

Worry About Stanley.

Reasons for Hoping that He Is Still Alive and Safe.

THEORY OF BARTELOTT'S MURDER

No News is Good News in the Rule Applied in This Case—Stanley's Death Would Likely Be Promptly Reported—Fear of a Revolt in Spain.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Although Maj. Bartelott's murder has naturally intensified speculation as to Stanley's safety, the prevailing opinion is hopeful. The public generally regard the absence of news from the great explorer as a favorable omen. The fact of Bartelott's death was made known in Europe without much delay, and it is difficult to see how Stanley's fate, if it be a similar one, could be concealed much longer. It is easy to account for absence of information as to his movements, for he may have a personal object to serve in withholding news of this character, and details of his journey would not naturally be transmitted through native channels spontaneously. News of his death or murder, however, would, for the reverse of these reasons, travel fast and far, and would probably do so, and we should ere this, in all probability, have received it via Zanibar if not via St. Paul de Loanda.

Capt. Vangole, who has just returned to Europe from the Congo country, expresses himself as convinced of Tippoo Tib's innocence of connection with the death of Maj. Bartelott. Tippoo, he says, is engaged entirely in commerce and had an interest in the success of Maj. Bartelott's expedition. The expedition was supplied by Tippoo Tib with an escort of porters, who agreed to wait until they arrived at Zanibar for payment. Capt. Vangole attributes the major's murder to the circumstance that payment for the services of the porters depended entirely upon the success of the journey, and also to Bartelott's strict discipline. He believes that Professor Jamieson will have great difficulty in organizing a new expedition, and is convinced that Stanley is safe.

Every added day of silence, of course, increases the mystery surrounding Stanley's expedition, and if he has planned through secrecy to create a final sensation he will have succeeded in that aim.

The people of Madrid are just recovering from a bad scare. Three nights ago the governor, expecting a military revolt in favor of a republic, kept the imperial troops under arms all night, and extreme vigilance was exercised at the barracks. There was no trouble, however, and if there was any plot brewing it has proved a fizzle. There has been more or less uneasiness in military circles, however, for some time past, and it is undeniable that disaffection exists among the soldiery.

To what extent the revolutionary spirit prevails cannot be determined, at least by the outside public, and it is only from the anxious attitude of the government that it is inferred that the army is seriously honeycombed with disloyalty to the present form of administration. Disbelievers in the stability of any kind of government in Spain are cynically pointing out that a revolution is about due, if the country is to keep up its record in chronic changing.

Senator Sherman's remarks on the Canadian question have excited some uneasiness here. The conservative journals especially discuss the question in the light of Morston Brown's criticism in The Times, declaring that unless Canada is more closely tied to England she will naturally find her self interested in coalescing with the United States.

Remonstrance Meeting.
DUBLIN, Sept. 17.—A monster meeting was held in Phoenix park to protest against a continuance of the imprisonment of Tom Moroney, who was sentenced to Kilmainham jail in January, 1887, for contempt of court in refusing to testify. The lord mayor, Mr. William O'Brien and other prominent sympathizers with the Nationalists spoke. Several government reporters were present.

He Found It Was Loaded.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Andrew T. Rolls, a 9-year-old negro boy, was shot and killed by Andrew J. Clark, a 17-year-old white boy. Clark was at an upper story window handling a parlor rifle, when Rolls asked him if it was loaded. Clark said he would show him, and pulled the trigger, shooting Roll through the heart and killing him instantly. Clark claims that he did not know the gun was loaded.

Palace Cars for Cattle.
ODEN, Utah, Sept. 17.—Special trains of fat cattle belonging to Messrs Crocker & Taylor reached here from Nevada via the Central Pacific road. The cattle are being conveyed in special cattle palace cars, and will be run through to Chicago on passenger time, being fed and watered while in transit. If the experiment proves successful large shipments will probably be made in this way.

A mass meeting in their behalf will be held here to-night. The strikers and their families number 30,000 persons.

Suicide from a Ferryboat.
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—As the ferryboat Southfield was off Governor's Island on her 8:20 p. m. trip to this city from St. George last night a well dressed man of about 25 years jumped from the upper deck into the river. A small boat put off after him, but his body was not recovered.

THREE WEEKS OF RAIN.

Incalculable Loss to Crops and Property in Georgia.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 17.—For three weeks the rains have fallen almost incessantly, one result being irreparable damage to the cotton crop. When the rains began the fiber was in full bloom, and the condition was quoted as being up to the average of last year, which meant a crop of $50,000 bales. Reports received here by the heavy cotton buyers up to one week ago, established a falling off of ten per cent. in the yield, owing to the rains. Since Friday, after three days of clear weather, torrents of rain have poured down, the fall of the twenty-four hours being estimated throughout the state at thirty-one and a half inches. This immense body of water has resulted in overflowing along the river lands, swamping the bottom lands, and utterly ruining the cotton crop. The heaviest cotton section in the state is along the watersheds of the Ocmulgee. This river is largely out of its bed. For over a week railroad schedules between Savannah and Atlanta have been abandoned, and for several days nine-tenths of the Georgia Central road leading out from Augusta was completely submerged. The loss in yield is now estimated by the best authorities at 27 per cent.

This does not tell the whole loss, however, for the rains have beaten the cotton to the ground, and almost the entire crop will be ruined. The majority of grades will amount to less than 5 per cent. that the depreciation in grade and the loss in yield will both foot up 30 per cent. of the crop.

Gathering of Eminent Medical Men.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The hotels are full of distinguished medical men, who are here to attend the sessions of the Medical Congress. Among the names entered as guests of the Cosmos and other clubs are Sir Spencer Wells, Sir William Macrorose, Mr. Reginald Harrison, F. R. C. S. Mr. Thomas Bryant, F. R. C. S.; Dr. W. M. Ord, Dr. W. S. Priestley, Dr. V. A. H. Horsley, Dr. David Ferrer and Dr. W. M. Graybeard, all of London; Professor F. von Reznach and Dr. Erwin Reznach; of Koll; Dr. J. Halliday Crown, of Edinburgh; Dr. D. Hayes Agnew, William Pepper and S. W. Gross, of Philadelphia; Dr. G. F. Schryver, of Fort York; W. A. Draper and T. A. Emmett, of New York; J. C. Warren and H. B. Bowditch, of Boston; and Pendleton Dandridge, of Cincinnati.

Short Yield of Wheat.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 17.—Col. George D. Rogers, editor of the Northwest-er Market Review, writes as follows concerning the wheat crop deficiency in the northwest: "Thrashing machines are now at work in all parts of this state and Dakota. In a few places the yield is good, but these are small in the extent of each. There are probably more acres not cut at all than that will go above twenty bushels. Millions of acres are yielding less than ten bushels, and many but four to six bushels. The result is disappointment in almost all sections. The whole wheat crop of Minnesota and Dakota, now harvested, appears to fall at least 35,000,000 bushels below the yield of last year, and not less than 25,000,000 bushels below the yield of the preceding year."

To Make Use of the Season.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Maj. J. W. Powell, director of the geological survey, is engaged in planning four expeditions to be sent out under the authority contained in the sundry civil bill, appropriating $100,000 to investigate the practicability of building reservoirs on the great water sheds of the west to store the surplus water of the wet season for irrigating the vast plains of Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico and other states and territories west of the rainless belt. One exploring expedition will be sent to the headwaters of the Arkansas and Platte rivers in Colorado, another to the source of the Walker river in Nevada, a third to the Gila watershed in Arizona and the fourth to the source of the Rio Grande del Norte.

San Francisco Astonished by a Storm.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Thunder storms are rare in this city and vicinity, and a heavy storm Friday and Saturday, accompanied by sharp lightning, caused considerable astonishment. Rain fell in torrents, the total fall being nearly one inch in twenty-four hours.

Throughout the northern and central parts of the state the rainfall was also heavy, and much damage is reported to grain lying in stacks in the field, as well as to grapes and dry feed. Following after ten days of great heat the rain has injured grapes severely, although in Fresno, the center of raisin making, the showers were light.

Genus in Georgia.
CARROLLTON, Ga., Sept. 17.—Wilson and Blalock, mining engineers at Carrollton, have called on to examine a rare gem. Several years ago Mrs. Tally found a brilliant stone in the lower part of Harrison county, and gave it to her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Belsion, of Carrollton. Many experts here examined it and pronounced it a first water diamond of the value of $40,000. It is thought by many experts that rubies, diamonds, garnets and beryl abound in this particular geological formation.

Looks Like Murder.
CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—A boy looking for his lost ball under the sidewalk on Desplains street found the decomposing body of a young man. It had apparently been thrust under the walk in the busiest part of the street, and had been there a long time. The clothing was shabby, and by the side of the body was a paper cap made of a bag, such as workmen wear. The deceased was about 17 years old. The case looks like murder. The body has not been identified.

The Havana Cigarmakers' Strike.
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17.—The Plymoun's Key West special says: Advice from Havana indicate that the cigarmakers' strike is no nearer a settlement than when it started five weeks ago. The manufacturers are as determined as the men, and have organized a lockout, which will probably continue a long time. It is estimated that 8,000 operatives are out of work, and the distress among their families is great.

Gifts to an Orphan's Home.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Col. Joseph M. Bunnell, owner of the Chestnut Street Opera house, who recently gave $5,000 to the Methodist Orphan's home, learning that it was still pressed for money, has offered $50,000 more, on condition that $10,000 be raised from other sources before Oct. 14, $2,000 of the necessary amount was immediately subscribed, and there will be no difficulty in obtaining the remainder.

LIVES OF THE CANDIDATES.
A TIMELY AND DISTINGUISHED WORK BY W. U. HENSEL AND GEORGE F. PARKER.

An agreeable variation from the hackneyed catalogues of campaign literature is furnished in the "Lives and Public Services of Grover Cleveland and Allen G. Thurman" by William U. Hensel, ex-Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Pa., and George F. Parker, manager of the New York "Press." At this late day anything like a eulogy of Grover Cleveland would be a work of grotesque supererogation, and yet inevitably one feels that the nearer glimpse of the man afforded by this most elevated work in the esteem of all thinking men.

This is not a work of apology for any of Mr. Cleveland's acts, and yet, the real facts of certain parts of his life which have been set upon by his enemies to besmear him or put him in an undignified light, show very clearly a good purpose and clear conscience. From first to last it may truthfully be said that assistance has sought Grover Cleveland at first, indeed in vain, as when, in 1867, he declined the U. S. Assistant District Attorneyship for the Northern New York district. But on January 1, 1862, when he became Mayor of Buffalo, it was with the approval of the largest majority the city had ever given.

The kind of political "availability" which consists in official integrity has always been that for which Mr. Cleveland was known. His career as a public man before us has been such that his enemies to besmear him or put him in an undignified light, show very clearly a good purpose and clear conscience. From first to last it may truthfully be said that assistance has sought Grover Cleveland at first, indeed in vain, as when, in 1867, he declined the U. S. Assistant District Attorneyship for the Northern New York district. But on January 1, 1862, when he became Mayor of Buffalo, it was with the approval of the largest majority the city had ever given.
