THE CRONIN TRIAL.

Witnesses Who Saw the Midnight Expedition.

SPELLMAN CONTRADIOTS HIMSELF.

A Reticent and Reluctant Witness—The Testimony of Police Officers Corroborates Woodruff's Story of the Night Ride—Iceman O'Sullivan's Damaging Comments on the Crime.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Edward Spellman, of Peoria, Ill., was the first witness called in the Cronin trial. He said he was a member of Great Eastern Distilling company. Witness evaded a direct answer to questions concerning his connection with the Clan-na-Gael and confessed to have only hearsay knowledge of an organization by that name. He said he was a member of the United Brotherhood. The witness then went on to testify that he was district officer of District No. 16 embracing Illinois and Michigan. He said he was the highest officer in the district, and that his duties were laid down by the constitution.

As the examination of the witness proceeded it became evident that he was an unwilling witness and that his testimony would be different from that he gave before the grand jury and from what the prosecution expected. He said he met Beggs on April 29, and he said the matter referred to in their correspondence, viz., that the proceedings of the trial committee had been held in a certain camp in violation of the rules, had been amicably settled.

Mr. Spellman then testified that he knew Dan Coughlin, who, with a man Knuz, had visited Peoria a year ago and presented a letter of introduction. He had no conversation with Coughlin about Dr. Cronin.

This was in direct contradiction of Spellman's previous testimony, and he was asked by Mr. Longenecker if he had not sworn that Coughlin spoke to him about Dr. Cronin. There was a long wrangle over this question, which was finally allowed, and Mr. Spellman answered: "I said before the grand jury that in the conversation with Coughlin at Peoria that he said Cronin was a member of the Clan-na-Gael."

O'Sullivan's Comments on the Murder.

Annie Farrar, a widow, and a former patron of O'Sullivan, the ice dealer, was called. She testified that O'Sullivan called at her house in May to see about taking ice. The widow spoke to the iceman about the finding of Cronin's body, and said: "It is something fearful to decry a man a way and murder him like that."

Witnesses of the Midnight Expedition.

Officer John A. Smith swore that on the night of May 4 he saw a long wagon containing a large box and three men hitched to a bay or dark colored horse, driving north on Clark street near Frederick street a few minutes after 12 o'clock. The men were dressed in dark clothes. One of the men wore a slouch hat and the driver, the smallest one of the three, a stiff hat. Just after passing avenue, about two miles from Frederick and Clark streets, from the place where the wagon was seen by Officers Steib and Riley to Frederick street is about a half hour's ride and from Frederick street to the lake, where the murderer first took the body thence to the catch basin, and back to Diverser street, would require about two hours to drive over.

John Way, a special officer of Edgewater, testified to having seen them on the eventful night about 1 o'clock and within two blocks of the lake shore in Edgewater. The driver, the only one in the wagon, said he was looking for the lake shore drive. Witness told him he was off the track. Just then two men came up from the lake, the driver shouting to them as soon as he heard them, "This watchman says the drive is in this way." Witness said the necessary direction and they drove off. The box was in the wagon.

BURKE IDENTIFIED.

The Carlsons Recognize Their Tenant in Court.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—After the shipping clerk, delivery man, and other employees of Revel's had testified the first important witness of the day, Annie Carlson, was placed on the stand. The witness then went on to state how on the 20th of March, while she was on the Carlson's, a man came to rent the cottage which stood near the house. He said his sister was to keep house for him, and that he had some furniture he wanted to move in at once. He gave his name as Frank Williams.

THE BANK RESUMES.

The Conshohocken Bank Will Continue Business.

Assets of the Cashier Discovered from which the Directors Hope to Realize $25,000—The Bank Will Be Reopened in a Few Days—No Assessment on the Stock.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Nov. 4.—The defalcation of William H. Cresson, the fugitive cashier of the Tradesmen's National bank of Conshohocken, has taken another turn and the directors say the bank will be reopened in a few days and all claims paid in full.

Suit Against the Fugitive.

He has entered suit against him as a fugitive for $80,000 and under this will attach every dollar of his effects. All of the life insurance policies are written as payable to his heirs or assigns except policies for $15,000 in Mrs. Cresson's favor. These will be converted into cash. The directors hope to realize $25,000 at the lowest possible calculation out of Cresson's securities, which they discovered Saturday.

The Coachman's Story.

How Cresson got out of Conshohocken, or whether he has left the place at all, is just as much a matter of conjecture as it was on Thursday. His coachman, Conrad Baumgard, seems to have been the last person to see him. That was at 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Baumgard tells this story:

"Mr. Cresson came home from the bank about 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. I was just going away with my son at the time. I went with him to Rock Hill; returned right away. It was a little before 4 o'clock when I got back, and I met Mr. Cresson as he was coming out of the kitchen. Mrs. Cresson had gone into Philadelphia on the 1:30 train and I thought perhaps he wanted to go down to the station, so I asked him if he wanted his carriage. He said: 'No, I don't want the carriage,' and walked on toward the stable. Then turning to me he said, 'Conrad, if anybody calls for me tell them I have gone away and I thought perhaps you'd want to go down to the station, and I did not know how to get away. I noticed that he was not the same and that he seemed troubled, but I did not say anything to him about that.'"

The Defalcation Discovered.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Oct. 31.—The Tradesmen's National Bank of Conshohocken is closed on account of the defalcation of the cashier, William Henry Cresson, whose shortage will exceed $50,000, and may approach $100,000. This is the notice posted on the door of the Tradesmen's National Bank of Conshohocken:

THE DEFALCATING CASHIER.

The defalcating cashier is William Henry Cresson, whom no one stood higher in financial, church and social circles in Conshohocken.

The Potomac Boundary Dispute.

HEATHSVILLE, Va., Nov. 1.—Gen. Joseph B. Seth, who was appointed by Governor Jackson to represent Maryland in the settlement of the question of the boundary between Maryland and Virginia at Fog Island and near Hog Island flats, in the Potomac river, and W. A. Jones, representing Virginia, and Henry P. Whiting, of the United States coast survey, met at Coon wharf, Va., but could not agree, and adjourned to meet in Baltimore Nov. 13.

A Body Found in the Woods.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—The dead body of a man perhaps 40 years of age, of 190 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches tall, wearing black coat and vest and dark checked trousers, was found in Merriam's woods near Baltimore yesterday. There was a bullet hole in his head and a revolver in his hand. Letters in the pockets of the suicide indicate that he may be W. H. E. Low, of Lawrence, Mass. A carpenter's rule and squaring pencil were found also in the pockets.

Imaginary Warfare in West Virginia.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 4.—A reliable citizen, just arrived from the neighborhood of Lincoln county, where the alleged warfare exists, reports that most of the reports sent out from Huntington and other points near there are purely imaginary. He says that people are not armed nor divided into factions and that McCoy and Haley are the only two persons killed at any time since the trouble began.

A Prominent Richmond Citizen Dead.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 5.—Capt. George A. Ainslie, one of the most prominent citizens of Richmond, is dead. He was ex-president of the chamber of commerce, ex-grand commander of the Knights Templar of Virginia, president of the Mechanics' institute and Democratic candidate for nomination for mayor at the last election.

Only One Man Was Killed.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 5.—A gentleman who has just arrived here from Pinewall says the reports that Judge Lewis and his party killed six of Howard's hand in the last fight is incorrect. Only one man was killed.
