Grain fields in Nittany valley, are said to look promising. We are now in the transition state from snow ball to base ball. Bartholomew is making preparation to erect a new grain house. All kinds of business is stagnant in the Clearfield region. Other parts of the state make similar complaints. Mr. Campbell, late miller for Kurtz & Son, has obtained a situation in a St. Louis mill, whither he went last week. Success to him. Mrs. Will Kurtz reports having 16 inches of snow in Somerset county last Saturday. We had 1 1/2 inches in this section at same time. The mild weather of last week has tended to start vegetation and the grain fields throughout the county have an improved appearance. Will Swab informs us he has orders for 30 of his new patent cornplanners, now being built at Buck's machine shops, Bellefonte. James A. Keller, of near this town, had a valuable mare die a few days ago. This is the third of his horses that has died within a year. Really, at this rate, farming does not pay. All the houses in Centre Hall are occupied, a number of new families having come to town—one dwelling has two claimants, with one to stay and the other to be left, after a legal hearing. Isreal Rachan of the n. p. ct. of Gregg and one of its best Democrats and most intelligent citizens, gave the Reporter a call. He tells us the grain fields in that section of Brushvalley look well. Wheat in the broad mill cellar and outside the walls, which had been scorched by the fire, has sprouted quite freely and is larger and looks healthier than the grain in the fields south last fall. The Committee on permanent certificates will meet in the High School room, Bellefonte, April 19 and 20, 1889, to examine applicants. An examination for professional certificates will be held at same time and place. Tinker Reesman and soldier Ehrishin are having a lively race and chase for the Centre Hall p. o. When Harrison gets through starting up the shut down shops and mills he will settle this little trouble too. Johnny, a little son of Jerry Miller, of this place, had a serious mishap last Thursday. In attempting to climb on a wagon, the horse started causing the boy to lose his balance, he fell to the ground breaking his collar bone. Rev. S. L. Stiver is writing some forcible articles against the liquor traffic and license, in the Macoupin County, Ill. Advance. Mr. Stiver wields an able pen and is doing the cause of prohibition much good in Illinois. He is a native of Potter township. Easter comes in late this year. But it will get there, you bet, for the hens are laying an unusual supply of eggs for the occasion, and thousands will be broken over the festivity, especially by the juveniles, some of whom may find themselves juveniles—eggs-actly. Kurtz & Son have made arrangements for the erection of a new mill on the foundations of the one recently burned. The mill will manufacture all grades of corn meal and feed, and the best grades of flour will be kept to supply customers, and all kinds of grain bought and sold. Several lumbermen from Spring Mills, bought Squire Rockey's and Dr. Hubler's wood-land situated in Logan twp., north of the public road, and west of Samuel Igen's domain. A new mill will be in operation before another week is past. They are a lively set of workmen, says the Sugar Valley Journal. Yony Deininger expresses himself satisfied with his removal to his new home at the station. Yony very properly laments that the enemies of improvement have been the cause of several building projects being defeated in that end of town. Yony must console himself with the common saying that all men are afflicted with cusses which stand in the way of all that's good. Mrs. Mulberger, mother-in-law of Jackson Bush, died at the home of the latter, on Kurtz's farm, near Centre Hall, aged 81 years. Mr. Bush moved on the place only on Tuesday 2, and the day being damp and disagreeable and having been unwell, her illness was increased by the exposure of moving. Her remains were taken to the Tusseyville cemetery, on Tuesday morning, for burial. Two of Mr. Bush's sons have been quite ill of pneumonia, no doubt brought on by the inclement weather of the day of moving. An unusual hearing will be had before Esq. Linn, at Bellefonte, to-day. Two of our citizens, Dr. Emerick and Mr. Kennedy, claim to have leased the Wilmer homestead for the present year, from the owner, Mr. Smith. Dr. Emerick bases his right upon a regularly written lease and the legal notice served upon the other party in December, by the owner, to quit. Mr. Kennedy bases his right upon a verbal understanding previous to receiving the notice to quit. Mr. Smith denies there was such an understanding. Both Emerick and Kennedy, occupied the house, on different sides during the past year.

A Bellefonte Man Held by the Cubans 27 Years.

WAS TAKEN PRISONER AND SOLD TO A CUBAN FARMER—MEETING OF MOTHER AND SON.

The meeting of Joseph Wesley Witten and his mother, now Mrs. Edward Stoner, after twenty seven years' absence, in which she believed him to have been dead for a quarter of a century and the incidents occurring between their previous parting and last union, seem like a page from fiction. Wesley and his brother went to the war. The latter was killed on the field. The former was soon afterwards reported as having met the same fate. His comrades of Company C. Eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers also mourned him as dead. But Wesley did not die. He recovered from an ugly wound, rejoined his command and near the end of the war was taken prisoner. His comrades regarded him as one of the victims of Andersonville. But his fate for many years was more than death. He was sold to a Cuban planter, where he suffered terrible hardships that few could endure and survive. He and all the other slaves were compelled to work without clothes, with balls and chains on their feet, were given inhuman tasks to perform, and at the least provocation the poor slaves were lashed from head to foot until the blood trickled to the ground. Then, to add gall to the bitterness, they were dipped into the strongest brine that could be made. This was done so that insects would not deposit eggs into the sore places cut into the skin by the whip-lash. Witten wished he was dead, or that they would kill him, but fate preserved him to see his mother again. One day he succeeded in engaging in conversation the captain of a vessel plying between Philadelphia and the West Indies, to whom he told his story. The latter aided him to make his escape and brought him back to the United States. It was so many years since the war, and Wesley naturally concluded she was dead. But he worked his way to Millersburg, Perry county, where he was born, until one day he wrote to some person at Bellefonte and through George Williams of the Bush House, learned that his mother was still in the land of the living, was married again and to Edward Stoner, and lived at Pleasant Gap. When his old mother learned of her son's whereabouts, motherly feeling defied age and infirmities. She went on the instant down to Perry county, where there was such a meeting, as is often witnessed on this earth. Those hallowed occasions are mostly reserved for the angel throng. Arbor Day. Governor Beaver has issued a proclamation designating Friday, April 26, as Arbor Day. In the course of his proclamation the Governor says: "The planting of trees and shrubbery in our public school grounds and along our highways is earnestly recommended to our people. The subject of tree planting, however, has become so important in many ways that the Executive feels compelled to give wider scope, if possible, to the observance of Arbor Day than is hereinbefore indicated. Public parks are being provided for in several of our cities and towns, through private munificence and public enterprise. In what way can the individual citizen of these several cities and towns better show his appreciation and gratitude for the benefactions than by planting trees, which shall not only manifest his appreciation, but at the same time deepen the interest of himself and his family in a work which is so essentially for the public good?" "What better rallying point for the family in a public park than the tree of their own planting and nurture? What more beautiful tribute to the men who have so nobly provided for the health and happiness of future generations than such a mark of grateful appreciation on the part of the people of the several communities benefited? The places for such tree planting could be designated by the authorities in charge and the results could not but be in many ways beneficial."

The Great Dakota Fire.

Huron, S. D., April 4, 1889. ED. REPORTER:—I will give you an account of the terrible fire that swept over the prairie on April 2nd. The fire was driven by a wind that blew from the north-west, at the rate of 65 miles per hour. The fire started about seven miles south-west of Huron. I started for an old straw stack that had been burning for a few days. The sand and ashes were so thick in the air that a person could not see the distance of ten feet. Those who were entirely burned out are: Daniel Hall, Catharine Taylor, Joshua Jamison, J. R. and Eugene Baldwin, Jesse Bartlow and John McArter. Barns were destroyed for Thomas Harvey, V. B. Davis and J. C. Robins. In hand county there were four persons burned to death and Miss Anna Sweeney lost her life by the fire near Highmore.

Here in Dakota each farmer should own a whole section of land and build in the centre and have it all broken to prevent fire running almost every place. This is all for this time.

Respectfully Yours, E. W. JAMISON.
