Fatal Boiler Explosion.

READING, Pa., Nov. 3.-A terrible accident, resulting in the killing of five men and injury of many others, took place this morning on the farm of Jonas Spayd, in Bern township, this county, where a steam threshing machine was in operation. The boiler exploded with fearful force The list of killed is as follows:

William Rever, a boy, aged 16. Joseph Machmer, aged 14, the only support of his widowed sister.

Isaac Marberger, aged 16. Joseph Spayd, aged about 32. Irvin Duntelberger, aged 19.

These men were engaged in operating the threshing machine when the boiler exploded and were standing but a few feet from it, and when the smoke had cleared away a terrible scene was presented.

The bodies of all five were lying some disto fifty feet. They were terribly mutilated. The body of Machiner was hurled clean through the weather boarding of the barn. Among the injured was a son of Mrs. Rigel, aged 15. George Hinnershitz, Sr., was thrown 100

Three Boys Dashed to Death Zanesville, O., has for several days been testing a new fire escape attached to the front end of the Monongahela house. All day people were descending on the escape from Wilson's room on the fifth floor in perfect safety. In the afternoon three boys, James McCune, aged 14, John Duddy, aged 15, and Daniel Nagle, aged 14, were induced to tie the rope under their arms and swing out from the window. They had descended but a few feet when the rope parted near the pully, and the boys were dashed to the stone sidewalk seventy feet below. The crowd watching the accident were spalled. McCune and Duddy were almost instantly killed, and Nagle fatally injured. Wilson was arrested and locked up. He was almost crazed by the

Trying to Effect a Compromise Between the Rawsons.

CHICAGO'S CELEBRATED CASE.

It Has Thus Far Led to Two Nearly Successful Attempts at Murder and Endless Legal Complications-Judge Jamieson's

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 .- It is announced that the notorious Rawson divorce case, which has had so many strange and startling phases during the two years it has been in the courts, is almost at an end. It is understood among the lawyers that a compromise has been made between the banker and his wife, and Judge Jamieson, before whom some of the issues of this extraordinary suit have been tried, is the reported mediator. The terms of settlement are these: Mr. Rawson agrees to give his wife $40,000, and her divorce suit on the ground of desertion will be allowed to go by default. All other suits-which are legion-will be dropped, Mr. Rawson retracts his charges against his wife's character, and the criminal prosecution against her for shooting Col. Whitney will be discontinued.

The history of the troubles of the Rawsons would fill a book. Stephen W. Rawson is one of the wealthiest men in Chicago, and is about 64 years old. Four years ago he married Miss America L. Lee, a remarkably handsome woman, more than twenty years his junior. She had been twice divorced, was once a treasury clerk at Washington, and before that something of a watering place belle. Mr. Rawson lived with his bride in a magnificent marble front residence on the west side, but in a few months it was common talk that the couple did not get on well together, and in the fall of 1886 Mr. Rawson began suit for divorce on the ground of unfaithfulness

The only witness he had was a sleeping car porter, and this man afterward confessed that he had sworn falsely, and the case was thrown out of court. Since then Mr. Rawson has filed amended bills, his wife has filed cross bills, there have been rejoinders and sur-rejoinders, affidavits, depositions and traverses, until the accumulation is far beyond any precedent in even a Chicago divorce case. Both parties to the suit have had detectives watching each other, and whenever a detective saw a chance for an affidavit one was immediately added to the pile.

Mrs. Rawson had a son, Ralph Lee, and be was the cause of a good deal of the trouble between the banker and his wife. On Sunday, Oct. 15 of last year, young Lee crept up behind Mr. Rawson as he was leaving church and shot him in the back. The wound was supposed to be fatal, but Mr. Rawson got well and young Rawson was sent to prison tance away, having been hurled from thirty for a year. His mother was indicted for complicity, but the trial was postponed several times and finally the case was dropped. June 1 Mrs. Rawson's lawyers went before Judge Jamieson to urge a speedy hearing of the suit. Col. A. R. Whitney was arguing against them when Mrs. Rawson dashed into yards and was picked up in a dying condition. | the room and shot him twice. His wounds were also supposed to be mortal, but he is alive, though were feeble. Mrs. Rawson was indicted, but has not yet been tried. Last week she filed a new bill of divorce for deser-

Three Blocks Burned.

GARY, D. T., Nov. 6 .- An incendiary fire The barn was wrecked, and pieces of iron wiped out three of the largest business blocks in town. The fire was discovered in Ends & Bartlett's hardware store, and every effort was made to save the adjoining property. The only means of fighting the fire was by buckets. Several families living in the upper stories escaped in their night clothes. Many poor families are left entirely destitute. Th heaviest loser is E. N. Feten, who lost $16,000 on stock and building.

National Grange.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 .- J. M. Blanton, of Virginia, chairman of the executive committee, and Dr. John Trimble, of this city, secretary of the National Grange, will leave Washington on Thursday to attend the an nual session of the grange at Topeka, Kan. On Wednesday they will inspect certain building sites in Washington in order to report to the annual session as to the advisability of erecting a building for the headquar ters of the grange.

Explosion of Corn Starch Dust.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 .- An explosion of corn starch dust last evening damaged the five story building used as a store house for the big sugar refinery near the Twelfth street riaduct to the extent of $10,000. Magnus Hammel, a laborer, was dangerously burned about the face and hands, and his eyes were nearly destroyed by hot air. Several other laborers were stunned by the explosion, but not seriously hurt.

THE PARNELL INQUIRY.

O'Shea, the Irish Leader's False Friend, on the Witness Stand.

LONDON, Nov. 1.-The examination of witnesses in the Parnell inquiry proved to be much more attractive to the outside public than the address of Sir Richard Webster last week. The court room in which the commission sits was crowded.

Capt. O'Shea was called to the witness stand in behalf of The Times. He stated that at Mr. Parnell's request he conferred with Mr. Gladstone in June, 1881. The interview was accomplished without the knowledge of Mr. Parnell's colleagues.

Negotiations were discontinued until 1882, when Messrs. Parnell and Dillon were in Kilmainham jail. The proposals which the witness made to the government in 1882 were made without the authority of Mr. Parnell. On the day after the Phoenix park tragedy Mr. Parnell showed the witness the anti-mur der manifesto. Mr. Parnell expressed himself as favoring the manifesto, but disliked the bombast in the document, which he said was necessary to appease the vanity of Mr.

Seven letters were here shown to the witness, who declared that the signatures were

The fac simile letter of The Times was shown to the witness, who was decidedly of the opinion that the writing was that of Mr. Parnell. He had received a number of letters from Mr. Parnell about the same date and could not mistake his signature.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—At the sitting of the Parnell commission Capt. O'Shea was recalled to the witness stand. He submitted the protest, referred to in his evidence Thursday, regarding his exclusion from parliament by Mr. Parnell. The evidence given by the police reporters before the Parnell commission was decidedly favorable to the Parnellites. Sir Charles Russell cross-examined them thoroughly, and his line of questions brought out response that indicate that the League saved the people from famine and despair, and that the outrages committed in Ireland were due solely to extremists who were opposed to lawful agitation in any shape. The opinion is now expressed that the inquiry will not continue as long as was at first thought. The very nature of the testimony given thus far, and the apparent weakness of The Times case, seem to indicate an easy and swift victory for Mr. Parnell and his associates.

In a tavern opposite the law courts Joseph Kavanagh drew a revolver and fired a shot at Planche Cox. The shot did not take effect, Kavanagh was arrested and committed to jail on a charge of attempted murder.

LONDON, Nov. 3 .- The Kavanagh-Cox affray has created a tremendous sensation in Parnellite circles, and has also stirred up considerable feeling among the Tories. The examination of Kavanagh in the police court has proved the reckless manner in which The Times has gone about obtaining evidence to sustain its case, as well as the disregard of truth shown by its agents, whether upon their own or their employers' account. The witnesses in the case showed conclusively that even humble workmen were paid £6 per week-a greater sum than they ever had in their lives-to remain in London and answer to their names when called to the witness box, and the testimony altogether shows that the witnesses bought, including the prisoner, Kavanagh, are of the kind not to be believed under oath, if their antecedents | cratic parade at Newark, N. About the Arctic Ocean.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 6 .- Capt. Healy, of the steam revenue cutter Bear, was a visitor by invitation at the board of trade rooms yesterday. He gave valuable information with respect to the Arctic ocean, its winds, currents, ice packs and scanty means of living opened to wrecked crews who might escape to the shore. He said that when the alarming reports were circulated to the effect that thirteen whalers had been locked in the ice in September be gave them no credence whatever, and that the statement with respect to expeditions being fitted out at the Fox Islands and at San Francisco for their relief were purely imaginative

The Real Grievance,

London, Nov. 6 .- The Standard, in an article on the Sackville incident, says: "The real grievance is not the letter, but the verbal explanation of Lord Sackville. The surprise, however, is that the people of England are told that when Lord Salisbury asked Minister Phelps for an accurate statement of what Lord Sackville really said Mr. Phelps was unable to furnish it, and immediately afterward, and before Lord Saiisbury was enabled to act, Lord Sackville received his papers of dismissal."

Two Men Fatally Injured.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 6 -- The powde mills at Ganbo, belonging to the Orienta Powder company, and consisting of four frame buildings, blew up, fatally injuring Walter Childs and Edward Williams, the only two men on the mills at the time. Both were fearfully hurt by the flying fragments and cannot live. Childs, who is 40 years of age, has a wife and child. The buildings were not worth much, and are a total loss.

A Boy's Head Blown Off.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 6 .- Two boys, one son of David McDermond and the other a son of Wesley Rudolph, both of Mount Holly, went gunning near this place. Becoming tired, they laid down in the brush to rest. While in that position McDermond drew his rifle toward him; the hammer caught in the brush and the gun was discharged into his head, almost tearing it from his body.

Gratitude of the Czar for His Escape. St. Petersburg, Nov. 6 .- The czar has issued a manifesto stating that he shares with the people their thanks to God for his miraculous escape from death in last Monday's railroad accident. He says: "May the providence who protected our life and consecrated it to the country's welfare strengthen us to faithfully fulfil to the end the great duties that its will has laid upon us."

Run Down By Drunken Equestrians. New York, Nov. 6.-At College Point a respectable market gardener named Joseph Kroger was wantonly run down in the street, trampled and killed by a half dozen drunken feilows mounted on mustangs, who were riding recklessly through the town. The men have been traced to a riding school in Brooklyn, but their identity is not yet es-

Heavy Election Bets. CRICAGO, Nov. 6 .- Frank Shaw, the St. Paul pool room proprietor, came to town with $10,000 to wager at even money on Harrison's success in New York state. James A. Murphy, the commission man, who has $25,000 wagered on Democratic chances, covered the bet. The $10,000 was deposited in the First National bank.

Saicide of a Vagrant.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 6 .- A young man under sentence for vagrancy, who was committed to the jail in this city on Oct. 29 under the name of John Whylan, hanged himself in his ceil early in the morning. He told a young man arrested with him that his real name was John Harrigan, and that his parents lived at Salem.
