Whitechapel Mystery

TWO MORE WOMEN MUTILATED.

The Police Paralyzed, and Impotent. Crowds Visit the Scene of the Tragedy. The Murderous Fiend Writes a Jeering Letter and Scoffs at the Police.

LONDON, Oct. 1 .- The two women found murdered near the scene of the former butcheries in Whitechapel, late Saturday night have been recognized as dissolute characters who have long frequented that vicinity. One of them was found in Berner street with her throat cut from ear to ear. The other was discovered lying in Mitre square. She, like the first mentioned victim, had her throat cut, but in addition she had been disemboweled and her nose had been cut off. The murderer had evidently been disturbed in his work in Berner street and had no time to mutilate the body of his victim.

The woman murdered in Berner street has been identified as Elizabeth Strude, a native of Stockholm and an inmate of a low lodging house. The identity of the other woman has not as vet been established.

The discovery of the bodies completely paralyzed the police, and Gen. Sir Charles Warren, chief commissioner, was at once called out of bed. He repaired immediately to the scene of the murders, and gave orders to have the police force in that district strongly reinforced.

In consequence of the refusal of Home Secretary Matthews to offer a reward for the detection of the murderer, the residents of the east end on Saturday forwarded a petition to the queen herself, praying her to authorize the payment of a reward.

The first murder occurred shortly after midnight in a narrow court leading from the street, and directly beneath the windows of a Socialist club composed of foreigners. A concert was in progress in the club rooms at the time, and a large number of people were present, but not a sound was heard from the victim. The second murder occurred three-quarters of an hour later, in Mitre square, five minutes walk from the scene of the first tragedy.

The police patrol the square every ten minutes, but the murderer managed to elude them. The vigilance committees will resume their patrol of the district, extending their lines of watchfulness.

London is in a fever of excitement and Whitechapel in a state of terror over the resumption of the horrible butcheries, the fourth of which, it was hoped, and quite generally believed, would be the last of the ghastly series. The police are positively helpless and their tacit admission of failure to find any clew whatsoever to the perpetrator of the terrible crimes only serves to add to the consternation of the unfortunate creatures whose calling has manifestly made them the objects of the inhuman butcher's fury. The number of theories advanced as accounting for the murders and seeking to establish the identity of the murderer is positively be wildering, but none of them is accepted by the police as the correct one, although the Scotland Yard detectives have nothing more plausible to offer for themselves. The abso-

CONGRESSIONAL DIARY. Daily Events of the Week in Senate and House. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.-The president's mes age was read in the senate Monday and referred to the foreign relations committee; also in the house. No business of general interest was transacted in either branch. In the senate Tuesday Mr. Morgan continued his speech replying to Mr. Sherman on the relations with Canada. An executive session was held to consider a resolution calling upon the president for any information concerning the Chinese treaty. The tariff bill was re ported and its formal reading begun. Nothing of interest was done in the honse. In the senate Wednesday Mr. George de-livered a lengthy speech on the subject of establishing inquests under national authority, and Mr. Daniels spoke on the president's message and the tariff question. The house passed a number of bills from the committee on public lands and military.

The house adopted the report of the conferees on the sundry civil appropriation bill Thursday. There was a lively political debate in the senate over Mr. Chandler's resolution for the investigation of the Louisiana election. The Stahlnecker committee reported to the house Friday completely exonerating Congressman Stahlnecker and stating its belief that Judge Kelley offered the resolution calling for the investigation in good faith. An adjournment was taken to Monday. There was no session of the senate.

SUGAR REFINERIES SHUT DOWN.

The Alleged Object Is to Reduce the Pro duction to the Consumption.

BOSTON, Oct. 2 .- President Atkins, of the Bay State Sugar company, when questioned as to the shut down of the Bay State sugar refinery ordered by the trusteess, said: "I do not regard it as a permanent shut down by any means. It is simply an economic busi-ness arrangement. The demand for refined sugars lets up usually about Oct. 1. During November and December all the sugar refineries cut down their melting. The Bay State company being in the trust, of course, is subject to its orders, and it is far easier and more economical to shut down one refinery as a whole than to cut down several partially. It really simplifies matters and makes less trouble. All there is in the shut down of the Bay State may be summed up in a few words: We reduce the production of sugar to the consumption. Boston is not alone affected; some refineries in New York will also shut down. We employ from 130 to 150 men. Many of these are laborers, in the ordinary sense, and will get work elsewhere.

Some are skilled hands; they will be looked after as far as possible."

nt condition of the po the matter has led them, however, to catch at straws in the way of evidence which in ordinary cases would be spurned by the self important burrowers for dynamiters and divers for parcels of sawdust.

The most significant of these is a letter which was received at the office of the Central News company in one of the postal deliveries on Thursday afternoon. The letter, which is written in a scrawling hand, is familarly ad-dressed "Dear Boss," and signed "Jack, the Ripper." After boasting that he committed all of the Whitechapel murders, the writer continues: "I love my work and want to start at it again. The next job I do I shall cut off the lady's ear and send it to the police. Keep this letter back till I do a bit more work, and then give it out to the police straight."

A remarkable feature of the Mitre squar murder is the fact that one of the dead woman's ears was nearly severed, and this circumstance is held to indicate that the real murderer wrote the letter. Most of the newspapers issued special editions yesterday, giving copious details of the tragedies an volunteering much advice to the police, which they would do well to follow. Great crowds visited the scene of the murders, and gazed at the bloodstained pavement with a degree of fascination difficult for the police to overcome, in their efforts to keep the highway clear. The lodging houses, alleys, etc., of the Whitechapel district are being scoured by detectives.

THE BIG WHEAT FLURRY.

Another Exciting Session of Chicago's Ex change-Quiet at the Close.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 .- The excitement change did not end with the close of the deal in September wheat. During the delivery hour yesterday morning, while the delivery clerks were busy on the floor, the curb was crowded with anxious traders. It was estimated that nearly 1,000,000 bushels of October wheat was delivered, and about half of it was credited to Hutchinson. The 10:30 bell found a strained, anxious feeling on the floor. The first five minutes in the pit was pandeium, with December everywhere from $1.04 to $1.04%, and back again to $1.04. October sold at $1.03 and $1.03% and May at $1.04 and $1.05. The failures that were announced, of Frank Clifton and S. C. Orr, only intensified the feeling.

It was about 11 a. m. when Clifton's failure became known. About this time there was a special spurt of buying to cover December wheat. The effect on the crowd was wonder ful. With the thought of $1,50 in their minds, the crowd went wild and bid prices up in an unusual way. October went from $1.03% to $1.07%, December from $1.04 to $1.08, and May from $1.04% to $1.07%. Hutchinson then turned seller and the effect was immediately felt. In thirty minutes December was back to $1.051%, and the excitement in a asure subsided. Prices ruled easier from this time until the close, although December bulged to $1.06½ at 12.43. Receipts were 506 cars. The visible supply increased 500,000 bushels. The excitement in wheat made other markets appear neglected.

Ecclesiastical Capital of a New Arch-Episcopal Diocese.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 28.-Yesterday transpired the most important event in the history of Catholicism in the northwest. Archbishop Ireland was given his title and St. Paul was made the ecclesiastical capital of the newly designated arch-episcopal diocese. The new diocese includes Minnesota and Dakota, and is one of thirteen similar territorial divisions of the Roman Catholic church in the United States. Archbishop Ireland's residence in St. Paul dates from 1851, with the exception of the years he was completing his education abroad. He was born at Burnchurch, Kilkenny county, Ireland, Sept. 11, 1838. Preparations had been in progress for a number of months, and the ceremony had been looked forward to with great interest by both Protestants and Catholics. Pontifical high mass was first celebrated by Bishop Marty, of Yankton, D. T., assisted by a large number of priests from different parts of the United States. Bishop Keane preached the sermon.

An Effective Temperance Crusade.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 29.-When the hus-band of Mrs. Mary Elmer failed to go home Wednesday night she surmised that he had been in a leading illegal liquor saloon. Arming herself with an ax, she went to the place. She had told the dealer that if he sold her husband any more liquor she would break up his place. Einding the door locked, she broke it down with the ax, broke open an inner door, and drove the barkeeper from the house. In one of the rooms Mrs. Elmer found her husband drunk. This infuriated her still more, and she broke the glass in the bar room, all the windows and the furniture. When she had completely wrecked the place she gave the drunken husband a few sound ouffs, marched him home and administered a first class flogging with a buggy whip.
