Sorely Afflicted.

The family of Jackson Bush has been visited by severe affliction within the last month. On 2 of April he moved from Georges valley upon the farm of Mr. Kurtz, near Centre Hall, the weather being wet and chilly. He brot with him his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mulbarger, an aged lady who had been ill. She died some two days after arrival of the family in their new home. Owing to the unas voidable exposure on the day of moving one of Mr. Bush's sons, aged 19 years, was laid up of pneumonia the day previous to the death of his grand mother, and died within two weeks after.

A week before the death of this son, another boy, aged about 14, was also attacked of pneumonia and has been lingering between life and death since, with slight indications of improving in the Last week a third son of Mr. Bush became ill of typhoid fever, and has been quite sick since; his age is about 16 y. Really, it seems as tho afflictions came not singly, as this visitation deprives Mr. Bush of his main help in his labors at farming at the most pressing season of the year and it is to be hoped that the mysterious ways of an all-wise Providence will prove for the best, and that the distressed family will see the dark cloud dispelled and enjoy brighter sunshine than ever.

IMPORTANT DECISION ON BOHEMIAN OATS

The Supreme Court in Philadelphia case of Gere, Platt & Johnson, of Oswego, N. Y., vs. John Unger, which was originally tried in Berks county. It arose out of the transactions of the notorious Another of Potter twp's young Bohemian Oats Association, which sold its oats to thousands of farmers, who gave their notes in payment, the association tion afterwards not being able to fulfill its contract to purchase a certain percentage of the oats raised by the farmers at $10 a bushel. The Repealed Fence Law Of 1700.

We print the act repealing the fence law of 1700. The repeal does not affect any special act relating to fences in Centre county, only does away with the general law of 1700, leaving all others in force. The following is the act of 1700 which has been repealed. 1. All cornfields and grounds kept for enclosures, within the said province and counties annexed, shall be well fenced, with fence at least five feet high, of sufficient rail or logs, and close at the bottom; and whosoever, not having their ground enclosed with such sufficient fence as aforesaid, shall hurt, kill or do damage to any horse, kine, sheep, hogs or goats of any other persons, by hunting or driving them out of or from said grounds, shall be liable to make good all damages sustained thereby to the owner of the

The P. O. is to be moved from Mr. Pealer's to Mr. J. D. Long's store this week. Many of the citizens feel quite sore over the removal, not that anyone has the least objection to Mr. Long having the office, as it is proper that a republican should hold the office during a high tariff admin istration, and also that the wounded soldie should always, other things being equal, have the preference, but it is owing to the inconven ience of the location, as it is an out of the way stand. Mr. Long in order to accommodate the greatest number of people should move his store to the other side of the creek and seaure a location somewhere near the mill.

Mr. H. Krumrine, gr., is very low and his death is looked for at any time.

The repeal of the fence law of 1700, is the theme of all street conversation, and Gov. Beaver comes in for a considerable share of abuse for signing the birl. Will you please print the exact text of that old fence law, and also state what effect it will have with regard to stock running at large, such as Centre Hall and Spring Mills town cows; you know they are legion. Some people think the law is now equivalent to a herd law in effect. Does it repeal the special law requiring the railroad companies operating in Centre coun ty to fence in their roads, or else pay for stock killed by the trains?
