SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—The miners employed by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company and the Pennsylvania Coal company met here to demand a reduc tion from $3 to $2 per keg in the price about 1:30, the moon's shadow darkened the charged them for mining powder at the company's stores. A committee waited upon the general coal agent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, who informed them that the price could not be reduced at about 66 miles broad. The shadow track lay

He was then asked if the miners would be permitted to buy powder where they could secure it cheaper. He objected to this on the ground that the powder furnished by outside parties was of an inferior quality and was condemned by the mine inspectors. The meeting took no further action, but ad journed to meet at the call of the chairman. The miners assert that the companies buy powder for $1.25 a keg.

It is feared that the dissatisfaction concerning this matter will lead to a strike. The employes of the Pennsylvania Coal company will hold mass meetings at Pittston and Dunmore on Saturday next to discuss the subject.

Cash for the Well Drillers. BRADFORD, Pa., Dec. 29.-The Era says The executive committee of the Well Drillers' union concluded a final settlement with the Producers' Protective association or Thursday. One million barrels of oil have been sold and the net profits will be distributed among the members of the order. It is understood that the oil realized about 19 cents per barrel, which will give $100,000 for the drillers and tool dressers who have remained in the order. Besides this, they will have a residue interest in the 700,000 barrels, which still remains to be sold for the benefit of the oil well workers.

Public Indignation Finds Vent. HUNTINGDON, Pa., Dec. 26.-Intense feelng prevaus in this county against the board of poor directors, who at a recent meeting for the election of steward displaced Jackson Lambertson, against the express wishes of nine-tenths of the citizens in the county. Eloped with His Ex-Wife.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Dec. 27 .- Dr. William A. Hammill, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and Lillian Benton Hammill, of Hagerstown, Md., arrived here late at night, and were married in the parlor of the hotel at 1:30 in the morning. The two were formerly husband and wife, but were divorced in June, 1887. The woman and her child have been living in Hagerstown with relatives. The doctor went to the house and stole both woman and child away, helping them over a rear fence. They wanted to be married at once. The deputy clerk was aroused, a license proceded and the marriage performed. Mrs. Hammill has rich relatives in Hagerstown. Both assert they have been constant to each other, and that the divorce was procured through meddling relatives.

Millers Trightfully Mangled. Evenson, Pa., Dec. 31.-While a number of Polish miners were preparing two kegs of powder for their work a spark from a pipe caused a terrific explosion. Joseph Chren-chick, John Buloak, Stephen Vetco, Bula Plossoca, Joseph Verostic and Michael Colwell were all frightfully cut and burned. The flesh is off Buloak's legs, arms and back, and he will die. Chrenchick's feet are blown almost off and will have to be amputated. Of the six, three are in a precarious condition. Four frame houses belonging to the H. C. Frick Coke company were destroyed by the fire which followed.

Carved Into Pieces. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 .- A most horrible murder, in which the victim was butchered and his legs severed from his body, was discovered yesterday.

George Herwood, Walter J. Bennett, Thomas Kenny and Frank McCabe, all young boys, were playing on a lot at Thirty-third street and Columbia avenue, near the Engleside station of the Pennsylvania railroad, known as "Snyder's Woods," on which a lot of water pipes were stored. Herwood was crawling through one of the pipes when he discovered two coarse bags containing some-thing that felt like a human body. He called to his companions, and they told a policeman. The bags were taken to the Twenty-third district station house. Chief of Detectives Woods says there is no Chief of Detactives Woods says there is no doubt that it is a cold blooded, well planned murder, but until the victim is identified nothing can be done. It is believed that he was employed in one of the breweries in the neighborhood where his body was found.

A Child Burned to Death, PITTSBURG, Dec. 31.-Last night fire broke out in the residence of Michael McGuire, partially destroying the building and caus-ing the death of Mary McGuire, a child of 8 years. One of Mr. McGuire's children, in lighting the candles on a Christmas tree, set fire to the tree itself. The flames spread to the building and had gained considerable headway when the fire department arrived.
Two adjoining frame buildings were also badly damaged. Little Mary McGuire was not missed by her parents until it was impossible for any one to enter the burning building. The firemen concentrated their efforts to driving the flames back from the front part of the house while Robert McAdams started to rescue the child. He found her lying on a bed, still breathing, but almost suffocated by snicke and heat. She was carried to a physician's office, but expired before restoratives could be applied.

Vesuvius, the New Dynamite Cruiser, Runs Nearly Twenty Knots an Hour. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29 .- The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius left Philadelphia Thursday to make a second test of her speed. She returned yesterday afternoon. The following is the official report made by a government expert, and was approved by the Messrs. Cramp and all the supervisors of "The Vesuvius returned to Cramp's shipyard at 1 p. m., Dec. 28, 1888, from her second trial trip. She made a run just before dark Thursday night under very unfavorable circumstances, the wind blowing a gale and an unusually heavy sea running. Under these disadvantages she made a mean speed of 19.59 knots in two runs over a two knot course. The disadvantage of the heavy sea was much aggravated by the shallowness of the water on the measured course. It was also conceded on all hands that the water on the measured course is much too shallow to give the vessel a fair chance within at least a half to three-quarters of a knot per hour. "Yesterday she started to make another run, and had gone over three-fourths of the course in the first run at the rate of at least 21 knots, when one of the air pumps connecting levers broke, which necessitated the shutting off of that engine, and the re-mainder of the run was made with the other engine alone. Under that disadvantage her speed over the whole course was 19.47 knots per hour. Thereupon the trial ended."

The Messra Cramp announce that they feel in duty bound to give another test of speed of the Vesuvius, but they will ask that the course be chosen farther down the bay, near the Breakwater, so that a clear way and an ample depth of water may be had, with every chance of the vessel to show her very highest speed. They have no doubt whatever that the Vesuvius will in every way prove superior to her contract specifications, and they are particularly desirous of showing that she is the fastest vessel affoat.

ANOTHER ENGLISH HORROR.

The Body of an 8-Year-Old Boy Found Frightfully Mutilated.

LONDON, Dec. 31 .- A murder equal in atrocity to those committed by the Whitechapel flend occurred at Bradford, Yorkshire. The victim was Johnnie Gill, an 8-year-old boy. When the lad failed to re-turn home on Thursday evening his parents became alarmed, and reported his disappearance to the police. The next day his mutilated body was found in an outhouse a mile from the place where he was last seen alive. The body had been disemboweled in the nanner made shockingly familiar by the Whitechapel fiend. The heart had been torn out entirely and hung upon the throat, and both boots had been taken off the lad's feet and thrust into the gaping body. Both arms and legs had been roughly chopped off and tied to the body by means of the suspenders worn by the child. The face and body generally were backed as if in wanton brutality. There were other mutilations which cannot be described here.

A comfortable theory which the local police profess to entertain is that this flendish murler was the work of drunken lads whose imaginations had been influenced by the grewsome accounts published of Whitechapel atrocities; but it is incredible that any one but a strong nerved man could have mutilated the poor little corpse in the bestial fashion in which the work was actually done. The police have received and traced to their origin letters'which lead them to believe that "Jack the Ripper" is living in the vicinity of Drury Lane. They do not accept the theory that the Whitechapel flend had anything to do with the mirder of little John Gill, and seem confident that the clew upon which they are now working will result in the murderer's capture in London.

BURNING OF THE BRISTOL.

The Magnificent Sound Steamer Is Totally Destroyed.

NEWPORT, R. L. Dec. 31.-The steamer Bristol, of the Fall River line, was found to be on fire at 6:20 a. m., and in a short time was destroyed. No one was injured, though a few Newport passengers who had remained in their staterooms to await a convenient hour for rising had narrow escapes, and some of them lost all their clothing. All the baggage, however, was saved. The steamer's freight had also been landed before the fire broke out. The Fall River and Boston passengers had all departed, the last train leaving just as the alarm was given.

The fire started near the kitchen, and spread very rapidly. The fire department of Newport, together with the police force, exerted themselves in every possible way to check the flames, but the joiner work of the staterooms, saloon and stairways was as dry as tinder, and draughts through the steamer caused a fearfully rapid spread of the flames, so that before the fire department arrived there was a mass of fire sweeping her almost from stem to stern.

The Bristol was built twenty-two years ago, at a cost of nearly $1,000,000, to run to Bristol in opposition to the Fall River line. When Jim Fisk got control of the Fall River line he bought the Bristol. The Bristol was insured for $450,000, but her insurance was but $300,000, which General Manager Kendrick says will nearly cover the loss.

A Defaulting Bank Cashier. LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 1 .- At a meeting of the directors of the Wrightsville National bank, George R. Sheneberger, the cashier, acknowledged that he had overdrawn his account to the extent of $1,200. He said he had become involved through indorsements for a relative. The directors have taken no action as yet. Sheneberger is sick in bed. He was treasurer of the Wrightsville Grand Army post, and has appropriated $650 of the post's funds. His bondsmen have made good the loss to the bank, and he is no longer in the latter's employ. Engineer and Fireman Killed. MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Jan. 1.—The passen-ger train east on the Milwaukee road struck a broken rail five miles east of Tama. Fassett Nominated President of the Senate and Cole Speaker of the House. ALBANY, Jan. 1.—The Republican senate caucus was quick work. Mr. Hendricks nominated Senator Fassett for president pro tem., and Mr. Sloan seconded it, and everybody applauded and approved. That was all the caucus had to do.

The house caucus was called to order, and Mr. Ainsworth presided, making a graceful speech, in which he said if New York was to retain her position in the Republican column personal ends must be sacrificed to the general good. Gen. Husted nominated Freemont Cole for speaker, saying that the dig-nity, care and honor with which he had presided over the last assembly made it natural and eminently proper that the majority of the old members should prefer to see him re-

The Democratic assemblymen bestowed their honors upon Governor Hill's friend and spokesman from Buffalo, Mr. Sheehan, by nominating him for speaker, and Charles T. Dunning, of Goshen, for clerk.

The inaugural parade was the largest and finest ever seen here. The procession started at the foot of State street, marched through the principal streets, and finally reviewed by the governor near its starting point.

The column was divided into three parts. of the national guard:

Twenty-second regiment, First battery Second battery detachment, Twelfth regi-ment, New York; Thirteenth regiment, Brooklyn; Twelfth Separate company, Sixth Separate company, Twenty-first Separate company, Troy; Sixth battery, Binghamton; Seventh Separate company, Cohoes; Fourteenth Separate company, Kingston; Sixteenth Separate company, Catskill; Twenty-second Separate company, Saratoga; Twenty-third Separate compan, Hudson; Thirty-first Separate company, Mohawk; Thirty-second Separate company, Hoosick Falls; Thirty-Sixth Separate company, Schenectady; Thirty-seventh Separate company, Schenectady; Tenth Battalion, Albany; Third Separate company, Oneonta; Forty-fourth Separate company, Utica; Forty-first Separate company, Syracuse;

Eighteenth Separate company, Glen's Falls.

Brig. Gen. Amasa J. Parker, grand marshal led the column with his chief of staff, Col. John S. McEwan. A unique feature of the parade was the second division, composed of Grand Army posts. This organization made its first appearance at a governor's inauguration, and the fact has caused much comment. veterans were under the direction of Department Commander General N. M. Curtis, who had asked the adjutant general to choose his staff officers. The last division, marshaled by Maj. Lewis Balch, comprise campaign clubs, civic so-cieties and independent military organiza-

IN HIS FINAL RESTING PLACE. The Body of Gen. Logan Removed to the Chapel Without Ceregnony.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 .- The remains of Gen. John A. Logan were removed from the Hutchinson vault in the Rock Creek cemetery, where they were placed about two years ago, to the new Logan chapel in the National Soldiers' Home cemetery. There were present at the removal John A. Logan, Jr., and wife, Maj. and Mrs. William Tucker and their son Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shepherd and Miss Mary Brady, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mullett, Mr. Hall, formerly secretary to Gen. Logan; the Rev. Dr. G. H. Corey, of this city, and the seven artillerymen who for nearly two years have kept constant watch over the remains. The transfer was made without ceremony, and as the little company were ready to leave the cometery John A. Logan, Jr., in a few words thanked the guard for their watchfulness and fidelity, and pinned on the breast of each a gold medallion, bearing Gen. Logan's head in bas relief on one side and an inscription on the other, hanging from a bar bearing the word "Fidelity." The badges were given to Sergt Ford and Privates Hamilton, Lesicski, Bondra, Timm, Carmody and Gibson. The new chapel is of Maine granite, built In the Norman style of architecture, and is intended as a family sepulcher. A Saxon cross surmounts the apex of the roof, and a large stone L stands out in bold relief over the arch of the doorway. The interior-a space of 18 feet by 15, and probably 20 feet high-is lined with pressed brick with ornamental trimmings, and several windows give plenty of light. The coffin containing Gen. Logan's remains will be encased in a steel casket, and rest on the tiled floor in the center of the chapel, visible to the public through a heavy, grated iron door.
