THE CENTRE REPORTER Cleary Captured and in Jail.

After Erie Mail left the Renovo station on Tuesday night Officer Paul, who had gone there as was his custom, started down Erie avenue. He had been appris-ed by several citizens of the antics of Charles Cleary and David Belford, who were at this time on Huron avenue. The young men had been drinking and were very loud-mouthed. Paul went down Erie avenue to Seventn street and from there down the west side of Seventh street to the Holahan block on Huron avenue. Just before he arrived there Cleary and Belford coming up Huron avenue met Charles Sloan, an Italian named Pleto and a man named Thompson. All had been drinking some, and in Crider's Exchange, Belle- as they met Cleary and Belford stopped. and the others coming up the avenue did likewise. Paul in the shadow of the houses coming down the street was not observed until some loud swearing had been indulged in. Then Paul stepped up to the crowd, and told the young men to go home. Belford was nearest him the balance on live stock, implements, and striking him over the legs with the club he said "now Belford you go home." Belford started up Huron avenue, Sloan, Thompson and the Italian started up Seventh street but Cleary remained and defied the policeman to arrest him for "doing nothing." Paul then took Cleary by the back of the coat collar and started down Seventh street with him to the lockup. That is the last seen of Paul by anyone but Cleary until the dying officer

He was evidently standing on the step leading to the lockup door with his left hand bolding Cleary by the coat while he used the right to unlock the door when Cleary drew the revolver from his pocket and fired. This is evident from the fact that the post-mortem examina-tion showed that the ball had gone into the head just back of the left ear and passed upward through the brain to the

He was told that his poor mother was almost wild and answered "I suppose so. no wonder." Then turning he said 'Jack if I had remained in your temperance society I would not be here to day. He spoke in detail how he spent all of next day in the nunting camp at Sandy Run, how two of James McConaghy's boys found him lying there drying his stockings which had been soaked with water. "The boys," he said, "had evi-dently not heard of the thing as they seemed to believe my story when I told them I was out there bunting"

He remained in the camp until some time in the afternoon when he started -The exhibition to be held in the down the mountain and struck the railroad at about six o'clock at a point above Drurys Run. He there jumped on a westward bound freight train from which he was put off three times between that point and Grove and was then taken back into the cabosse and held until Emporium was reached. All of this he tells with as little apparent concern as though it did not have any reference to a horris ble crime.

Failure of the Lewisburg Nail Works.

Monday afternoon the Sheriff of Union county levied on the property of the Lewisburg Nail Works, the company baving confessed judgment on their paper in bank to an amount aggregating about $32,000. The indorsers of the notes and paper are mostly directors of the Nail Company, and the foreclosure was made to save themselves. The cause of the failure is attributed to the failure of the Reading Iron Works as the Nail works have large orders for the former company. There was a mortgage of $35-000 sgainst the company. The fact that these papers all became due at about the same time caused a stringency in the financial condition of the nail works.

BURNING OF JOHN SLACK'S BARN,

On last Monday night, about 10 o'clock the barn of Mr. John Slack, about one mile west of Potters Mills, was entirely destroyed by fire with all its contents of crops, implements, and 14 head of live Two mules and two horses were saved. The live stock that was burned consisted of six cows, two colts, and some young cattle. The origin of the fire is not known, A son of Mr. Slack who had been from home, returned in the evening and put a horse he had used in its stall, using no lantern, and it is said the young man is not in the habit of smoking. In half an hour after young Slack had got to the house and the family had retired, Mrs. Slack discovered the stable on fire and gave the alarm, altho nothing could be done to arrest the flames. The fire seemed to have started in the upper part of the barn.

Obituary.

It was a visitation of sadness, sore and sudden, when the family of Mr. Geo. P Rearick received the news that his daughter was on the way home with the remains of ber sister, Ora Jane, who has been attending school in Cleveland Ohio, the past year. After a week or ten days illness, fever and heart trouble crowned their work in Ora's death, March 12.

The remains reached home Friday morning, and, after the usual services at the parental home, near Spring Mills, by the pastor, were interred in the cemetery at Centre Hill, on Saturday the 16th.

Ora had been a consistent member of the church about eight years, having embraced the christain faith and service when the early dews of youth were yet upon her. Fond friends mourn the missing one, but not as those without hope Her age was 23 years, 5 months and 8 J. H. K.

The Good Old Winters.

It will not do to accept as the pure and simple truth all the marvelous things which tradition, or even so-called history, hands down to us; but if some of the winters of olden times were as severe as is recorded, we trust we may "never see their like again." Note the following instances :

In 401 the Black Sea was entirely frozen over. In 763 not only the Black Sea but the Straits of the Dardanells, were frozen over, the snow in some places rising fifty feet higb. In 822 the great rivers of Europe, the Danube, the Elbe, etc., were so hard frozen as to bear heavy waggons for a month, In 860 the Adriatic was frozen. In 991 everything was frozen, the crops totally failed, and fam-ine and pestilence closed the year. In 1067 most of the travellers in Germany were frozen to death on the roads. In 1134 the Po was frozen from Cremona to the sea; the wine sacks were burst and the trees split by the action of the frost with immense noise. In 1236 the Danube was frozen to the bottom, and remain ed long in that state. In 1316 the crops wholly failed in Germany; wheat which some years before sold in Eogland at 6s. the quarter rose to £2. In 1307 the crops failed in Scotland, and such a famine en sued that the poor were reduced to feed on grass, and many perished miserably in the fields. In 1368 the wine distribu ted to the soldiers was cut with hatchets The successive winters of 1432 3-4 were uncommonly severe. In 1683 it was excessively cold. Most of the hollies were killed. Coaches drove along the Thames, the ice of which was 11 inches thick. In 1709 occurred the cold winter; the frost penetrated the earth three yards into he ground. In 1716 booths were erected on the Thames. In 1744 and 1745 the strongest ale in England, exposed to the air, was covered in less than fifteen minutes with ice an eighth of an inch thick In 1812 the winter was remarkably cold. In 1814 there was a fair on the frozen
