MASSACHUSETTS IS WET.

The Prohibatory Amendment Defeated by a Majority of 44,500.

Boston, April 23 .- The proposed prohibition amendment to the constitution is defeated by a majority which will probably reach 35,000 or 40,000. The 075. One hundred and fifty-eight cities and towns outside of Boston give the following vote: Yes, 43,354; No, 55,328,

Later accounts place the majority against the amendment in the state, with three small towns to hear from, at 44,552. The greatest surprise occurred in the city of Quincy, where the vote was, Yes, 1,069; No. 491, the city having voted "No license" last November by 836 plurality. Somerville was the only city in the state in which a majority was cast for the amendment, the vote being 1,812

The election was conducted very quietly in this city and was devoid of excitement, as it seemed to be understood from the first that the "Noes" were in the majority. The polls opened at 7 a. m. and closed at 4:30 p. m., and owing to the simplicity of the ballot the result was soon known. The most novel feature of the day was the presence of large numbers of ladies at the polling places holding "Yes" ballots. The day was a legal holdsy and banks and most of the wholesale houses

The Present Law.

Boston, April 23.—Massachusetts now has a liquor law under which the voters of each city and town decide annually whether or not licenses shall be granted. Licenses are limited to one for every 500 mhabitants in Boston and one to every 1,000 inhabitants elsewhers. The lowest saloon limit is now $1,000, outside of Boston, and there is no maximum limit. Last year there was a majority of 17,912 for license in a total vote of 233,380, twenty-five cities giving 30,672 majority for license and the towns giving 12,760 majority against. The theonse fee in Boston was fixed for this year at $1,500.

QUAY VS. SHERMAN.

The Senator from Pennsylvania Accuses the Senator from Ohlo of Unfairly Appropriating an Office.

Washington, April 23,-Senator Quay did not go home to Beaver as expected; but he says he will leave here today and will not return for a week. He is awfully cut up over Ohio's stealing the internal revenue solicitorship from dent has made the following appoint-Pennsylvania. The senator agid:

Senator Sherman is a receiver of stolen goods. There was an agreement made between Pennsylvania and Ohio to divide the internal revenue appointments. Ohio was to have the deputy commissionership of internal revenue which they got, with the understanding that Pennsylvania was to keep hands off and that Pennsylvania was to have the solicitorship of internal revenue. I had picked out B. Frank Gilkeson, of Bristol, Bucks county, for the place and supposed there would be no interference but when I went away Ohio went in for the solicitorship, too, and while the ap-pointment of Alphonse Hart, of Ohio, has not been announced still he will get it and Pennsylvania will be left out in

"As soon as I heard of this I hurried back to Washington. I told Senator Sherman how unfair it was, but he hung on, teeth and claws, and wouldn't give up the appointment. The story pub-lished that my candidate was Judge Gilkeson, of Mercer county, is wrong. While Senator Sherman was not a party to the agreement, still be could have called Hart off and then faith would not have been broken, but I said he hung on, teeth and claws, and he won't let go, Senator Sherman Interviewed.

Washington, April 23. - Senator Sherman was seen by a reporter and he said that he failed to understand why Senator Quay should make a personal attack on him. The Lost Danmark's Passengers Safely Landed in Philadelphia.

THE EMIGRANTS PROVIDED FOR.

All Hands Healthy and Happy to Get Ashore-A Baby Born on the Night of the Rescue-The West Bound Passengers Depart for Chicago.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 .- It was exactly 6 o'clock last evening when the staunch Missouri, floating her English ensign from her stern, and the stars and stripes from her foremost, steamed through shrieking tugs into Pier 48, south wharves, where shouting thouprobably reach 35,000 or 40,000. The sands gave vent to their joy and acvote of Boston is: Yes, 11,060; No, 31,- corded a royal welcome to the 365 weary, storm tossed survivors of the ill fated Danmark's wreck. Then three times three were given for the Missouri's gallant captain and his crew, in which the Danmark's rescued passengers enthusiastically joined.

It was just one month and two days since the Danmark's passengers had sailed from Copenhagen, and half a month had passed since the Missouri had bravely rescued 734 souls from their storm tossed sinking ship. Those who came in yesterday were weather beaten and weary looking, their baggage was gone, on the heads of many were old straw hats, picked up at the Azore islands; but on the faces of all were only grateful smiles, and not a murmur was heard from young or old.

There were only three persons on the sick list, One was a man with a carbuncle, not serious; a 5-months-old baby with pneumonia and an 18-years-old mother of a 15-days-old girl baby, whose father is waiting for its mother in New York, and who was christened Atlanta Missouri Linnie, born the day after the

After partaking of a hearty supper provided by Peter Wright & Sons, the the bulk of passengers, who are bound for the west, where shipped over the Pennsylvania railroad on a special train to Chrago, from which point they will be distributed by the Thingwails line. These bound for the east, who remained in the city over night, were provided with lodgings.

Instructions were received from Secretary Windom for the commisioners of emmigration to use the "emmigrant fund" in meeting at paper expenses in giving relief to the destinate emalgrant passengers of the wrecked steamer,

The remainder of the rescued passengers who were left at the Azores will probably be picked up by the Thingavalla line steamer Islam, which left New York last diagraphy with instruc-tions to scour very thoroughly the southerly course of the English channel. When the Islam left she did not know of the rescue, but she has orders to stop at Southampton or Plymouth for instructions. At any rate, the rescued passengers will be transferred to London and then brought to this country.

Amendments to the General Revenue

Bill-Mr. Finter Seated. HARRISBURG, April 23.-When the house met the sergeant-at-arms made returns of the writs issued against absentees Friday. The members so cited were called upon for excuses, and the usual farcical proceedings followed. All were excused, and then the bill approwere excused, and then the bill appropriating $12,000 for the expenses of the National guard in New York was taken up, and after discussion, passed third reading. A recess was then taken, apparently for the purpose of cutting off special orders. At the evening session William B, Irvine was elected a trustee of the Pennsylvania museum of art. In the senate a number of bills were read a first time.

HARRISBURG, April 20 .- In the house of representatives at Harrisburg, yesterday, John Finley took his seat as representative from the First Philadelphia district. The bills appropriating $27,-000 for the purchase of the Penn farm, in Bucks county, and $20,000 for the nautical school ship, at Philadelphia, passed third reading. The committee on appropriations reported a bill to pay to pay the expenses of the National Guard's trip to New York. It was made a special order for first reading in the evening session, second reading on Monday and third reading on Tuesday. A recess was then taken until afternoon. On reassembling the Delaware boundary commission bill was passed finally. The bill making an appropriation for the national guards' trip to New York was taken up and read for the first time. A motion being made to adjourn until Monday afternoon the yeas and nays were called and it was found that ao quorum was present. The speaker or-dered the doors closed and ordered the arrest of sixty-eight absentees. Several of them were brought to the bar of the house and on motion excused. During the afternoon several bills passed second reading. In night session the judicial salaries bill from the senate came up on second reading and was attacked by Mr. Hali, of Mercer, and post-poned for the present. The house took a recess until Monday afternoon.

HARRISBURG, April 19.—The general revenue bill is in danger of being amended to death. The house made material changes in the measure, which, in the opinion of the financial officers of the state, greatly weakened it by per-mitting taxpayers to deduct their debts in the return of mortgages and judg-ments. The senate finance committee, after hearing the auditor general and others epposed to this provision, struck it out, but at the session of the senate its friends rallied to its support and had it restored. Further action on the bill was then postponed. The house defeated the minority report in the Finley-Nichols contested election case and adopted the majority report, which seated Finley, Rep., the contestant.

In the senate Fow's liquor license transfer bill was reported with amendments. The fext of the bill is unchanged. The governor notified both houses that he had signed the bill provided for a particular for a particular fermion of the bill provided for a particular form. viding for a nautical school at Phila-delphia. In the house the bill to provide for a naval battallon of the National Guard was passed.

forwarded to Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong and Beaver counties. Those for Allegheny county filled a large store box. The counties will receive their tickets in alphabetical order.

Governor Beaver signed the bill pro-viding for a nautical school at Philadelphia; authorizing shipbuilding corpora-tions to increase their capital stock to $5,000,000; repealing the act limiting the amount of damages to be paid by any county for the purchase of bridges, and authorizing the passenger carrying com-panies of other states to hold real estate in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, April 18 .- In the house Dr. Walker, from the committee on appropriations, made a report of the re propriations, made a report of the re-committed bill making the appropriation for the improvement of the Delaware harbor. The bill was reported with an amendment striking out the belt line proviso. The house passed Mr. Fow's bill providing for the transfer of liquor licenses, and it will now go the Senate.

In the senate a large number of petitions from Knights of Labor assemblies were presented by unanimous consent for the passage of the anti-discrimination bill. The amendments of the house to the bill increasing the number of building inspectors in Philadelphia to seven was concurred in.

Bills were passed finally as follows: House bill authorizing appeals from assessments of taxes to the pourts; house bill providing that as the average attendance at night schools increases additional teachers may be employed by boards of school directors; appropriating $50,000 to aid in the establishment of a free war library and museum of the loyal legion. On motion of Mr. Cooper, who said that the appropriation to common schools should be provided for in the general apprepriation bill, the act making provision for the expenditure of $2, 000,000 for each year was laid over. There was a lively time in the house at the close of the session, consequent upon the introduction of a bill by Repre-sentative Nathan Jones, of Philadelphia, sentative Nathan Jones, of Philadelphia, for the payment of the subsistence of the national guard at the New York centennial. Mr. Jones said the preparation of the bill had been inspired by the indignities heaped upon Pennsylvania by the press of New York. The bill appropriates $12,000. It was referred to the appropriation committee and will receive propriation committee and will receive rompt action.

HARRISBURG, April 17.—In the house the act authorizing and directing the board of revenue commissioners of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania to settle with, and refund to the several counties of the commonwealth, all taxes paid on horses and cattle for the years 1878 and 1879, was passed to third reading. The bill granting an annuity of $200 to Peter Nickel, of Cumberland county, of Com-pany B, Thirty-sixth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers, was passed finally; also, the bill enabling the banks of the commonwealth to become associations. or the purpose of banking under the United States laws. The senate bill, which is a further supplement to an act entitled "An act regulating boroughs," approved the 3d of April, 1851, authoriz ing the corporate authorities to levy and collect a license tax on backs, carriages and other vehicles carrying persons or property for pay, was taken up on sec-ing out the requirements of said act; to provide for and regulate the renewal and extension of the charters of state banks; supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29, 1874, providing for the further regulation of such corporations, and authorizing corporations incorporated for the purpose of mining for petrolenm to purchase, hold and dispose of the stock and bonds of certain other corporations.

The bill permitting the sale of pools at exhibitions or fairs of agricultural or horticultural societies or driving park associations caused a long discussion, and failed on final passage—84 to 88. An effort will be made to have the vote reconsidered later on in the session. On second reading the house amended the Fow bill for the transfer of liquor licenses in case of death. The amendment provides that the legal representatives of the deceased may have the li-cense transferred or the fee refunded. The following bills were passed finally:

To enforce orders for the payment of costs in the several courts of the state by execution process; relating to recog-nizances in the orphaus' court; allowing exceptions to be filed to referees' reports and authorizing the courts to hear such exceptions, and to alter, amend or reverse such reports, or to refer the same back to the referees, or to enter final judgment thereon; providing for the in-crease in the number of building inspec-tors in the city of Philadelphia. tors in the city of Philadelphia. It provides for seven building inspectors to be appointed by the mayor.
