James G. Blaine Arrives in New York at Last.

MET BY MANY OF HIS ADMIRERS.

A Great Demonstration by Republicans in the Metropolis-Many Vessels Greet Him in the Bay-The Trip from New York to Boston-Speeches on the Way.

New York, Aug. 14.—The parade in honor of Mr. Blaine Thursday night was conducted with much eclat, despite the detention at sea of the great apostle of protection.

Fifth avenue's sidewalks were crowded, and as the gay paraders, with bands, banners and torches swept along, a continuous roar of applause resounded in their glad ears. The most striking novelty of the occasion was the multitude of flags displayed. Every man in the procession waved a flag on his cane. There were big flags, little flags and

THE FOURTEEN FOOT BALL. all sorts of flags. The big campaign ball, fourteen feet in diameter, dating from 1840, was greatly applauded as it was rolled along.

Cappa's full band led the parade with the lively air, "Marching Through Georgia," Then came the many organizations of cadets from this and other cities, in their varied and striking uniforms and costumes, and many of them attended by excellent bands of music giving forth patriotic and stirring airs. Many Parried banners inscribed with their party

The march past the reviewing stand occu pied two hours and ten minutes, and it is estimated that 30,000 men were in line.

The news that the City of New York had been sighted off Fire Island gave new life to the anxious and twice disappointed crowd of enthusiasts who were awaiting the arrival of James G. Blaine, and they were early at the pier for a third trip, this time confident of success. The Laura M. Starin received them this time, and as soon as all were on board the little excursion boat steamed down through the Narrows, and awaited the ship just outside. The City of Nev York soon came in sight, and she presented a gala appearance.

The Blaine party was soon transferred to the Starin. It consisted of Mr. Blaine, his wife and his two daughters, Margaret and Hattie. They were escorted to the ladies' cabin, whither Mr. Blaine had the greatest difficulty in following them, owing to the crush of friends, who surrounded him on all sides and insisted upon grasping his hand. The president of the Republican club, Mr. E. T. Barlett, was introduced, and made a long speech of welcome, to which Mr. Blaine happily responded on the deck of the Starin. At the conclusion of Mr. Blaine's remarks the members of the club and their guests passed through the cabin and greeted Mr.

The ovation which Mr. Blaine received when he arrived at the Fifth Avenue hotel was such as he will not soon forget. The BLAINE MAKES HIS APPEARANCE. members of the family arrived at the hotel some fifteen minutes before the great Republican, and the hotel corridors were crowded, the dense throng shouting, "Blaine! Blaine! James G. Blaine.

After repeated calls and cheers for "Blaine," which lasted five minutes, he appeared on one of the hotel balconies and spoke a (ew words, which were enthusiastically received.

Mr. Blaine passed a quiet Sunday at Manhattan Beach.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.-Mr. Blaine left here yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. There was comparatively a small crowd at the station to see him off, not more than half a hundred witnessed his departure from the Fifth Avenue hotel. The private car of President Clark, of the New York and New Haven road, was placed at the disposal of the Blaine party. It was attached to the 11 o'clock express on the New Haven road. Most of the Republican leaders had said good-by to Mr. Blaine the night before, and his callers at the hotel in the morning were not very numerous and included only personal friends

Boston, Aug. 14.—The train left New York amid the booming of cannon and the waving of handkerchiefs, and friendly greetings followed the party all the way.

The Campaign in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—The Democrats and Republicans will open the campaign in this state at the same time, on the same date, between the 25th of the present and the 1st of next month. Ex-Senator McDonald is preparing a speech for the Democratic opening. He will deal altogather with the tariff issue. Ex-Governor Porter is engaged on a speech for the Republicans.

Neither the engineer nor fireman saw any lights at all. They didn't know the draw was open. Michael Kane, the draw engineer, and his assistant had turned the draw open to allow a tug and a loaded schooner to pass up the river. LARRY JEROME DEAD.

A Famous New Yorker-A Sketch of Mis Career.

SHARON, Conn., Aug. 13 .- Larry Jerome died at Century cottage yesterday about noon, in his 60th year. He became unconscious Friday, and remained in that condition until his death. He passed peacefully away, and his last hours were probably unattended by pain. His son, William Travers Jerome, and his wife, besides other relatives, were present at his bedside when the end came. Lawrence Roscoe Jerome was born at

Y. He was one of a family of eleven children, of whom ten were boys. When Lawrence was 12 years old his father moved to Marion, Wayne county, and engaged i farming on a large scale on a farm owned by Amos Hall. For several years Lawrence assisted in the farm work, and then he went to Rochester and began the study of law in the office of his uncle, Hiram K. Jerome.

Law did not suit the jolly boy, and so h soon went to New York and engaged as a clerk in a wholesale dry goods establishment. This proved no more to his taste, and he soon went into partnership with his brother Leonard and began the publication of The Native American at Rochester. After the election of Fillmore as president Lawrence Jerome was made collector of the port of Rochester, and Leonard went to Trieste as consul. When a change of administration caused his removal Lawrence came to this city, and with his brothers, Addison and Leonard, engaged in stock brokerage.

Lawrence had little money, but his friend, James Gordon Bennett, presented him with a seat on the Stock Exchange, then valued at The firm was very prosperous, and Leonard

Jerome was for a time one of the biggest men in the financial world, Lawrence, after the dissolution of the firm began operating upon his own account, but did not make a success of it. His jovial nature was not intended for business, and it is said that some of the sharpers of Wall street took advantage of his good nature borrowed large sums of money and robbed him in other ways. Mr. Jerome's wife, who survives him, was the daughter of Amos Hall, the owner of the farm upon which Lawrence worked when a boy. His brother Leonard married Clara A. Hall, another daughter. Mr. Jerome had four sons, of whom three survive him. The eldest was Roswell H. Je rome, who was assistant district attorney of New York at the age of 21. He was a re-McCord, was buried under the engine at the | markably bright young man, but died when but 23 years old. The other sons are Love H., who is a graduate of West Point, and is now a special treasury agent in Texas; Lawrence Roscoe, who is managing an extensive ranch in the west, and William Travers Jerome, an assistant district attorney on the staff of Col. Fellows.

One of their number, a man of good appearance, stated that he was from Shropshire, England; that he was a skilled workman in iron and steel; and that he as well as a number of his companions were going to Joliet, Ills., to accept positions in the steel works at that place.
