading, Lackawanna, New England and Union Pacific. The buying of St. Paul to-day was principally for the short account, this interest being very large in this stock. Rumors were plenty that a pool had liquidated and that the price would be depressed to 70, but the scarcity of the stock and large foreign buying orders fright-med the shorts, who were the heaviest buyers of the afternoon. The sales for the day amounted to 175,307 shares.
